S. A. DEPUTY ATTACKED ON TRAIN

CURRENT COMMENT
By Chester H. Rowell

A FANTASTIC story comes from Washington to the general effect that William G. McAdoo will and will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination; that he has and has not agreed on Senator James A. Reed as a compromise, and that he is and is not seeking another candidate. All of which, doubtless, comes as near to being true as it does to making sense.

There is no reason except principle why McAdoo should be a candidate. He knows he will never be President. He could, if nominated, carry the South, but not the necessary Northern states. Such glory as there is in being a formidable unsuccessful candidate, he has already had and there is nothing personal to be gained by repeating it. If, therefore, he either runs himself or backs some one else, it will be to represent one element in the Democratic party and exemplify its principles.

This, decidedly, bars "Jim" Reed. McAdoo and his followers are dry. Reed is belligerently wet. They are for the League of Nations and the World Court. Reed is as violent a reactionary on these subjects as Borah. They are loyal to the memory of Woodrow Wilson, who was so hostile to Reed that he tried to defeat him for the Senate. McAdoo for Reed would be as incongruous as the wets nominating Wayne B. Wheeler or Wall street stampeding to "Young Bob" La Follette.

THE murder of an attachee of the legislature by a drink-crazed lobbyist moves Assemblyman T. M. Wright to insist on an investigation of the whole bootleg situation at Sacramento.

This is the mere dramatic incident, to call attention to what is a biennial scandal at Sacramento. It is lobbying that does it. Between sessions, the bootleg conditions in Sacramento are normal ones, for a traditionally "liberal town." You "can get it," if you want it and will try hard enough. But during the legislative sessions you do not need to want it and you do not have to try. It is thrust on you. The fiction of the lobbyists, as of a certain class of salesmen, is that bootleg booze is a necessary part of their stock in trade, to procure the good will of customers. It is doubtful if it produces any valuable results, especially when they all do it, but example breeds example, and the thing becomes wholesale and scandalous. Lawlessness becomes freer and more open when the lawmakers are assembled than at any other time. Not that legislators as a whole are particularly affected. Most of them are dry in practice as well as in votes. With certain offensive exceptions, the legislature is sober enough. The scandal is that legislative sessions, instead of tightening the lid, should loosen it.

SOMEBODY sends in a cartoon, in refutation of the writer's somewhat notorious anti-revolver views. It is a picture of two robbers holding up an inoffensive citizen while a third hands a revolver, taken from him, to a policeman labeled "anti-pistol law" with a violent protest against the lawlessness of the citizen in possesing such a weapon.

The cartoon itself sustains the writer's theory. Here is an armed citizen being held up. The robbers steal not only his purse, his watch and his shirt, but his revolver, too. The weapon provided only one more valuable to purloin. That is exactly what usually happens to the "defensive" weapon of the peaceful citizen — except when something worse happens, and he gets shot himself, just because he was armed, or shoots his wife or children by mistake. One count against the revolver is that it is useless. The criminal gets the "drop" first.

SOMEBODY else writes insisting that the revolver is really used to kill game. He shoots rabbits with it himself, in the mountains, to provide fresh meat as a variety from salt pork. He must be an extraordinarily good marksman. Most people would do better with a shot gun. He also resents the suggestion that revolvers are used only "to kill people," and insists that every householder and his wife should have one, for protection. For protection against what? Certainly not rats or nocturnal birds. Are burglars "people"? The argument seems to assume that they are not.

REALLY, it is astonishing the amount of real indignation this "personal idiosyncracy" of the writer seems to stir up. A doctrine favored by most chiefs of police and crime authorities, and a policy actually in practice in nearly all other civilized countries, seems to be taken as something justifying anger if even discussed.

Don't worry. It is not going to be done. There will be plenty of revolvers for sale, wherewith to kill robbers and burglars (not "people") for a long time to come. But the writer reserves the right to continue to think, and to say, that it is foolish.

MISSISSIPPI OVERFLOWS DELTA AREA

40 Believed to Have Perished When High Waters Smash Additional Levees

PESTILENCE IS FEARED

Expect 100,000 or More to Be Homeless by Tonight, With Tents Only Shelter

BULLETIN

The additional deaths by drowning bring the total who have died from floods and accompanying tornadoes in various parts of the country to approximately 200 since March 19.

Biting cold added to the tragedy. Thousands are in concentration camps with no shelter but canvas. Rise of the rivers has affected water supplies and sewers have backed up in many instances. Epidemics of typhoid, diphtheria and other diseases threaten.

Break of a levee near Greenville, Miss., and drowning of 18 persons on a launch near Knowlton, Ark., were major development in the flood situation.

There will probably be between 75,000 and 100,000 homeless by tonight and possibly more. Only a miracle can save threatened levees south of Memphis.

Property damage cannot be estimated. Inundations exceed 8000 square miles, relief officials estimated. The figure includes whole towns, valuable city and farm buildings and farm land.

(By United Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 22.—The delta country of the Mississippi was added to the 4,000,000 acres of land over which the angry Mississippi river has spread itself within the last week.

Safe behind their ramparts until yesterday, when two breaks in the levee unleashed the river, thousands of Mississippians were forced to flee before the flood.

Greenville, in the heart of the rich agricultural section, was under six feet of water. It was the first sizeable town in the path of a flood from Stoops Landing.

Bolivar, Sunflower, Washington, Yazoo, Leflore and Warren counties will be flooded as the water from this break rushes on.

The main Mississippi river levee at Albemarle Landing, 35 miles from Vicksburg, crumbled this morning, according to reports from Vicksburg, Miss., sending more yellow waters over the same area.

The situation was beyond control of local and state officials. Governor Murphree has issued an appeal for food, clothing and supplies.

State Is Hysterical

Two score persons are believed to have perished. Property damage and the number driven from their homes could only be guessed. The state was hysterical.

Six speed boats have been sent to the delta country from here to aid in the rescue of flood victims.

Every method of transportation was called into play for the exodus from the plantation country. On foot, horseback and by motor, farmers and their families were fleeing to higher ground.

Meanwhile, across the river in Arkansas, similar scenes were enacted. Knowlton, Ark., was under 10 feet of water, which continued to rise. Eighteen were said to have lost their lives when the levee went out.

Reapportionment Measure Passed

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—The farm bureau plan of legislative reapportionment, which gives cities of California control of the assembly and rural districts control of the senate was given final passage by the senate today, and went to the governor for signature.

Sparks flew in the upper house over adoption of the assembly amendments to the bill, designed to prevent Los Angeles county from invoking the referendum on a portion of the measure. It was declared that Los Angeles organizations expected to declare the referendum on the new system of redistricting the senate only.

The final vote was 35 to 1, Senator Chamberlin casting the only dissenting vote.

SEEK FIRST WIFE OF MURDER VICTIM

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—Florence Bain, New York actress, took the center of the stage today in Hollywood's "bare knuckle murder" drama.

Counsel for Paul Kelly, charged with the murder of Ray Raymond, announced they were seeking Miss Bain, Raymond's first wife, hoping to make her a defense witness.

Kelly's attorneys will question Miss Bain, if found, regarding reports that Raymond and she were not finally divorced when he married Dorothy Mackaye.

Duce's Labor And Capital Law Passed

(By United Press)

ROME, April 22.—Premier Benito Mussolini's long awaited plan for regulating capital and labor for the good of the state was presented to the Fascist grand council last night, approved after a four-hour session lasting until 2 a. m. and today was in operation throughout Italy.

The plan, presented under the name of the "Carta Del Lavoro," was revealed as a set of rules for both capital and labor designed to protect both and at the same time insure efficient operation of industrial plants.

The various factors of production must be harmonized through conciliation of the opposing interests of capital and labor and through the subordination of all to the superior interests of the nation, the carta del lavoro said.

HORACE DODGE TRIES TO FIGHT WAY OFF BOAT

Arrested on Charge of Assault; Wife Denies Reconciliation

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Horace Dodge jr., tried to battle his way off the Dollar liner President Madison today, but lost the combat.

A score or more newspaper reporters and photographers, who wanted to get either confirmation or denial of his wife's statement an hour earlier that she would not go back to him, formed the opposing force.

Dodge, using the same tactics which have surrounded his movements ever since he hurried to Honolulu in an effort to effect a reconciliation, tried to get off the ship incognito, but without success.

During the combat, he smashed a newspaper photographer's camera, engaged in fisticuffs with John McDonald, United Press correspondent, in which both swung wild but rather harmless blows, and then retreated to his stateroom defeated.

Dodge fell into the hands of the law when he bumped his head on a ship's timber while fleeing from arrest and newspapermen.

After Dodge had sallied forth and engaged in fisticuffs with one writer and smashed a photographer's camera, the news men, John McDonald, reporter, and another Smith, photographer, for the New York Times, swore to warrants for Dodge's arrest, charging assault.

Detective Sgt. Mike Desmond, went to the ship to serve the warrants. The ship's officers said that as long as Dodge was aboard he couldn't be touched.

Dodge yelled through his stateroom door that he was going on to Los Angeles aboard the President Madison and intended to stay right on the ship.

The steamer's officers thought that wasn't so good, since they have to fumigate the vessel tomorrow and must give a certificate that no one is aboard at the time.

Finally Dodge emerged again and started running toward the gangplank. He bumped his head on a projecting timber and, while he staggered in a semi daze around the deck, Sergeant Desmond made the arrest.

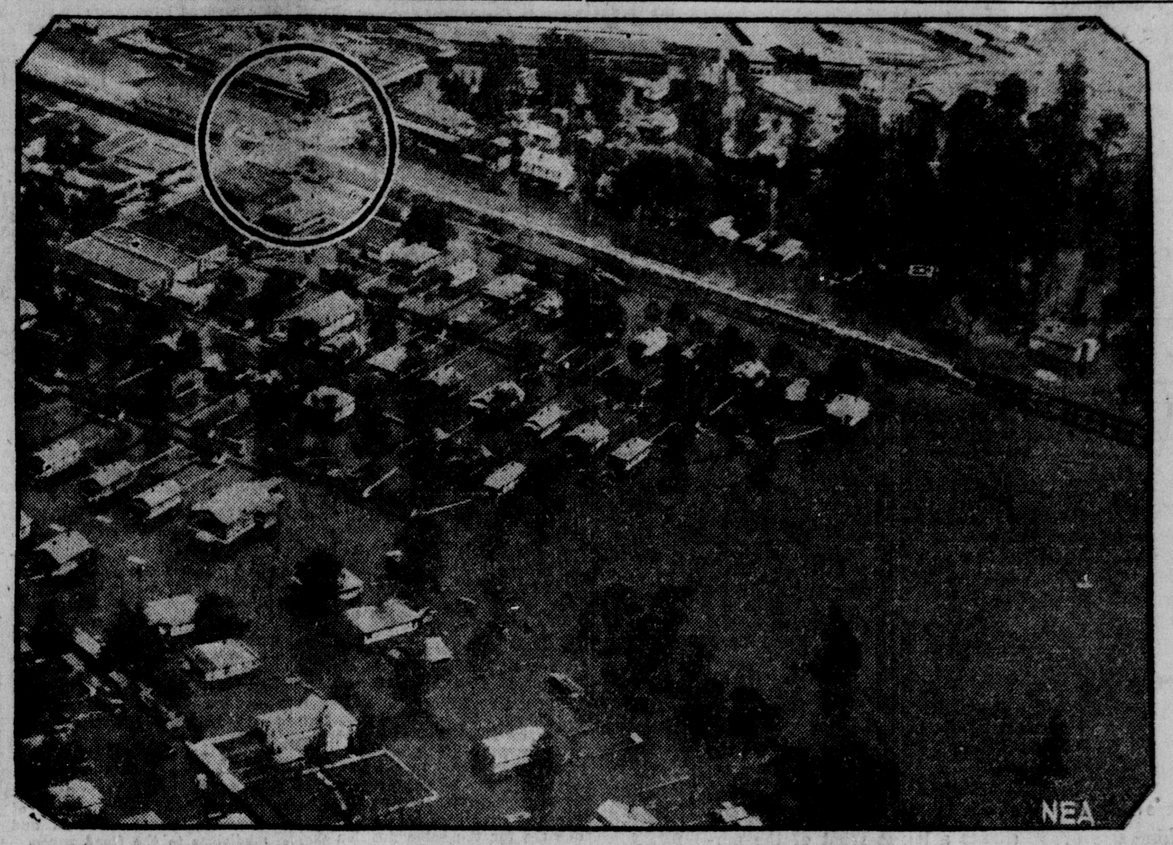

9 Jurors In Box For Snyder Trial

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., April 22.—Spurred by a threat of being kept in continuous session until a jury for the Snyder-Gray murder trial is completed, attorneys took a spurt just before the noon recess today and two more jurors were selected in quick succession, making a total of nine.

Previously, the morning had dragged interminably, 46 talesmen having been examined before the eighth juror, Louis Ruchdashal, was chosen. Then the next, Everett Van Vranken, was accepted and the box was three-fourths full.

Mrs. Ruth Snyder, on trial with Henry Judd Gray for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, was led from court without meeting her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, who had come to court.

MODERN AMERICAN TOWN IN ARKANSAS TRANSFORMED INTO ANCIENT VENICE BY FLOOD WATERS OF MISSISSIPPI RIVER

HEALTH OFFICER CALLS HALT TO L. A. DANCING MARATHON

Contest Stopped After 20 Hours, with 10 Couples Still on Floor

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—Twenty haggard and foot-weary dancers, completely exhausted after almost 20 hours of continuous terpischorean efforts in the Venice-Los Angeles dance marathon, were led haltingly from a ballroom floor shortly before noon today by a squad of police.

The step was taken by City Health Officer Parrish, after a number of the vanquished participants, who started at Venice yesterday afternoon, had collapsed and were taken to hospitals. All were reported out of danger, but officials decided to halt the marathon fearing that the remaining contestants might suffer serious injury.

Between 30 and 50 dancers were treated at the osteopathic hospital and after hearing reports that seven girl dancers had been carried from the ballroom suffering from hysteria, health officers hurried to the dance hall.

The dancers, staggering about the floor as the officers arrived, bore distinct marks of the nervous and physical depletion, caused by the long grind which started on a Venice pier, 17 miles from here.

Muffled protests were uttered as the dancers were helped or carried from the floor, a number of the contestants being taken from the floor by force, each avowing that he or she deserved the $1000 prize.

Numerous dancers earlier in the day were prostrated by the combination of heat and exhaustion. Shoes were changed many times and one girl discarded foot covering entirely.

The dancers were held pending an examination by physicians.

Japan Acts To Meet Finance Crisis

TOKIO, April 22.—The Japanese government today acted to meet the financial crisis which has forced some of the largest banks in the country to suspend.

A 21-day moratorium, effective today, was declared to give banks an opportunity to recover from the heavy runs of the last few days.

HEADLESS BODY IS OBJECT OF PROBE

PLACERVILLE, Calif., April 22—His head horribly mangled and then chopped off by a woodman's axe, the body of Frank Trump, 56, was found early today in a lonely cabin at Salmon Falls, 18 miles west of Placerville.

The discovery was made by Ed Anderson, of Salmon Falls, who saw the corpse through the window of Trump's cabin.

Coroner James B. Blair, of Placerville, was summoned, and after breaking the lock on the outside of the door, entered and found the corpse covered with coats and clothing from the waist up. The head, lying separate from the body was crushed from behind.

A woodman's axe, covered with blood and hair, was standing in a corner and was taken by Sheriff Charles F. Wood as evidence.

Trump was last seen alive Sunday night and Coroner Blair said he had been dead since late Monday.

Residents of the Salmon Falls section report having seen a stranger coming from the direction of Trump's cabin Monday.

LEAPIN' THERMOMETERS AND SUN BEAMS! SUMMER'S HERE

(By United Press)

For six weeks, Santa Anans have been asking themselves, "When's summer coming?"

Summer has arrived! Readings of thermometers about the city yesterday would have convinced the most skeptical.

Santa Ana had "weather" yesterday, whether or not. So much "weather" that the thermometers registered 96 degrees in the shade, believed to be a new high mark for the month of April.

The weather man reported that high temperature yesterday was 96 degrees and low, 47 degrees.

Many persons failed to realize that it was as hot as 96 degrees here yesterday, but there also were many who wouldn't have been surprised to learn that the weather man had reported 100 degrees. In several offices here yesterday the thermometers registered as high as 85 degrees.

Alleged Run King Killed By Officers

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—The bullet riddled body of Harry "Mile-Away" Thomas, notorious police character and so-called bootleg king of the southwest, lay in the county morgue here today.

The career of Thomas ended last night, when detectives, firing from ambush, sent a hail of machine-gun bullets, buckshot and revolver slugs into the asserted hi-jacker's body.

Several hours after the killing, Lee Moore, 31, former sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, was taken into custody by police in connection with a liquor robbery Thomas was alleged to have attempted to stage when he was shot down.

Thomas was slain in a private garage as he attempted to steal an expensive automobile, police say. Details of the affair have not yet been made clear.

The dead man gained the title "Mile-Away" as a result of his many arrests on charges ranging from vagrancy to murder and his ever present alibi that he was at least a mile away from the crime of which he was accused.

Recently he was freed following his arrest in connection with the murder of Luther Green, wealthy stock broker, here.

Election Precinct Measure Is Vetoed

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—Governor Young today vetoed the bill by Assemblyman Charles E. Melville, of Fort Bragg, providing for consolidation of election precincts for primary elections. "This could have no other effect than to discourage primary voting, because of the longer distances voters would have to travel to the polls," Governor Young said.

HORNBLOWER'S BILL TIES DRY FORCE IN KNOT

Prohibition Supporters Are Puzzled by Insertion of Volstead Act

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, April 22.—Having tied the dry forces of the California legislature into a knot by substituting the federal Volstead act for the Hornblower search and seizure bill, the wets settled back in their seats today to watch the drys untangle themselves.

The assembly today was still discussing the legislative strategy by which the wets slipped the Volstead act into the Hornblower bills, placing the drys in the position of having to vote for Hornblower's measures or go on record against the Volstead act.

The apparent action to be taken by the drys is to accept the Hornblower amendment, which, its opponents claim, will have the effect of making California still more dry. The wets, on the other hand insist that it will prevent illegal searches of private homes by dry agents.

Routine Business

Routine business confronted the senate today, with a flock of assembly bills calling for increases in superior judges' salaries in 37 California counties and a large number of fish and game measures.

Counties whose judges salaries will be raised include Madera, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Tuolumne, Riverside, Santa Barbara, San Joaquin, San Bernardino, Orange, Kern, Amador, Calaveras, Inyo, Mariposa, Mono, Del Norte, Stanislaus, San Benito, Solano, Merced and Ventura.

The assembly, in its late session yesterday, adopted the bill by Senator Charles W. Lyon, of Los Angeles, placing the statues of Father

AIR MAIL PILOT KILLED IN CRASH

BRYAN, O., April 22.—Jack Milatzo, 28, pilot of an eastbound Chicago-Cleveland air mail plane, was instantly killed today when his plane crashed 60 miles west of here.

Milatzo earlier in the night had made a forced landing at Goshen, Ind., when blinded by a storm.

After a wait of half an hour he took off from the field. When he neared Topeka, Ind., Milatzo's plane was seen to burst into flames and fall.

SCOTT'S EYE GOUGED OUT BY CONVICT

BULLET WOUNDS HAND

Robber Overpowered After Shooting Six Times At Rescue Party Members

Deputy Sheriff Joe Scott, of Santa Ana, was viciously attacked late last night by Raymond Remington, convicted in Orange county of robbing the First National Bank of Olive, and before the prisoner, who was being escorted to San Quentin by the deputy, could be overpowered by passengers on the train on which the two were riding in a compartment, Scott's left eye had been gouged out and he had been beaten over the head and shot through the left hand by a bullet from his own gun in the hands of the prisoner.

The story of the attack on Scott was told in dispatches reaching here this afternoon, the dispatches also containing the information that Scott was being treated in a Bakersfield hospital and was in a serious condition but was expected to recover.

When passengers on the train succeeded in overpowering Remington, they found the deputy sheriff still in a fighting mood despite the fact that his left eye had been virtually knocked from its socket, his wounded hand of no use to him and his head bleeding badly from blows Remington dealt him.

One of the shots from the revolver just grazed Scott's head.

Scott received his first assistance from a negro porter who was attracted to the compartment by the bell which Scott managed to ring during the terrific struggle.

The porter put the handcuffs, which Scott had removed to enable Remington to eat his lunch, back on the prisoner and raced into another car and called E. Crowley, a Los Angeles deputy sheriff, who further subdued the defendant in the recent "Battle of the Brothers" in the Orange county superior court.

Remington, who had been brought to Santa Ana from San Quentin, where he was serving a sentence for a bank robbery at Watts, was sentenced to a term of not less than five years in the state prison after a jury had convicted him here of robbing the Olive bank. He was known in the Orange county jail as a desperate character.

Scott has been on the sheriff's staff for five years and had never lost a prisoner enroute to San Quentin or Folsom. It was only his act of courtesy that allowed Remington an opportunity to throw tobacco into Scott's eyes and grab his gun.

After Remington had been subdued by Crowley, both his legs and his hands were handcuffed to a seat in the car and Crowley stood guard over him until he was delivered to prison officers at San Quentin.

That Remington may be brought back here and tried on a charge where conviction would mean the death penalty was intimated this afternoon by the district attorney's office, which stated that there was a California law whereby a convict serving a life sentence who attacked an officer with malice, could be punished by death.

Remington's sentence here read, "not less than five years." Lew Blodget, deputy district attorney, stated that he was of the opinion that the sentence would be construed as a life sentence until the prison board had set the number of years he was to serve.

That he could be tried in this county in spite of the fact that the crime against Scott was not committed here was intimated as the prisoner was enroute to the penitentiary at the time the crime was committed, the district attorney's office said.

Members of District Attorney West's office this afternoon are studying the law pertaining to such a case with an idea of returning Remington here as soon as possible.

Sheriff Sam Jernigan, with two deputy sheriffs will leave here late this afternoon via automobile to be with Scott and to make arrangements for removing him to Santa Ana ,they said.

Remington was the central figure in the recent "Battle of Brothers," waged in the superior court here between District Attorney Z. B. West jr., and his brother, Attorney Franklin G. West, in the courtroom where their father had held court nearly 24 years.

ENGLAND AND MEXICO AGREE ON OLD CLAIM

LONDON, April 22.—The foreign office announces that a convention has been concluded between the British and Mexican governments for the adjustment of peculiar claims for losses incurred by British subjects in Mexico on account of revolutionary acts which occurred between November, 1910, and May, 1920.

Claims of this kind are to be submitted to a commission composed of a British, a Mexican and a neutral member. The commission will take cognizance of two classes of claims for damages arising from revolutionary action, viz., direct and indirect claims.

Direct claims are for losses or damages suffered either directly by British subjects or by British companies directly holding the property affected.

Indirect are those for losses or damages suffered by British subjects indirectly—that is, by reason of their holdings in non-British companies operating in Mexico. In the case of indirect claims it will be necessary, if the claim is to come before the Anglo-Mexican Revolutionary Claims Tribunal, that at least 51 per cent of the interest in the non-British company in question shall have been held by British subjects at the time the damages were sustained.

2600 San Diego Students Strike

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 22—As an expression of their conference in Glen O. Perkins, principal of the San Diego senior high school, mentioned in connection with the grand jury probe of moral conditions at the high school, 2600 students quit their classes today after a mass meeting held in Russ auditorium and paraded through the downtown streets.

Spokesmen for the students said the parade was organized to protest against what they termed unfair treatment of their principal and that they believed that a public demonstration was the most effective way in which to express their confidence in him.

DRYS PUZZLED BY HORNBLOWER BILL

Junipero Serra and Thomas Starr King in the hall of fame at Washington, D. C. A proposal by Assemblyman C. D. Ball, of Santa Ana, to substitute the statue of Leland Stanford for that of King was voted down.

Final passage was given by the senate to the measure calling for complete reorganization of the state department of education. This bill, by Senator H. C. Jones, was an administration proposal, and provides for a board of 10 members, instead of seven at present, holding office for 10 terms.

Director of Education

A state director of education would replace the present superintendent of public instruction. Terms of the board members would expire at the rate of two each year, preventing one state administration from controlling the board on a succeeding administration.

For the second time the assembly declared in favor of insanity as grounds for divorce, refusing to reconsider its vote adopting the bill by Assemblyman Harry Lyons, of Los Angeles.

The assembly cleared a large number of bills from its calendar during the night session, including 17 of the criminal law revision measures already passed by the senate.

Among the other measures adopted were:

Placing convict road workers under the workmen's compensation law, appropriating $15,000 for a state commission to investigate water resources and report to the 1929 session, providing an additional superior judge in San Bernardino county, prohibiting employment agencies from accepting more than one fee for the same position and giving a wife a present and equal interest in community property, instead of an inherited interest.

Seek Prosecution Of Aluminum Firm

WASHINGTON, April 22—Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, Montana, has called on Attorney General Sargent to prosecute the Aluminum Company of America, controlled by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and his family, for alleged violations of the anti-trust laws and the 1912 consent decree against the company.

The Montana senator today made public a letter stating his belief that the aluminum company had entered into contracts with makers of automobile bodies, giving the aluminum company all scrap aluminum. As a result of this, producers of "sand castings" were unable to supply themselves with raw materials from the usual sources and had to buy new aluminum of which the Mellon company has a virtual monopoly in this country, according to Walsh.

King's Son-in-law Becomes Company

LONDON, April 22.—King George's son-in-law, Viscount Lascelles, one of the wealthiest men in England, in conjunction with his father, the Earl of Harewood, has, in the popular phrase, "turned himself into a company."

These two directors of Harelles Ltd., registered to "acquire lands and carry on business." Eight dukes and many other members of the peerage have similarly "incorporated" themselves and their property.

The companies are not required to pay a supertax and a reduction in the death duties also is affected. Viscount Lascelles is the husband of Princess Mary.

OBITUARY

Herman Blanken, aged 79 years, who passed away at the residence of his son, H. H. Blanken, at Tustin, April 16, was born March 2, 1848, at Giehlermoor, Hanover, Germany. He came to America in 1871 and was married to Miss Eliza Fraemke at Kiowa, Neb., on November 18, 1886.

Four children were born of this union, one dying in infancy at Gladstone, Neb.

Because of Mrs. Blanken's failing health the family moved to Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and in 1914 to Riverside, Calif. A year later the Blankens established their residence in Santa Ana where they lived until 1919 when they moved to Tustin.

Mr. Blanken is survived by three sons, John Blanken, of Cisko, Tex.; Albert Blanken and Herman Blanken, both of Tustin.

Funeral services were held April 19 from the Trinity Lutheran church. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery, Mr. Blanken being laid to rest beside his wife who passed away last June.

DELTA AREA OF MISSISSIPPI IS UNDER WATER

dleton, Ark., also was reported destroyed late yesterday, turning the flood loose to spread over several small towns and another large section of farm land.

Reports of heavy casualties reached here today over crippled telephone lines.

Several negro workmen were reported to have been drowned when the levee at Stoop's Landing, Miss., crumbled before the rushing waters.

200 Reported Missing

The third Mississippi district engineer's office, at Vicksburg, Miss., said 200 men were working on the levee when it was overwhelmed and destroyed. All were reported missing, but most of them probably reached islands in the river or made their way to shore and return to their homes without reporting, it was believed. All the levee workers were understood to have been negroes.

Sixteen negroes and two white men were drowned when the government launch Pelican foundered near Knowlton's Island 50 miles south of Helena, Ark. The small craft was sucked through a crevasse when a levee collapsed. The boat was unable to withstand the sudden pressure of the swirling water. The launch had just rescued the negroes from a levee up the river on which they had been marooned.

Two train loads of flood refugees were reported lost today somewhere in eastern Kansas.

Officials of the Missouri Pacific railroad have had no word from the trains since they left Hughes, Ark., late Thursday.

The trains were believed marooned by high water. An airplane has been sent to locate them.

$5,000,000 RELIEF FUND IS DECIDED UPON

WASHINGTON, April 22—Holding the Mississippi river floods to be a "major national disaster," President Coolidge's special Red Cross committee, under the chairmanship of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, voted this afternoon to raise a $5,000,000 relief fund. A special committee was named to direct its raising and expenditure.

The meeting followed issuance of an appeal by President Coolidge for national subscriptions and dispatch of war department vaccines and medicines to the flood zones.

PRESIDENT ISSUES NATIONAL APPEAL FOR RELIEF FUNDS

WASHINGTON, April 22.—President Coolidge today issued a national appeal for funds to relieve Mississippi river flood victims.

Mr. Coolidge later announced appointment of a special committee from his cabinet to co-operate with Red Cross officials in offering government assistance for flood relief.

The committee is composed of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in charge of public health; Secretary of War Davis and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, who will offer medical assistance and furnish cots and other supplies, and Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who has had long experience in relief work.

The committee was to meet with Red Cross officials this afternoon.

ADDITIONAL RISES IN RIVER ARE PREDICTED

This New Treatment Never Fails to End Piles

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to C. S. Kelley, your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained.—Adv.

A WORD OF COMFORT

The question you have to face regarding your conduct and your attitude toward the great mysteries of life is not "Is it safe?" but "Is it right?"

You make your venture of faith in what you believe to be true, even though your allegiance involves hardship and danger.

You try to do what is right, even though great sacrifice is entailed and the exclusion of the indulgences of impulses to choose an easier way. The fibre of your manhood is renewed and you go forward, wounded, perhaps, but with head unbowed.

PARKER—At Calexico, April 20, 1927, Mrs. Eva Parker. Funeral services will be held Saturday, April 23, at 2:30 p. m., from the Smith and Tuthill chapel. Interment will be made in Santa Ana cemetery.

CURTIS—April 19, William A. Curtis, aged 32 years, son of Mrs. Martha Curtis, of Westminster, and brother of Wesley T. Curtis and Mrs. Chris Nelson, of Wintersburg. Services were held from the Winbigler Mission Funeral home this afternoon. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Choice cut flowers, floral designs and beautiful baskets of flowers for all occasions. Telephone 2326 Flowerland, we deliver.

EXPLAINS NEED FOR AUDIT OF HIGHWAY BOOKS

"We ordered the audit of the county road department to see if we could not cut down expenses by changing the bookkeeping system; also to find out just where we stood."

Chairman William Schumacher, of the county board of supervisors, thus explained, today, the action of the board in employing a Los Angeles accounting firm to audit the road department books at a cost that is expected to reach $5000 or more.

Attention to the cost of the audit was drawn this week when County Auditor W. C. Jerome refused to pass a warrant for approximately $2400, representing the bill of the auditing firm for the month of March. Jerome passed the warrant when the supervisors adopted a resolution to the effect that the charge of $25 per day for each of the 12 workers engaged in the audit was a "reasonable" charge.

The charges, amounting to $300 per day for the 12 workers, had totaled about $3700 up to April 1. The audit is still in progress but is now nearly finished, Chairman Schumacher stated today. He said that the results of the audit would not be known until the report is filed at conclusion of the audit. Whether anything has been accomplished in the interest of reducing expenses has not yet been reported, Schumacher stated.

The chairman said he didn't see why the audit should attract attention.

"Every big corporation has an audit occasionally, to find out where it stands," he said. "I don't know whether the county has ever had an audit before. We felt that one was needed so we ordered it. We were told about what it would cost. What difference does it make how many men are put on the job, so long as the charge is proportionately the same? The more at work, the more quickly the job will be done."

SALESMAN IS FINED $100 IN BREA COURT

C. C. Pyle, 55, living on Baker street, Bell, was fined $100 on charges of intoxication and reckless driving when he appeared before City Recorder Kinsler in Brea this morning, following his arrest Wednesday night. Pyle suffered two broken ribs and a fractured knee when his car cashed into a car driven by Mrs. R. D. Cunningham, of 324 North Orange avenue, Brea. The running board and fenders of the Cunningham car were torn off. Pyle's car overturned and was badly damaged.

Pyle was taken to the Orange county hospital following the crash.

Early reports were to the effect that the man was the Pyle of "Cash and Carry" fame but these proved to be unfounded.

COUNTY FINALS IN FORENSIC MEET TONIGHT

Six students, representing high schools of the county, will contest for honors in the Orange county finals of the fourth annual oratorical contest on the federal constitution tonight at 8 o'clock in the Santa Ana high school auditorium.

A program for the evening including musical numbers and readings has been arranged by C. C. Stewart, Santa Ana forensic coach, who has charge of the plans.

Entries have been received from the county high schools by Stewart. The contestants are Ned Fahs, Fullerton; Roy Kanagae, Huntington Beach, Alfred Groos, Anaheim. The names of the students who will represent Orange and Brea were not announced.

Miss Ramona Lindgren, Santa Ana, is the only girl orator in the contest. Her oration is on "Progress Under the Constitution."

The contest will be presided over by Ridley Smith of Santa Ana.

At the opening of the program, Miss Lorene Croddy will sing two solos "Pale Moon" and "Foolish Question," accompanied by Miss Mildred Marchant. The order in which the orations will be given will be decided by lot. Judges for the contest are from Long Beach and Tustin.

During the evening's program Miss Goldie Jacobson will give readings.

The meeting is open to the public, Stewart announced. Large delegations are being expected from the schools of the county. Last year the contest was held in the Anaheim high school auditorium. The winner tonight will be entitled to continue in the elimination contests in Southern California. Three prizes are offered the students ranking highest. The first prize winner in the county finals will have the option of $25 or a bust of Abraham Lincoln. Second prize is $15 and third is $10.

Fashion Has Chosen These FABRICS

Making stunning Apparel is easy with the new Silk and Wash Fabrics we are showing.

Take for instance the New Jackets that are being worn with frocks for the sport types. They are exceptionally smart when made of Blazer Flannel of bright stripes that blend well with tones in the costume they are to accompany. Dresses are also very easy to make for the new silks with their gorgeous colorings and diminutive patterns require but a few tucks or at most a bow or two of a self fabric for trimming.

Choose your pattern—then let us help you find just the right fabric to develop it in

Silks

Stripe Washable Silk Crepe

32 inch sport stripe washable silk crepe; a wash silk very much in demand for children's and women's summer frocks. Comes in grounds of white, tan, rose, with various two and three colored stripe effects. The yard, $2.25.

Sport Satin Theodore

40 inch sport satin, Theodor—comes in plain colors only, of black, white, pink, Nile, gold and silver. This is a new sport silk used for dresses and slips. The component parts are "half celanese" and half pure culturedsilk. Very soft and luscious. The yard, $2.50.

ANAHEIM MAN FILES ACTION TO INTERVENE IN FIGHT ON $10,000 HIGHWAY PAYMENT

Legal proceedings connected with the controversy over a $10,000 paving appropriation sought by the city of Santa Ana from the county gas tax fund, today passed from the "friendly" phase to that of an earnest court row, when Charles E. Harbeson, Anaheim taxpayer, filed a complaint in intervention, in connection with an injunction suit filed by W. E. Chilson, of Santa Ana, against County Auditor W. C. Jerome.

Chilson, as a taxpayer, had filed a "friendly" suit for an injunction to "prevent" Jerome from paying the $10,000, in order to get a court decision on the legality of the proposed appropriation. Chilson, as a prospective beneficiary from the appropriation, is understood not to be actively opposed to having the city receive the money for South Main street paving, the purpose for which the supervisors passed it by a vote of 3 to 2.

But Harbeson, who is understood to be aligned with Chairman William Schumacher in holding that the county cannot transfer its funds to the city without a four-fifths vote of the board of supervisors, appears as an active opponent of Jerome in the injunction proceedings.

A hearing on his suit to be allowed to intervene in the case has been set for Friday, April 29, at 2 p. m. before Superior Judge James L. Allen. Harbeson asked for and was granted a stay of proceedings in the case of Chilson against Jerome until the court decides whether he shall be allowed to participate in the case.

Harbeson's complaint, filed through Attorneys Thomas L. McFadden and Leonard Evans, of Anaheim, is on its face, identical with Chilson's, so far as its legal contention is concerned. It holds that no funds can be transferred from county to city without a four-fifths vote of the supervisors, under section 8202 of the general laws of the state. This view is opposed to Jerome's contention that, under a section of the motor vehicle act, the board's vote of 3 to 2, on the appropriation was legally sufficient. The legal points involved are, therefore, not changed by Harbeson's injection into the case. The difference, however, is said to be in Harbeson's active opposition to the appropriation, as contrasted to Chilson's private belief that the appropriation should be approved.

Whether that difference of attitude can or will have any effect upon the court battle in prospect is a matter of dispute. Supporters of Jerome and Chilson hold that it can make no difference. It is purely a matter of law, they say, and both sides are determined that the whole case shall be placed before the court in order to settle the question once and for all.

The Harbeson group is understood to be somewhat skeptical of that statement and to prefer the opportunity to present its side of the case as aggressively as it can.

S. A. Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Santa Ana met April 19, at the home of Mrs. George Slocum, 511 East Walnut street.

The chairman of the program committee made the announcement that Mrs. R. T. Brain of Los Angeles, president of "The Big Sisters League," would speak before the Woman's club May 31.

Mrs. Frank Ey and Mrs. F. A. Marks were appointed delegates to the state convention of the C. F. W. C. to be held May 2 to 7 at Sacramento.

Election of officers for the ensuing club year held the attention of the club during the business session.

The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. M. C. Williams; vice-president, Mrs. H. H. Clemens; recording secretary, Mrs. W. T. Kuhn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter Moore; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Diers; press chairman, Mrs. Clark Leslie; parliamentarian, Mrs. S. L. Wedgewood; federation secretary, Mrs Frank Ey; historian, Mrs. I. D. Annis; critic Mrs. F. H. Marks.

Mrs. F. J. Adams and Mrs. S. L. Wedgewood presented the program. Mrs. Adams gave a very interesting paper on the life of Eugene Riley. Mrs. W. C. Watkins gave a reading, "When the Folks Are Gone" or "A Lonesome Nigger," by Riley.

Mrs. Wedgewood's excellent papers about the lives of Oliver Wendell Holmes and Edgar A. Guest, followed by phonographic records of three of Guest's poems, "It Couldn't Be Done," "Wait Till Your Pa Comes Home" and "Ma and the Auto" concluded a very interesting and entertaining program.

Two new members were received into the club, Mrs. J. W. Kimball, 710 West Third street, and Miss Lily Farley, 618 West Fifth street.

A very pleasant surprise was the visit of Mrs. Anna H. Gale, a past president of the Woman's club and warm words of welcome greeted her as the older members of the club and her co-workers gathered around her.

After a visit with old friends in Santa Ana, Mrs. Gale will accompany her sister, Mrs. Clidden on a tour by way of Panama to Western New York, where Mrs. Gale will make her future home.

The club will meet May 3 at the home of Mrs. Henry Diers, 1109 North Main street.

Join the dancers at St. Ann's Inn tonight. Wonderful music and perfect surroundings.

S. A. IN BIG MEET TRIALS TOMORROW

W. L. Duggan, who for the past year has been Grand Master of the Masonic Councils of California, has returned home from Santa Barbara, where the commandery met last week, and Mr. Duggan's successor, Charles A. King of Sebastopol, was elected.

Mr. Duggan was complimented highly upon his year's work in Masonic circles, and was presented with a large chest of handsome flat silverware, of which he is justly proud. The silver is lettered with his initials.

Mrs. Duggan accompanied her husband to Santa Barbara, motoring up with him on Sunday and returning on Tuesday. Other Santa Anans attending the sessions were Mr. and Mrs. Verne Whitson, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCausland and L. F. Harvey.

Regular Friday night dance at St. Ann's Inn tonight, 9 to 12.

Club Members Write Stories to Fit Illustrations

When Pegasus club members met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Foote, 515 East Myrtle street, they followed a unique program plan evolved by Mrs. Clarence Bond. In preparation for the afternoon, the young matron had distributed cut-out magazine illustrations with the request that each member write a story or poem to fit her illustration.

Mrs. Earl Morris responded with an excellent short story entitled "When Thoughts are Things," based on the purchase of a sewing machine by a young wife, and a subsequent "talking machine" obtained by her husband. Mrs. Caleb Jackson read a pretty bit of verse inspired by a picture, and Mrs. George Bond gave a thrilling story, "For Love's Sake," inspired by a pictured embrace.

Mrs. Frank Lansdown, who had received no illustration, brought instead the picture of her lovely English mother who died when Mrs. Lansdown was a tiny infant. She read a touching poem, "To My Mother."

"The Exchange" was Mrs. R. R. Caldwell's amusing tale of exchanged suitcases between a football hero and a charming girl. Mrs. Foote, the hostess, told a true tale first related to her by her father and recalled by her picture of youthful snow-ballers. She called the story, "Punishment for Polly."

A pretty poem which she titled "Three Little Squirrels" was read by Mrs. Fannie Lash after which Mrs. Clarence Bond told a story which had come in her experience of two children who were lost but happily were found again.

Mrs. Lucy Whiting, an honored guest, delighted the members by reading a few lines she had composed "To the Pegasus Club" after which Mrs. Foote served Easter egg refreshments in a novel way, amidst the roses, fuchsias and other lovely blossoms of her floral appointments.

In addition to the members present, guests enjoying the program were Mrs. Whiting, Mrs. Justus Birtcher, Mrs. Booth who recently purchased a beautiful home at 514 East Myrtle street; Miss Dorothy Booth and a houseguest of Mrs. Earl Morris, Miss Muriel Gray of San Jose.

The next Pegasus club meeting will be with Mrs. Caldwell at the home of her mother, Mrs. Taylor, 2410 Bonnie Brae.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated at Park

At a pleasant celebration held last Sunday at Orange county park, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben J. Copeland of Compton, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Surrounded by their children, relatives and close friends, the bride and groom of yesteryear, were the pleased recipients of a purse of gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Copeland came to California from New Mexico five years ago. They lived at San Juan Capistrano for four years, moving to Compton a year ago. They were married near Tulare, New Mexico, April 16, 1877. During the early years of their married life, there was unusual outlawry in New Mexico, and they were in the very center of the Lincoln county war. They once entertained "Billy the Kid," and marauding Indians frequently stole some of their stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Copeland had tyelve children, nine of whom are living, and five of whom, with their families, were present at the celebration. They were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shearer, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Copeland, Frank Copeland, Mrs. Sallie Yarbough of Compton and Mr. and Mrs. John Copeland of West Orange.

Other relatives present included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Havens, West Orange; Mr. and Mrs. John Osterman, Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Osterman, El Toro, and William Orr, brother of Mrs. John Copeland.

The honor guests plan to leave soon for an extended visit in their old home in New Mexico, and will carry with them the friendly wishes of all those present at Sunday's celebration, for many more years of happy married life.

Pioneer Celebrates Seventieth Birthday

Mrs. Elizabeth Keene, well known Santa Ana pioneer, reached her seventieth milestone last Sunday, when the event was celebrated at her home, 319 South Birch street, with a sumptuous chicken dinner at noon to a large number of friends. Mrs. Keene's daughter, Mrs. Dan J. Edwards, and her friend, Mrs. Mary White, were the hostesses.

Living and dining rooms were transformed into a bower of fragrant sweet peas in pink and lavender tones, these blossoms in a large bowl occupying the place of honor on the dinner table.

Mrs. Keene was showered with gifts and her picture was taken in memory of the occasion, her friends wishing her many more years of happy life.

For the third time in its 90 years' history the Grand National, greatest of all the world's steeplechases, was won this year by a woman owner.

Bridge Dinner Offers Pleasant Evening to Group of Guests

Combining the orange of marigolds and the blue of delphiniums, Mrs. Marguerite Borgmeyer achieved a strikingly lovely effect in table appointments for a bridge dinner which she presented early this week at St. Ann's Inn.

Mrs. Borgmeyer, attracted to Santa Ana because it is the home of her sister, Mrs. W. H. Haddon, makes the Inn her headquarters and has given a number of pleasant parties there. None have been more enjoyable than the one of recent date.

An especially elaborate dinner menu was served, at a table whose marigolds and delphiniums were bathed in the soft light of tall orange tapers. Guests found their places by means of charming cards whereon the initials of the hostess were traced in a golden monogram.

Places were arranged for Mrs. Borgmeyer, Mrs. Hattie Corson of New York, Dr. Mabel Vance Tremain, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Skirvin, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Luhr, Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Van Dien, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. H. Benton, Judge and Mrs. James L. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smith of San Diego and Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Winckler.

At the conclusion of the dinner, way was led to the foyer where card tables had been placed in readiness for an evening of bridge. Mrs. Borgmeyer had selected attractive prizes for those who made special scores, and these were won by Mrs. Benton, Mrs. Haddon, Mrs. Chapman, Mr. Van Dien, Mr. Stephenson, Mr. Skirvin and Mr. Luhr.

Fairmount Reunion Is Planned to Honor San Diegan

Mrs. Bertha Diment of San Diego, who has been the pleasant houseguest of Mrs. Joseph Rose, 1705 West Fifth street, was complimented at a lively party given recently in the home of Mrs. Fred Stowe, 322 East Camille street.

A group of friends who all came from Fairmont, Minn., planned the party as a surprise dish supper, each contributing her favorite dish to the menu. The afternoon was an unusually merry one, with many reminiscences of former associations in Fairmont. A number of old photographs were produced by Mrs. Stowe, and these in turn aroused many happy and poignant memories.

Marigolds and other spring flowers gave an attractive appearance to the home, and to the tables where the delicious home-cooked foods were displayed at the supper hour.

Ebell Travelers Are Entertained

When Mrs. E. C. Nelson, Mrs. J. H. Walker and Mrs. J. R. Medlock of the second travel section of Ebell society, entertained at luncheon early this week, they chose a mingled color scheme for decorative purposes, and gave their tables a charming effect with pastel tinted flowers and nut-cups on the pretty linens.

Their luncheon menu was very enjoyable and stressed the Easter idea as did the cunning chickens which peeped from the flowers of the centerpiece.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, way was led to the home of Mrs. Medlock on North Main street, where the afternoon program was given under the direction of Mrs. Nelson, leader. One important business measure was the decision to give $100 to the general Ebell fund to apply to the debt on the building.

Mrs. Anita L. Alexander, reference librarian at the city library, was introduced as speaker and gave a delightful talk on her early home and school life in France. She compared the school system of France and the United States and then told interesting details of travels through Brittany and Normandy, describing the picturesque chateaux.

To add interest to her talk, Mrs. Alexander displayed many pictures of the regions described.

Ebell Flower Show to Have Final Session Tonight

Ebell society members who have worked so hard to make their annual spring market and its accompanying flower show a pronounced success, were today congratulating themselves upon the gratifying patronage yesterday at the opening day of the affair.

A succession of visitors admired the floral display, enjoyed the luncheon and the dainty afternoon tea, patronized the various booths in both the peacock room and the lounge where art goods and household supplies were on display, visited the country store and post office, and yielded to the lure of gazing into the future with Madame Loyah, seeress and solver of mysteries.

Mrs. Cood Adams, leader of the garden section under whose auspices the flower show was staged, today requested all those whose entries had secured prizes or ribbons, and all those who had flower containers at the clubhouse, to call for them either tonight or early tomorrow morning.

There were many interesting awards in the flower show, and on every hand were heard words of praise for the display and the arrangement of the blossoms. This was all under the direction of Mrs. J. T. Wilson who was general chairman of the flower show, and to whose artistic and executive ability the arrangement of the flowers was due.

There was a crowded house to greet the style show presented by the Rankin Drygoods store as last night's entertainment features, and an even larger crowd is expected tonight when the "Flower Dance" will be presented by pupils of the McAdam School of Dancing.

Those who have seen rehearsals for the dance, were delighted with its beauty and grace, and promise an evening of complete enjoyment for patrons.

Young Girls Change Their Club Name

That group of gay young girls who banded together early in the winter as the G. T. club, held their latest meeting in their clubroom at 220 North Main street, and decided to change their name to the J. U. G. club.

It was a merry evening, to which readings by Dorothy Dungan contributed their share of interest, as did a clever pantomime by Lucille Bermann. The remainder of the evening was given over to merriment and games and the enjoyment of refreshments.

Those present were the Misses Dorothy Dungan, Lucile Bermann, Gertrude Hoffman, Dorothy Pickett, Catherine Rousseau and Prudence Drews.

Distinguished Guests Are Entertained in Gustlin Home

Always a favorite rendezvous for distinguished guests in the city, especially musical folk, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin at 816 North Main street, was the scene of a pleasant little dinner last night when the artists on the P.-T. A. concert course program, Charles Wakefield Cadman, James Forstner, were entertained by Mrs. Gustlin, Mrs. J. R. Medlock and Professor Risser Patty completing the guest group.

Mr. Cadman and Prof. Patty remained as house-guests in the home, and the former was to go to Laguna Beach today, to fill an engagement. While there he will be entertained by Miss Anne Priscilla Risher, pianist-composer of "Our Village."

Prof. Patty, well-known musician and teacher, devotes his summers to European travel and has recently been achieving much fame for the successful parties he has conducted on travels aboard. Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns and Mrs. Daniel W. Casey were members of one of his parties last summer. He is a talented linguist, speaking French, German, Spanish and Italian fluently.

Happy Couple Wedded In Dominie's Home

The pretty parsonage home of the Rev. Richard H. Silverthorn at 320 East Chestnut street, was the scene of a pretty wedding last night when Mrs. Helen J. Garrison became the bride of H. Albert Myer.

Delicately colored gladioli and snapdragons provided the setting for the nuptial ceremony, with the full ring service of the Presbyterian church used.

Mrs. Garrison wore a beautiful gown of mauve and old rose crepe meteor with hat and shoes to harmonize. She was attended by Miss Bess Whitt of Redondo Beach as bridesmaid, wearing a gown of midnight blue crepe marian..

Arthur A. Schmidt assisted Mr. Myer as best man. After the ceremony, the young people returned to the bride's home at 1901 Cypress avenue in roundabout manner that took them to several of the neighboring beach cities. A midnight wedding supper was served.

Mr. Myer is with the Excelsior Creamery company. Both he and his bride have a wide circle of friends, all of whom will hasten to extend their congratulations and good wishes on the marriage.

BIGAMIST GETS TEN YEAR TERM ON GUILT PLEA

Dan Adlin, Los Angeles tailor, who confessed to bigamy several weeks ago, was today sentenced by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames to serve a sentence "not exceeding ten years" in San Quentin.

The court refused probation in the case. Adlin who had left his wife and two children in Los Angeles to run away to Santa Ana and marry Sylvia Weisberg, 22, who worked in his tailor shop, was arrested in San Francisco at the instance of his wife, Mrs. Rose Adlin.

Today, Mrs. Adlin was in court, hoping to get probation for her husband. She wanted him to return to her, forgiven, Adlin appeared before the court, penitent, anxious to have a new chance. But the court was skeptical of his repentance.

"The man who repents after he is caught, and when he finds the prison doors staring him in the face, is open to doubt," said Judge Ames. "The purity and sanctity of the marriage relation must be protected. The law is for that purpose. I am going to deny your request for probation."

Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodget had informed the court that when Mrs. Adlin first appeared to file the bigamy charge against her husband, Blodget asked her if she was really in earnest, or if she merely wanted the law to bring her husband back to her.

"She told me," said Blodget, "that her children were amply provided for and that she really wanted to prosecute her husband for his crime. Otherwise I would not have issued the complaint for her."

CHANGES PLEA IN BLACK JACK CASE

A. Gonzales, former Anaheim Mexican, who pleaded guilty several days ago to a charge of carrying a black-jack, which involved a sentence to state's prison, without the privilege of probation, changed his plea to not guilty when he came before Superior Judge E. J. Marks for sentence today.

Attorney D. G. Wettlin appeared as counsel for Gonzales today. The case was continued by Judge Marks to next Friday at 9:30 a. m., to be set for trial.

It was understood, however, that the felony charge might be withdrawn in favor of a misdemeanor charge of carrying a concealed weapon, that was expected to be filed in Justice Kenneth E. Morrison's court today. Gonzales would plead guilty to the lesser charge, which would involve a jail sentence, it was said.

Had Gonzales proceeded with his plea of guilty to the original charge, he would have been the first prisoner sentenced from Orange county under the law passed in 1923, making it a felony for aliens or ex-convicts to carry a deadly weapon.

BROADWAY THEATER WINS FROM FIREMEN

The rivalry waxes fast and furious! Bring on your old indoor baseball teams.

Santa Ana's firemen, decisive winners over the West Coast-Walker theater crew earlier in the week, received a surprise yesterday when the Yost Broadway theater club nosed them out at Lathrop field, 16 to 14.

The West Coast-Walkers immediately challenged the Yost Broadways and the two squads will battle at Lincoln field tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock for the championship of Santa Ana theaters.

SERVANTS TO GET ELECTORAL RIGHTS

PARIS, April 22.—Personal servants, valets and butlers, are in a fair way to get full civil and electoral rights.

Since Napoleon's time they have not been eligible to places in the City Council and some other bodies. They could vote but not always be voted for.

The senate has abrogated this century old provision and the Chamber is expected to follow suit.

Why such household servants should be barred from local governments is somewhat obscure but probably the prejudice dates from the Revolution.

Personal servants of aristocrats were then credited with having absorbed the monarchical preferences of their masters and mistresses unless they showed extremely revolutionary tendencies. In that case they often were accused of playing a part to save their heads.

WOULD SPANK LIBERALS

WEST CHESTER, Pa. — Miss Isabel Darlington, secretary of the trustees of the State Normal school, has a remedy for the situation caused by the protests of the Students' Liberal club against the removal of two professors. Their parents should give the liberals a good, sound, old-fashioned spanking, she thinks.

PROSECUTOR IN VERBAL ATTACK ON DANCE HALL

Girls who frequent dance halls and risk insult and harm are less to blame for anything that happens to them than the public which permits dance halls to exist, District Attorney Z. B. West jr. declared to a jury in superior court yesterday.

Arguing to the jury at the trial of Edward Driscoll, Huntington Beach oil worker, charged with a criminal attack against a Santa Ana girl, the district attorney placed the responsibility for dance hall immorality upon the shoulders of the public.

"You and I and the general public are to blame for licensing these dance halls and permitting them to operate," West told the jurors. He was replying to an anticipated attack upon the character of the girl concerned in the case.

At Driscoll's previous trial, at which the jury disagreed, Defense Attorney D. G. Wettlin had offered to the jury, the defense that the girl had courted danger wilfully.

"So long as we license dance halls, some girls will go to them. If anything happens to them they are less to blame than we are, who permit such places to exist under protection of law," declared the district attorney.

Following West in his argument, Wettlin reiterated his former contention that the girl in the Driscoll case had been a willing victim.

The case went to the jury this morning, after Judge H. G. Ames delivered his charge to the jurors.

One of the jurors, former Supervisor H. E. Smith, of Santa Ana, appeared in the jury box on crutches yesterday afternoon, having been injured during the noon hour when a boy on a bicycle collided with him, throwing the juror to the ground and wrenching his back.

FAMOUS TAXICAB IS SANTA ANA VISITOR

A famous visitor was in Santa Ana today.

She was "Eloise," one of the heroic Paris taxicabs that helped General Galienne save the French capital when the German hordes, under Von Kluck, were making the historic drive along the Marne in 1914.

"Eloise" was brought to this country by the Fox Film company to play a role in that company's million dollar film production of the famous stage success "7th Heaven" which has been more than a year in the making under the direction of Frank Borzage.

At the completion of its tour of the Southland to publicize the picture, "Eloise" is to be presented to a leading museum of Los Angeles as a symbol of one of the history-making events of the World War.

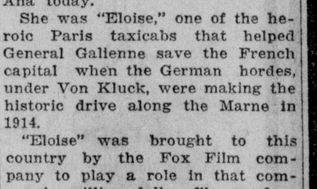

Prince Now Has House In House

LONDON, April 22.—When the Prince of Wales takes up residence in Marlborough house he will occupy a small house within a house.

He always objected to the size of Marlborough house, and alterations have been so carried out that his private suite consists of comparatively small cozy rooms, around which are the big state and reception roofs for visitors and state functions.

TWO SPEEDERS ARE SENTENCED TO FIVE DAYS

Two speeders today were sentenced to serve jail terms by Justice Kenneth Morrison.

Charged with speeding 47 miles an hour in January, and with having failed to appear on the charge, J. Lawson, cigar dealer, of 856 South Main street, Los Angeles, was sentenced to serve five days in jail, and another charge against him, that of operating a machine with fictitious license plates on it, was set for April 28, at 10 a. m.

The speed charge was filed by Officers Barnhill and Bradfield and F. G. Yoder, state officer, filed the fictitious license charge against Lawson. He was taken to jail from the court room.

Robert S. Martin, 1816 North Wilton Place, Los Angeles, was sentenced to jail for five days for speeding 55 miles an hour on March 17. He was arrested by H. M. Aldrich, state traffic officer. Martin was given until 5 p. m. today to "check in" at the bastile.

R. Bailey, 3580 North Griffin avenue, Los Angeles was fined $20 on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour and Glen Jones, Corona, received a $20 fine for speeding 44 miles an hour.

Seek Prosecution Of Aluminum Firm

The case of Dr. J. A. Allard, of Anaheim, charged with practicing dentistry without a state license, was continued for another week when it came before Superior Judge E. J. Marks today to be reset for trial.

The trial, recently, resulted in a hung jury. hChief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodget, who prosecuted the case, announced that there were two charges against Dr. Allard and the prosecution had not decided whether to retry the first charge or prosecute the other instead.

STATE JUNIOR C. OF C. TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

Between 30 and 35 members of the various junior chambers of commerce in California will meet in Santa Ana tomorrow evening at the regular quarterly conference of the California State Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Representatives will be here from Modesto, Turlock, Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and San Francisco. Five delegates from each of the above junior chambers are expected.

The meeting tomorrow evening will be held at Ketner's cafe and will be presided over by Mason Yould of this city, president of the state association.

Entertainment arrangements have been made by the members of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce. Bob Fernandez, president of the local civic body will be chairman of the meeting. Women attending the meeting will be guests at the Yost Broadway theater.

Matters of importance to the various junior chambers of the state will be taken up and discussed at the meeting tomorrow evening.

The California State Junior Chamber of Commerce was formally organized and officers elected at a meeting held in San Diego in January after a year of preliminary work.

SAWTELLE LAD FACES CHARGE OF PERJURY

Charged with perjury in connection with the alleged obtaining of a marriage license here several weeks ago, when he is said to have sworn that the girl he was to marry was 18 years old, when she was only 15, Edward E. Livermore, Sawtelle, was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

Bail was fixed at $1000, which he was unable to make and his preliminary examination was set for April 28 at 10 a. m.

The complaining witness in the case is Mrs. R. D. Nickola, 11768 Santa Monica boulevard, Sawtelle.

POLY SENIORS TO GIVE PLAY FRIDAY, MAY 27

Evening rehearsals on the senior class play, "Mary Jane's Pa," to be presented May 27 at the Santa Ana Polytechnic High school, have been started under the direction of Ernest Crozier Phillips, dramatics instructor. The cast, of which there are 15 thespians, has been completed and the work on the first act is in progress.

The date of the play will be given, May 27, was announced today by Phillips.

Miss Marion Bruner as Portia has the leading role. She plays the part of the mother who in her efforts to raise her children, goes into business and becomes editor of a newspaper.

An exceptionally strong cast will play the roles in the three act play, Phillips said. There is much talent among the students and the play, according to expectations, will be the climax of the dramatic productions which have been presented this year at the high school.

"Mary Jane's Pa" was written by Edith Ellis.

Members of the cast are Marion Bruner, as Portia; Doris Kearns as Lucille Perkins; Loretta Spangler as Mary Jane Perkins; Ralph White as Hiram Perkins, Gertrude Bates as Ivy Wilcox, Mary Arnold as Miss Flaxon, the old maid; Howard Moore as Rome Preston, DeRoy Dixon as Barrett Sheridan, Russ Hooker as Joel Skinner, Edwin Gerhardt as Claude Whitcomb, Carleton Buck as Eugene Merryfield, Fred Fosdick as Llewellyn Green, Lawrence Hogue as John Whipple and Oliver Early as Linc Watkins.

Sunday School To Exhibit Paintings

COSTA MESA, April 22.—The 11 o'clock service next Sunday morning will be a notable one. A number of copies of great art masterpieces have been presented for the rooms of the younger grades of the Sunday school, and these will be unveiled in the morning church service, the boys and girls participating in the ceremony. The primary department will receive Harold Copping's "The Hope of the World." The beginners will have Margaret Tarrant's "All Things Bright and Beautiful." The juniors will have Hoffman's "Boy Christ in the Temple" and "Christ and the Rich Young Ruler." The pastor will preach on the text, "We would see Jesus." William Warren will sing.

In the evening, "The Age of Great Cathedrals" will be illustrated by about 60 views of the great masterpieces of religion as expressed in architecture.

The Sunday school meets at 9:45 o'clock, the junior department being at the clubhouse. The Epworth league meets at 6:30 o'clock.

All your friends will be at St. Ann's Inn Dance this evening. You're invited. Great music.

I. O. O. F. LODGES OF COUNTY TO STAGE PICNIC

Games, sports and track events, including a baseball game and a tug-of-war, are among the entertainment features on the all-day program arranged for the annual outing and picnic of the Orange county lodges of I. O. O. F., to be held tomorrow, Saturday, at the Orange county park.

According to Theo. D. Tarbox, Huntington Beach, district deputy, and chairman of the general committee on arrangements, more than 500 lodgemen and their wives are expected for the outing which, judging from the preparations, promises to eclipse all previous events.

The program calls for a basket lunch, coffee to be served at the grounds. In addition, there will be lemonade and other refreshments.

The program will close with dancing from 3 to 5 o'clock for which a well known jazz orchestra has been engaged.

The Orange county district, No. 69, of the order is made up of the lodges at Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, Westminster, Brea and Huntington Beach.

STATE JUNIOR CHAMBER MEN MEET SATURDAY

Delegates from six California cities will be in Santa Ana Saturday evening to attend the meeting of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be held at Ketner's cafe, as the guests of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mason Yould, former president of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, is president of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, and will preside Saturday evening. Delegates will be present from Long Beach, Los Angeles, San Diego, Turlock, Modesto and Santa Ana.

Problems of mutual interest, such as membership campaigns, projects and the like, will be discussed after the business session. The entire board of directors of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce has been asked to attend, President Bob Fernandez said.

The business meeting will be preceded by a musical program provided by members of the Santa Ana Boys chorus, under the direction of Mrs. F. H. Beeson. The diner is to be served at 6:30 o'clock.

The Fraternal Brotherhood lodge will give a benefit dance Friday, April 22 at the El Camino Hall. Admission, gentleman 50c.

Spanish War Vets Change Quarters

J. C. Farrar was elected officer of the day at Tuesday night's meeting of Calumpit camp, No. 26, U. S. W. V. in El Camino hall, to fill a position which has been vacant for some time.

It was announced at this meeting that in the future the camp's headquarters would be in the new Knights of Pythias hall at Fifth and Broadway. The Calumpit auxiliary has also made arrangements to meet in the new hall.

Delegates were elected to attend the convention to be held at Santa Cruz May 8, 9, 10 and 11. An effort will be made to have the 1928 convention held in Southern California.

Baldwin Loses His Rank as Pipe Fan

LONDON, April 22. — Premier Stanley Baldwin is an inveterate pipe smoker and has a well filled pipe rack, but he must yield the palm to M. P. Collins of Wivenhoe, Essex, who has fifty-two pipes which he smokes in turn.

Collins uses three each day, alternately, and so, he says, he never has a hot or wet pipe.

He has blended his own mixtures for 40 years and he smokes 12 ounces per week.

The tropics have a great deal more rain than the temperate zones, yet only half as many wet days in the year.

Artesian wells are named after Artois, in France, where the tubular bore was first utilized.

OVER MILLION ORANGES WILL BE ON DISPLAY

If all the oranges to be used in the seventh annual California Valencia Orange show to be held at Anaheim, May 19 to 28, were placed side by side, they would reach half way from Anaheim to Los Angeles or almost 16 miles and the same line could be thrown around Pershing Square in Los Angeles more than 44 times.

These are some interesting estimates made by the committee working on this particular phase of the Valencia show.

More than 1,000,000 oranges were used in the show last year and the number is expected to exceed that this year. That figure represented more than 2,000 boxes of oranges or five carloads.

Orange growers of Orange county are inspecting the fruit which they intend to enter in the show and reports reaching the office of George W. Reid, manager of the show, indicate that both in sugar content and coloring the Valencias are well up to standard this year.

All the rack space has been spoken for as well as all the feature exhibit space and Manager Reid predicts the most gorgeous exhibition of gold apples in history. The competition for the most excellent Valencias is expected to be exceptionally keen this year and many California communities have already obtained their display space.

Redmen Join In Corona Ceremony

Members of Kiowa tribe, No. 259, Improved Order of Red Men, were guests this week of the Corona lodge when this tribe joined with the Corona and Riverside tribes in welcoming Great Sachem Harry Drake and Great Senior Sagamore Martin Haines. Reports were made on the progress of a membership contest being held between the three tribes.

"RAMONA" PLAY AT HEMET TO OPEN SATURDAY

More than 150 members of the cast of the fifth annual outdoor play, "Ramona" at Hemet, are anxiously looking forward to Saturday of this week, the opening day of the 1927 season of this remarkable drama of the history and romance of early California. Intensive rehearsals have been held for the past three weeks. Garnet Holme, the director, today declared that the play will be better than ever before.

"I believe the cast is the finest ever assembled for an outdoor play in California," said Holme.

According to Edward Poorman, general manager of the production, which is a non-profit enterprise sponsored by the Hemet-San Jacinto Chamber of Commerce, the advance seat sale indicates a total attendance of at least 40,000 at the six performances this year. The dates of the play are Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24; Saturday and Sunday, April 30 and May 1, and Saturday and Sunday, May 7 and 8.

At the Ramona Bowl, the natural amphitheater south of Hemet in which the play is given, final touches were today placed on 2400 new cement seats. The capacity of the amphitheater has been increased to 10,000 this year. There are 5000 comfortable seats and the overflow will be seated on the grassy hillsides of the theater.

PSYCHOLOGIST TO TALK HERE NEXT MONDAY

"The greatest men of today are 'simple' men," said Leo A. Haas, famous psychologist, who arrived in Santa Ana today to deliver a series of free lectures beginning Monday evening at the Ebell club auditorium. "I do not mean that they are simple-minded," Haas went on, "but they have the simple directness of mind to cut through non-essentials, and get to the heart of their problems.

"The reason so few people rise to the heights, is because the majority imagine there is something mysterious and unattainable about success. They fail to realize that success is governed by laws as unchangable as the universe. These laws operate constantly. It makes no difference if people deny them—they operate just the same. They are simple and easily mastered, and the person who succeeds is the simple man of direct mind who recognizes and grasps these lines that lead to the heights of success. Lincoln, Ford, Burbank, Edison and Helen Keller all prove that greatness comes through simplicity of purpose.

"Many a hard-working underpaid salaried worker is going through the grind of daily routine, nursing a secret conviction that he is capable of bigger things, and better pay, yet when he strives to realize that ambition, he finds himself up against a stone wall.

'One of my greatest joys is to find men and women who are consciously wrong, inferior and unhappy and bring them to the place where they become consciously right, superior and happy, under my instructions."

Haas comes to Santa Ana, under the auspices of the National Health and Psychological Bureau of America to teach the 10 laws of health and success which have revolutionized the lives of men and women in every city where he has lectured. His five free lectures will commence Monday evening at the Ebell club auditorium at 8:15 and are open to all.

TALBERT

TALBERT, April 22.—Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Swift were hosts at a family gathering at which a big dinner was a pleasing feature. Present were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wardlow and daughter, Muriel, and son, Donald, of Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones and daughters, Jean and Margaret, of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Claire Wardlow, of Westminster; Fred Witte of Garden Grove; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swift and daughter, Gwendolyn and son, Milton and Miss Mildred Swift, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gisler were hosts at a birthday surprise party given at their home for Mrs. Gisler's father, George crane, and a friend of the family, William Plaussee, whose natal days come within one day of the other. .....

In the company were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook, Charles Cook jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gisler, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Crane, S. J. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Wentzel, Velma, Roy and Dwight Wentzel, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Wentzel, Miss Jaunita Wentzel, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ruby, Mrs. John Cline, Frank Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham and two children, Mr. and Mrs. William Plaussee, Miss Helen Plaussee and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gisler.

Miss Gertrude Ambrose, who has been the houseguest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward, has returned to Pasadena.

S. E. Talbert, of this place, is anxiously awaiting word of a nephew, whose home is at Mt. Pulaska, Ill., where the storm devastation was so great this week.

The special meetings which continued at the Talbert Methodist church, south, for 10 days, closed on Wednesday evening. The pastor, the Rev. J. J. Woodson, preached each evening during the series and the attendance remained good throughout and great interest was created, there having been 23 conversions during the time. Several new members are to be taken in at the Talbert and Greenville churches on next Sunday evening as a result. At 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon three are to be immersed the meeting to be held at the First Christian church in Huntington Beach.

Thursday morning the Rev. Mr. Woodson, in company with J. Shiffer, of Greenville, motored to Los Angeles bringing to their homes Mrs. J. J. Woodson, Mrs. May Clayton and Mrs. White, who spent three days in attendance as delegates at the Women's Missionary conference at Trinity church, as delegates from the local society. The delegates report a most interesting session.

Bob's Grocery, which has been going through a general transformation since Bob Harper purchased the stock of the Parson's General Merchandise store, recently, is now completed, the porch at the boulevard entrance having been built the first of this week. Thursday a dirt fill was made in front of the store.

The last of the Talbert pepper crop is now going in and the earlier crops are at the stage for cultivation.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lacabanne enjoyed a day at Hewes park with Mr. and Mrs. P. Lacabanne and family, of Los Angeles.

Fountain Valley school pupils will participate in a track meet which will be held April 29 at the Oceanview school.

S. E. Talbert made a business trip to Laguna Beach this week.

Mrs. W. O. Ater was hostess at a family dinner given in her home this week and a party of 10 sat down to a delicious repast. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. David Jessee, parents of the hostess; her brother, Earl Jessee, her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Jessee and son, of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Ater and children. Mr. Ater, who is employed in the oil fields, could not be present.

Miss Dorothy Woodson has returned from a week's visit at Colton with her sister, Mrs. Mable Lee. Miss Woodson in company with Harvey Totten, of San Bernardino, motored to Escondido from Colton and were guests at a birthday anniversary affair planned by Mr. Totten's sister at her home in his honor, motoring here the same evening.

Henry Boer, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boer, sustained a severely sprained foot on the athletic field of the Huntington Beach high school on Tuesday afternoon and will be on crutches the next three weeks.

Word received by friends from Vance Wardlow, who next March completes a three-year enlistment in the U. S. navy, gives his present location as "Somewhere near Panama."

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Proctor were recent visitors in the home of their former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. David Jessee. Mr. and Mrs. Proctor, who left their ranch here at the time of the high waters, have now rented their ranch to parties who will farm it.

Mr. and Mrs. Bashhort and family have returned from a week's vacation trip to Santa Barbara, where they visited relatives.

It has been learned by friends that Mrs. Frank Page, formerly of Talbert, who has been very low as the result of complications suffered as the result of an operation for the removal of her tonsils, is improved.

'AVIATION PAGE' TO BE NEW JOB

BERLIN, April 22.—The next position to be created in the German air service will be that of aviation page, Dr. Orlovius, one of the directors of the Luft Hansa, announced at a recent film-lecture on German aviation of the future.

The duties of such a page, he explained, will be to assist passengers in embarking and disembarking, to look after their baggage and to act as steward or waiter during the trip.

Dr. Orlovius predicted an uninterrupted air service, day and night, winter and summer, on most German routes. The latest plan under consideration, he said, was the building of aerial tugs capable of towing long convoys of freight planes, as a preparatory step toward the super traffic plane of great speed and offering all the comforts and luxuries of a Pullman train.

Ruts

MANY a man of brilliant promise has been lost in a rut of despair. Has seen his enthusiasm, his prospects, blighted! Himself powerless to prevent it—dully realizing that he no longer had the energy to stand the pace. . . . What can crush a man's spirit so completely?

Indeed, what is constipation? More—far more—than the average person realizes. It destroys health. It steals strength. It sickens the mind and leads to suffering and disease! Yet no one need be afflicted with this curse. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—promptly, safely.

Why part-bran products fail!

ALL-BRAN is 100% "bulk." This bulk absorbs moisture and carries it throughout the intestines, gently distending them—cleansing, removing wastes and poisons. In a part-bran product the quantity of bulk is so small it scarcely accomplishes anything! Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN because they know it is 100% bran—100% effective.

So different from dangerous pills!

How much better to rely upon healthful ALL-BRAN than habit-forming pills and drugs. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Let it soak a few moments to bring out all its nut-like flavor. Use it with other cereals. In soups. Try the recipes on every package.

Don't risk part-bran substitutes. Insist on genuine Kellogg's. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

ORCHESTRA TO OPEN PROGRAM FOR WEEK OF MUSIC IN S. A.

Los Angeles Soprano Will Be Soloist; City Band to Play Concert on Tuesday

BRADFORD TO SING IN CANTANDO CLUB

Community Singing Is to Feature Each Evening as First Program Number

The Santa Ana symphony orchestra, D. C. Cianfoni, director, will open the night programs to be given in Santa Ana during music week, beginning Monday, May 2, it was announced today by D. C. Cianfoni, chairman of the music week program committee. Miss Virginia Flohri, Los Angeles soprano, will be the soloist. Plans had been made for the Santa Ana Boys Chorus to open music week but on account of a previous engagement at Sacramento Miss Flohri could not keep the Thursday date suggested for her by the music week committee. The chorus will sing Thursday evening the date originally planned for tha symphony orchestra.

The Santa Ana municipal band will play Tuesday evening, assisted by the Santa Ana Cantando club, a male chorus, and Robert Bradford, baritone.

The program Wednesday evening will be provided by children of the public schools, the program having been arranged by Mrs. F. H. Beeson, director of music.

Friday night's program has been arranged by Sol Gonzales and will feature Spanish singers, instrumental artists and dancers, with Edward Del Gado, baritone as soloist, and Faustina Lucero as featured dancer.

The program Saturday evening will be supplied by the Y. M. C. A. Men's chorus, and the Methodist Episcopal church choir, with Lyle Roberts, clarinetist, soloist.

Community singing will begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock. During each evening's program a short talk on the value and appreciation of music will be given. Speakers have been announced as follows: Monday, Freeman Bloodgood; Tuesday, Dr. Sigmund Spaeth; Wednesday, D. K. Ham-

Gets Five Days For Driving Car Without License

Because T. Sabala, Santa Ana, drove his machine about the city streets without first equipping himself with an operator's license, he is now in the Orange county jail, serving a sentence of five days.

Sabala was arrested by Officer Sid Smithwick and brought into Judge J. F. Talbott's court yesterday. He was given a fine of $5 and being unable to pay, was committed to serve a day for each dollar of the fine.

George McDonald, Santa Ana, yesterday was fined $2 in police court on a charge of parking overtime in the business district.

RANCH LAND IS DESCRIBED AS EXCELLENT BUY

In an interview yesterday with Rick Burrows, manager of the farm land department of the Frank Meline company, he said: "I was very much interested in the report of the speech recently given in Los Angeles by Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, in which Mr. Schwab, referring to Southern California, said: 'You are now only on the eve of the greatest period of progress in your history.' Such statements as this coming from men like Mr. Schwab should awaken us all to our opportunities.

"California's diversified farming," continued Mr. Burrows, "now produces from $500,000,000 to $800,000,000 a year, and yet, with the ever-increasing population, and great numbers of people engaged in industry and business, there is a constant demand for more.

"Good close-in farm land, located on good paved highways, with rail facilities, and quantities of gravity water and equable climate is becoming very scarce, and prices are constantly advancing.

"I know of no other large body of rich farm land so situated, with the ability to produce practically every crop known in California, that can be bought at prices anywhere near as low as those now being asked for Miller and Lux Buttonwillow ranch.

"Such land as this, capable of high return on the investment, both from crops and from the increase in the value of the land itself, is one of the state's most outstanding investment opportunities."

PLANNING BODY HAS DUTIES OF GREAT VARIANCE

Secretary of Commission In Santa Ana Outlines Problems Members Face

By MRS. CLARA CUSHMAN
(Secretary of Santa Ana Planning Commission)

From the type of question often put to the secretary, it would seem that many persons believe the planning commission was organized for the primary purpose of beautifying the city—a civic beauty doctor, as it were.

It is quite true that in the United States the idea of city planning originally grew out of a desire of aesthetic souls to make their communities better to look upon. It is related that at one enthusiastic gathering for "city beautification," as the movement was called then, one cautious citizen inquisitively asked,

"But what is all this beautification going to cost and who's going to pay for it?"

The chairman glared at the speaker. "I am ashamed," he exclaimed, "that such a sordid thought should be expressed on an occasion when we are gathered to promote the beauty and glory of our city. Were the beauty that was Greece and the glory that was Rome founded upon such calculations?"

It is not recorded what the inquisitive citizen replied. He might have suggested that they were, and that beauty and glory do not grow out of bankruptcy. Or he might have been a shy fellow who sneaked out in great embarrassment at this public rebuke; sneaked out perhaps, to pick up his business where he had left off in order to attend the "beautification" meeting. He may have been engaged in laying out a subdivision for the future market, or in figuring out a tree planting scheme thereon; or perhaps working at a salaried job for the telephone company, helping to figure out a proposed telephone extension. And if so, he probably did not dream that he himself was a city planner, any more than did the city beautifiers. Each reckoned without the other.

But city planning, properly speaking, was first executed by business concerns, particularly by those which had to plan extensions years in advance, and so make a study of tendencies in growth and development, as, for instance, gas, traction and telephone companies. Smaller business concerns often found it convenient to use the

FINANCIERS OF TWO COUNTIES MAKE TOUR OF FERTILE ACRES

Keen Interest of Youngsters In Farming Problems Is Shown by Club Program

EVERY MEMBER GIVEN AVOCADO

Importance of Wind Breaks In Citrus Culture Pointed Out by Farm Advisor

Bankers of Orange and Los Angeles counties today had a better conception of the scope of agriculture and a more intimate knowledge of the variety of products in Orange county as a result of the tour of the county yesterday by the financial men in company with some of the prominent members of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

The tour embraced a drive of approximately 60 miles through typical agricultural areas in the county and members of the group were given intimate glimpses of local orchard and farm problems and how they are being met through activities of the agricultural service, the farm bureau and other agricultural agencies.

Under the direction of Harold Wahlberg, farm advisor, and his assistants, W. M. Cory and Raymond Ellis, and County Horticultural Commissioner A. A. Brock and his assistant, D. W. Tubbs, the bankers were presented with details on various operations in the county in the interest of better farming. By talks and charts, the agricultural experts explained some of the problems and presented facts pertaining to results that had been obtained in various types of experiments having to do with improvement of conditions in farming operations in the county.

$85,000,000 Annual Return

The annual returns from the lands of Orange county was impressed on the financiers in a number of ways, and stress was laid on the fact that the lands of the county produce annually $85,000,000 in agriculture and mineral products.

In the opinion of bankers and farmers in the group, the purpose of the tour was successfully accomplished. The tour was designed to bring the bankers of the county and Los Angeles financiers into direct contact with the agriculturists of this county, and in direct touch with farming districts of the county. It was arranged and carried out as a part of the program of the California Bankers' association for better acquainting the banking men of the state with the agricultural problems of the men who till the soil. A series of county meetings similar to that of yesterday is scheduled for the counties of the state.

Frank Was, vice president of the First National bank of Santa Ana; Horace Benjamin, of the Bank of Italy, Anaheim, and H. W. Wolff, of the Olive bank, composed the committee handling details of the tour, and Was officiated as master of ceremonies.

The first stop on the trip was at the grammar school at Tustin,

FRANK VAUGHN DANCE TICKETS SELLING FAST

With scores of tickets to the Frank Vaughn benefit dance, to be held tomorrow night at the Santa Ana home of the American Legion, Fourth and Birch streets, already disposed of, members of the Legion committee in charge declared today the dance would be one of the largest held here in several months.

Coe's Syncopators, well known Orange orchestra, have been secured to furnish music for the evening's entertainment, according to Ed Kolbe, chairman of the dance committee.

The benefit dance has been well publicized via radio throughout the county and in Los Angeles and because of this members of the committee are optimistic concerning the success of the enterprise.

Proceeds of the dance are to go to The Register's fund to aid Frank Vaughn, legionnaire and state traffic officer who was seriously injured near Costa Mesa last summer in a motorcycle accident, and who, as a result, is permanently disabled.

The Register has raised a fund of approximately $700 through volunteer subscription and the money made at the dance will be added to this.

Tickets are on sale at a number of downtown business houses and also may be obtained from state traffic and city officers. Tickets also will be available at the door of the Legion.

REDWOOD CARAVAN MEMBERS GET HEARTY GREETING ON SHORT STOP-OVER IN CITY

Santa Ana was one of a score or more Southern California cities which yesterday extended to the Redwood caravan a hearty welcome and listened earnestly to the information concerning the big trees of northwestern California. The party, traveling in private cars and in motor busses, was met at St. Ann's inn at noon by President Clyde Downing and Secretary George Raymer. At each plate was placed literature descriptive of Santa Ana.

On the trip south the caravan was piloted by a car driven by B. E. Morthland, representing the junior division of the Chamber of Commerce, and occupied by members of the division. The motorcycle escort provided by the Orange county state traffic squad was relieved of its duties at the county line by two riders from San Diego.

In welcoming the visitors, President Downing said:

"I bring to you today, greetings from Santa Ana, the capital city of Orange county, California. Through the press I have followed your caravan through California, and heartily approve of the work actuating and dominating the spirit of the members of your caravan.

"California, as a state, among its citizenship is cosmopolitan in character. Orange county is no exception. Among our citizens in Orange county, there is no doubt represented every state in the union. Through the speaker I bring to you today, the hospitality of the old south, tempered with the conservatism of the east, and shot with the hospitality and cordiality of the west.

"Orange county is primarily an agricultural community. During the year 1926, agricultural products, inclusive of course of citrus fruits, represented $30,000,000. Orange county, also, is coming to the front in the production of petroleum products. During 1926, the petroleum products produced in Orange county, represented $60,000,000. While Orange county is small in area, our productiveness is quite prolific, and during 1926, there was a total of approximately $90,000,000 derived from agricultural and petroleum products.

"In our little county of Orange you can travel over several hundred miles of the finest paved highways in the state. We, of course, are thoroughly sold on the economic value to be derived from the development and extension of the highways system. The more main highways leading into California from other states, the greater the opportunities for Orange county for development and expansion. We are with you 100 per cent in the Redwood Highway project. While I have never had the opportunity to stand among the giant redwoods of California, it is my hope, in the future, to do so. The big redwoods typify nature in its most majestic sense, and to me there is a source of strength and security always emanating from these giant forests.

"After your caravan has ended and you are making up the record of your journey, we trust that our little county of Orange will stand out in bold outline, and that you can still feel the warm grasp of friendship and cordiality which we are attempting to extend to you today."

The following were members of the caravan who were honored in Santa Ana: Mrs. Elizabeth Airey, Stinson Beach; Miss Dorothy Anderson, Willits; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Benbow and daughter, Benbow Resort; Ben Blow, San Francisco; Mrs. Ollie Bockee, Petrified Forest; G. A. Bolling, Grants Pass, Ore.; Miss Helen Carson, Willits; Dr. and Mrs. S. O. Coolidge, Redwood Park; A. K. Cass, Grants Pass, Ore.; William D'Egilbert, San Francisco; Dudley West, Crescent City; Charles Dunweedy, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Edmonson, San Francisco; E. R. Freeman, Richardson Grove; J. G.

HUSBANDS OF CHINA BATTLE WOMAN RIGHTS

PEKING, April 12.—Friends of the "new China," who are indignant at the thought that the Chinese masses still live centuries behind the times, will find food for reflection in the demonstration made by Hankow husbands several days ago in protest against the woman's emancipation movement started by Madame Sun Yat-sen, widow of the famous first president of this republic.

Fighting Mad

Storming the headquarters of the general labor union in the Yangtze valley metropolis more than 20,000 Chinese toilers demanded immediate disbandment of the woman's union, recently organized by Madame Sun Yat-sen, and it took not only the police, but nearly a regiment of soldiers to break up the demonstration.

For the Chinese husbands were "fighting-mad." They declared that since the Nationalist agents entered the Yangtze preaching emancipation for women, free love, the right of women to participate in government, etc., their wives were staying away from home nights "like alley cats," threatening disruption of their homes, neglect of their children and abandonment of the traditional family unit, the one thing that civil wars, military oppression and minority rule have thus far been unable to destroy in this ancient empire.

Insist Women Return

In other words, Chinese husbands and fathers in that vast territory through which the Yangtze-kiang river flows insist that their women's place is either in the home or at their side in the workshop and the field, and unless they return to the old custom, they said, they would quit work themselves, which would be a dangerous thing in China as the Chinese are by nature industrious and if they're not busy at work they're busy at mischief, and there is room for all kinds of mischief in China at the present moment.

That this demonstration upon the part of irate husbands, many of them with two and three wives, which is quite legitimate, is serious, is indicated by the fact that one of the first acts of the new Minister of Labor in the Nationalist government was to invite the husbands to choose a representative committee to meet him and later to meet a committee of women active in the emancipation movement, including Madame Sun, in an effort to come to an understanding.

W. C. T. U. to Hold Newport Session

NEWPORT BEACH, April 22.—On April 27, the county officers of the W. C. T. U. will hold an institute with the newly organized union in Newport Beach. It will be an all-day session, opening at 10 o'clock in the morning in the Newport Beach Community Methodist church. At noon a "mystery" luncheon will be served. All interested are invited to attend.

Each county officer will explain the work of her committee and gives practical suggestions of how it may be developed in Newport Beach. Mrs. Rose Morris is president of the Newport union, and has charge of the arrangements for the institute.

PLANNING BODY HAS DUTIES OF GREAT VARIANCE

data compiled by such companies in order to make their own business decisions, and thus they grew to see the wisdom of having such data available.

Then the era of the automobile and the phenomenal change it wrought upon business and industry and in the traffic requirements of communities, brought new and undreamed of problems in their wake, forcing business elements for their own protection into group action. Realtors became interested in zoning and traffic counts; merchants began to search for means of preventing losses due to revolutionary changes in the character of neighborhods; manufacturers began to consider whether they might not reduce expenses by moving away from central districts which formerly they felt must be within easy reach of the "buggy" and the pedestrian. Home owners began to resent the encroachment of undesirable businesses upon their front dooryards. Besides, it was getting so there were no places for their children to play in safety.

So citizens began to combine into committees to consider these vital questions, and the "beautification" committees were crowded out with the pressing needs of every day affairs. Chambers of Commerce, which formerly had handled aesthetic improvement as an aim in itself, a kind of superfluous ornament, began to see the analogy between beauty and utility in forming plans for improvement, and their inter-dependence. They began to appoint "planning committees" whose principle was, to use the words of one committee, "to list all of the likely requirements over a period of years, figure their probable cost, and then determine how much money the city will have available to expend." It was only a short step from this stage to the formation of the city planning body as a part of governmental function.

The courts of the United States have always sustained the theory that the government has no concern with regulation in the interest of beauty, so no "city beautification commission" could ever succeed, or indeed function at all. But a "planning commission," which has for its sole concern to assist in the promotion of the health, convenience and safety of the community, and which has grown out of the physical and material needs of the community may be as useful as the community wishes to make it.

And isn't it interesting and fortunate that in the promotion of health, convenience and safety, beauty, which a planning commission is not permitted to go after directly, simply slips in by itself?

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

One of the greatest laugh successes of the season, "When the Wife's Away," is playing all this week at Murphy's Orana theater.

"When the Wife's Away" is one of those funny situation comedies that always "get over" with a bang. It is the latest play from the pen of the author of so many popular successes, Charles F. Harrison.

The play is in three acts, is fast moving, and is produced in that high class manner that typifies the stage presentations offered at the Orana house.

AT THE THEATER

WEST COAST-WALKER

Just before her lamented death, the late Gene Stratton-Porter, finished "The Magic Garden," and this story has been made into a photoplay which may now be seen at the West Coast-Walker theater.

This story had not been published until recently when it first appeared as a serial in McCall's magazine, and now, coincident with the release of the picture, it is being given to the public in book form. Those who have read the stories of the popular authoress, beginning with the now immortal "Freckles," have shown a keen interest in the filming of three of her most successful books, namely "The Girl of the Limberlost," "The Keeper of the Bees," and "Laddie," just recently released.

The absorbing and thoroughly human characters of "The Magic Garden," have been brought to the screen in a vivid and colorful fashion against a background of enchanting beauty. The masterful direction is credited to J. Leo Meehan, son-in-law of the late authoress who is also responsible for

A rare treat is in store for you in the person of Charles Beauchamp, world famed tenor who acquired his early education in Santa Ana. Beauchamp had just completed an engagement with the Warner brothers broadcasting station in Hollywood when he was persuaded by Fanchon and Marco to appear in his home town in person. Other artists on the program are Homer Dickinson, Dorothy Lee, Bob and Jack Crosby and the Gibson sisters. All of these acts have gained fame throughout the country with their versatile numbers.

Bobby Wolff and his Greater Band furnish the music and no little comedy.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

For out-and-out entertainment Milton Sills' starring vehicle, "The Sea Tiger," which is at the Yost Broadway theater, is said to be one of the best pictures Sills has made for First National for some time, if one may judge by the enthusiasm of the audience.

In addition to a powerful theme, the story contains a fine vein of humor which is a welcome addition to Sills' pictures, and Carey Wilson, who produced the film and who also prepared the script, is to be congratulated on varying the star's tempo in this manner.

The setting of the story is vivid and colorful. The action takes place in a tiny islet of the Canary Islands, a mid-Atlantic possession of Spain, removed and isolated from the sophisticated world.

Yet in this little fishing village —where Sills is a picturesque Spanish fisherman with a ring in his ear—the passions of love and hate, jealousy and sacrifice run as high as ever they do in the pulsing environs of a great metropolis.

Mary Astor, a fisherman's daughter, is the heroine of the story, and at last beautiful Mary, who has had many "placid good girl" roles, has a red-headed part, calling for fire, spirit, humor and acting ability, and she carries it off with evident enjoyment.

YOST THEATER

D. W. Griffith again proves himself the master craftsman of the photoplay in "Sorrows of Satan," the film now showing at the Yost theater. In its fine shadings and subtle suggestions the picture is exquisite. With all his old-time magic and with an inspiration that has not marked in such a degree his films since "Broken Blossoms," Griffith succeeds in conveying to the audience the most complex ideas through the pantomime of his players.

Every actor performs his part in superlative fashion. Adolphe Menjou, as Satan, is a delightfully debonair devil. He plays the part so sympathetically, that there may be some diversity of opinion as to whether the devil is such a bad chap after all, instead there is the feeling that he is rather unfortunate. Carol Dempster in the role of Mavis Clare, the poor stenographer and heroine, gives the finest performance of her career. Lya de Putti as the wicked Princess Olga, Ricardo Cortez as Geoffrey Tempest and every member of the excellent cast, in fact, give outstanding performances.

How to Get $15,216.30!

A Simple Investment of $250 Each Half Year in a Farmers & Merchants Account

A PROBLEM that comes home to practically every individual is the problem of saving. How much to save? What proportion of one's income to put by?

Some startling facts can be gleaned from the mounting figures of a Farmers and Merchants Savings Account, added to regularly.

Put by $250 each half-year in a Farmers & Merchants account for 20 years and you will have $15,216.30—$5,216.30 more than you have actually deposited.

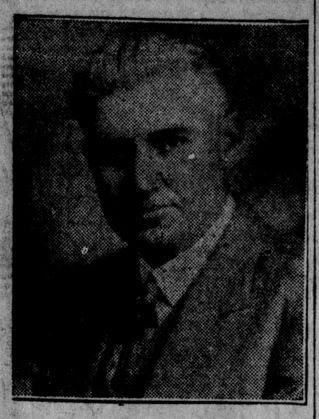

That is an investment—not a speculation—safe, sure and an estate for declining years. It is a simple matter of placing one's money in productive channels.

MORE AIRPLANE PICTURES OF FLOODED AREAS IN MISSISSIPPI VALLEY TOWNS SHOW HEAVY DAMAGE

Through the feat of an aviator employed by NEA Service, the featuring syndicate serving the Register, this paper is enabled today to present more exclusive pictures of the Mississippi flood areas. On the left, the flying cameraman has obtained a good view of Manilla, Ark., where the strength and fury of the flood waters is illustrated by the pile of timbers strewn along the bank of the wooden highway. For mile after mile, the NEA cameraman flew over scenes like this, risking his life, with no place to land the plane in event of a breakdown. On the right, the thin wall of earth keeping the two rivers, the St. Francis and the Little, and the thousands of acres of backwater, from flowing down and inundating Marked Tree, Ark., where hundreds of refugees were concentrated. Both photographs copyright, 1927, by NEA Service.

BANKERS SEE ORANGE COUNTY FERTILE ACRES

where the group was introduced to 30 of the 38 boys forming the junior agricultural club of that district. The value of the farm bureau work among the boys and girls of the county was impressed on the minds of the group by figure on a chart showing what boys and girls of the county had done in 1926 by individual effort in raising poultry, rabbits, pigs, calves and vegetables. Ellis has direction of this work and he presented by chart a group of figures that was highly interesting and instructive as to what the children are accomplishing.

The chart covered the operations of 109 children for 1926 and revealed that this number had received returns of $3509.22 from their various projects. Expenses in production were $2621.86, leaving a net profit of $887.36, or an average net profit per person of $8.14. Comments were made later that in showing a net profit the boys had done better than some of the adults engaged in farming operations.

Winding its way through portions of the Irvine ranch, where rapid developments are being made in changing bean lands to citrus and other types of tree culture, the caravan halted at the avocado orchard of the San Joaquin Fruit company, where many of the group were surprised to find an orchard of 13 years old trees laden with big avocados.

Learn of Avocado Industry

S. V. Newman, superintendent of the ranch and president of the California Avocado Growers Exchange, detailed some of the plans of the latter organization for popularizing the fruit and increasing its consumption. He pointed to the advertising campaign on "Calavos," the name adopted for California avocados. Newman said that the law requiring that marketable fruit carry eight per cent oil was not intended as a barrier to foreign fruit, but as a protection to those who buy the product. The company has 30,000 trees of the Challenge variety, and Newman estimated that each tree would produce 100 pounds, the selling price of which would range from 25 cents to 45 cents a pound, depending on the season at which it is marketed. Each member of the group carried away a large avocado, the gift of the San Joaquin Fruit company.

The windbreaks maintained by the San Joaquin Fruit company were cited by Wahlberg as a practical demonstration of the value of breaks in protecting citrus trees from damage by windstorms and frost. In a six years observation of two different orchards in different parts of the county, one with protection of rows of trees and the other without, Wahlberg revealed that 216 trees in a protected orchard had produced 205,125 boxes of oranges, 109,284 boxes of which were of the Sunkist grade. In the unprotected orchard of the same number of trees, the production was 201,314 boxes, of which only 101,026 were of the Sunkist grade.

The farm advisor stressed the point that windbreaks must be given attention, and he said that orchards protected by windbreaks that are properly taken care of return a better grade, better yields, more uniform production, increased tree vigor and better moisture conservation. Good windbreak care includes irrigation, fertilization and periodical root cutting, he said. He estimated that 12 miles of new windbreak has been planted as the result of a campaign for better windbreaks in unprotected areas.

The farm advisor informed the group that Orange county has 37,000 acres bearing and 5000 acres non-bearing valencias, and that the 1926 citrus returns approximated $24,000,000 or approximately one-fourth of the value of the entire citrus crop of the state.

Leaving the ranch of the San Joaquin Fruit company, the group drove through the Lemon Heights district to the walnut grove of Lambert and Wells on McFadden street, Tustin. At this point Wahlberg recited that Orange county is one of the oldest walnut growing districts in California and that there are approximately 14,000 acres of walnuts in the county. He credited the industry with producing nuts to the value of $4,000,000 annually.

Declaring that economic maintenance of production is one of the outstanding problems of owners of the old orchards, Wahlberg engaged in a discussion of thinning, and asserted his belief that removal of alternate trees is necessary for economic maintenance of orchards of early plantings, the trees being set too close together in the early day plantings.

He cited results in the Lambert-Wells orchard in support of his declarations. From 1918 to 1924 that orchard showed continuous depreciation in production. The production in 1924 was 18,250 pounds. At the end of the season every other tree was pulled out and in 1925 the production increased to 27,414 pounds. The returns for 1926 had not been received by the farm advisor, but he expressed confidence that an increase was made over the year 1925. Thinning confronts the owners of around 5000 acres, according to Wahlberg.

The chicken industry was introduced at this stop, and Cory spoke on the necessity of animal husbandry as a balance to horticulture. He declared that poultry raising may be profitable combined with fruit growing. He said there are 175 commercial plants in the county and that the annual income is approximately $700,000. A chicken plant on the Lambert-Wells property was mentioned and offered the opportunity for introduction of the subject at this point.

Tells of Hen Business

Stability of the chicken industry, he said, is dependent on scientific feeding, breeding, housing, disease control and efficient marketing. He directed attention to the value of fertilizer from chicken yards, and pointed out that under proper management chicken raising could be made to pay. Observations made on 17 chicken ranches had shown that each hen had returned an annual profit of $1.07 over feed costs. This, however, did not include interest on investment or depreciation on plant.

Departing from the walnut grove, the financiers and farmers were driven to the Segerstrom ranch at Greenville, passing from the citrus and walnut district to the beet, grain, bean farming and dairying areas. It was at this point that the members of the party were given an opportunity to exercise their knowledge of cows, and attempts to pick from a group of seven cows the best producer evidenced that the bankers were considerably shy on milk cow knowledge. They selected, by acclaim, the poorest producer in the exhibit. The high cow, it was disclosed, in 10 months produced 543.7 pounds of butter fat of the value of $489.33. The Segerstroms cultivate 800 acres in the Greenville district, and dairying is part of their operations.

The farm advisor is conducting experiments here in draining alkali lands, and Ellis pointed out some of the achievements in "washing" a two-acre plot. When the experiment started the soil carried 18,000 parts of sulphate and 8350 parts of chloride. Washing reduced the sulphate to 1500 and chloride to 200, the cost being $15.32 per acre. The experimental plot last year produced six sacks of beans to the acre, the first crop it ever had produced.

The noon hour rolled around while the inspection party was at the latter ranch, and following conclusion of the program there, the party drove to the county fair grounds, where they sat down to a sumptuous chicken dinner provided by women of the Garden Grove Women's club.

Following lunch, Was introduced bankers from outside the county and the introductions revealed that the junior credit men of most all the important banking institutions in Los Angeles were in attendance. It was pointed out by Was that the credit men are the bank officials who come most directly in contact with the farmers seeking financial accommodations, and Was commented on the fact that the inspection trip through Orange county would be beneficial to them in giving them opportunity for getting first hand information on conditions in this county.

O. W. Jarvis, chairman of the agricultural committee of the California Bankers' association, came all the way from Sacramento to participate in the tour. In a brief after-dinner talk he said the purpose of the committee is to promote greater co-operation between the producer and the banker. He emphasized the declaration that farmers of each county have their problems, and that solution can come only by co-operation of local groups, bankers and farmers alike. Co-operative marketing by farmers in unorganized lines he declared to be one of the big problems to be solved by California farmers.

H. A. Nater, vice president in charge of business extension of the Bank of Italy, Los Angeles, expressed the appreciation of the visiting group for the courtesies shown on the trip and commended the committee directing the program for the excellent manner in which details had been executed.

Speaks for Farmers

"The men who have been producing the wealth of the country have been neglected, and it seems a tragedy that there should ever be any question as to what they should receive for their produce," Nater said, in commenting on the fact that producers, as a rule, are the prey to tricksters who play with their crops and get all the profits.

Among the men of Los Angeles banking circles introduced by Was were J. B. McRitchie, of the Federal reserve bank; Alexander Ardery, of the Security and Trust company; Fred Hilpert, vice president of the Farmers and Merchants bank; D. B. Andrews, of the Citizens National; A. O. Sanford, of the California National, at Pomona; C. B. Dieter, of the Pacific Southwest, and O. W. Craig, of the First National. Among the county men present were J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register and state highway commissioner; John Mitchell, supervisor; J. B. Chaffee, of La Habra, representing the California Bank of Los Angeles, and vice chairman of the agricultural committee of the California Bankers' association, and John Osterman, vice president of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

Visit "Bug Factory"

The county insectary at Anaheim was the first point visited after lunch, and here the party was told of the plant operations by Brock and Tubbs. The plant has a capacity of 1,000,000 cryptolaemus citrophili per month for control of the mealy bug, a pest now infesting approximately 30,000 acres in the county. The process of development of the enemy of the mealy bug was explained by the two officials of the county horticultural department, and opportunity was given for inspecting the houses in which the propagation is carried on. Wahlberg declared this one of the most important operations of the county in the fight being waged against the destructive mealy bug.

Septic tanks developed for rural sanitation were explained by Cory, a tank being in operation at the insectary. Cory explained details of construction and advised that the equipment could be constructed at a cost of approximately $50.

Perhaps one of the most interesting points visited was the orchard of the Placentia Fruit company, which owns the first orchard planted to valencias in Orange county on a commercial basis. S. W. McCulloch, manager of the ranch, presented some interesting details of the introduction of the valencia in Orange county, and recited how R. H. Gilman, head of the company which made the original planting, discovered and introduced the valencia. Gilman planted two and half acres of seedlings in 1872, and in 1885 budded the trees to valencias, thus creating the first orchard of the fruit that has made Orange county famous and that has returned to the county countless millions of dollars. The ranch embraces 110 acres and is located near Placentia. McCulloch said the valencia originated in Spain, but that the seed for the original planting of a single tree at San Gabriel came from England. Buds secured from this tree were used in budding the seedlings at the Placentia ranch to valencias.

Tells Citrus Costs

Here it was that Wahlberg presented some observations as to maintenance costs and profits in orange culture and impressed on his auditors the necessity of accurate accounting, a subject that McCulloch had previously referred to. The farm advisor pointed out that farmers too often overlook the hidden costs of investment and depreciation. He presented a chart covering 24 groves of 10-year-old trees that were under observation for 1926—an observation that will continue on the same orchard for five years—and presented the cost figures on various items entering into production. The net profit, he disclosed, was $204.81 an acre. He cautioned, however, that the figures were for orchards that have the very best of attention, and that the net profits would not apply as an average for the whole industry in the county.

It was at the George Beck grove in the La Habra district, the party had its first demonstration of the overhead irrigation system, and it was here that Wahlberg declared that over-irrigation is done by a great many farmers. A. J. McFadden, of Santa Ana, chairman of the marketing committee of the farm bureau, dis-

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Register Want Ads

All Want Ads will be placed under their proper classification. No exceptions.

Personal, Situation Wanted and Furniture for sale will not be taken over the phone.

The Register will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any Want Ad ordered for more than one time, and then only by republication. Absolutely no cash rebate allowed except at the discretion of publisher. Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly lessens the value of the advertisement, will be rectified only by republication, without extra charge, within FIVE days after insertion.

The Register will not be responsible for errors due to illegible copy.

All Want Ads must be in by 11 a. m. to insure proper publication in all regular editions.

BOX OFFICE REPLIES

The Register postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish answers to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards which must be presented at The Register office. For the protection of our patrons, replies are not given out except on presentation of box card.

No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using The Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these advertisers can be supplied.

A charge is made for the words "Box A234, care The Register.

$500 IN PRIZES

During the past five months we have made many new friends—by selling them automobiles. We want more friends.

Starting April 23rd, we will have an exhibit in our window. It will be just cans. To the person who makes the nearest correct guess as to the number of cans, we will give $50.00 worth of canned goods. To the next 19 nearest guessers we will give a $25 credit on any used car in the store.

All of our used cars are plainly marked with a price tag and the year model. Moreover, every car is exactly as represented by our salesmen.

We stand back of our merchandise.

SOME OF OUR OFFERINGS

1927 Willys-Knight Model "70" Sedan.
1926 Willys-Knight Model "70" Sedan.

1926 Overland Six Coach.
1926 Whippet Coach.
1924 Rickenbacker Sedan.
1924 Hudson Coach.

Many others including Buicks, Nashes, Fords, and all standard makes.

Bring your old can in and take a guess on the number of OUR cans. The contest closes May 1st and you do not have to buy to win.

Remember—we have no set rule as to time payment privilege.

GENERAL LOCAL NEWS

SECTION THREE | SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1927 | PAGES SEVENTEEN TO TWENTY-FOUR

LAGUNA, BUENA PARK TO CAST SCHOOL VOTES

Two school bond issues totalling $158,000 are to be voted on in two Orange county cities next week. Laguna Beach citizens will vote upon a $124,000 issue. Buena Park voters will cast ballots on a bond issue of $34,000.

The Buena Park school election is to be held Monday. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. The money is to be used to purchase a new school site and erect a school. The site is to be located north of the Southern Pacific tracksand east of Grand avenue. A definite site has not yet been selected. Several are understood to be under consideration. One piece of land is said to have been offered the school trustees free of charge. The school is expected to serve the fast growing district to the north and east of Buena Park.

Laguna Beach citizens will cast ballots on a $124,000 issue Wednesday. The money will be used for the construction of a Spanish type building. The structure will contain nine rooms, providing rooms for eight grades and a kindergarten. Teachers' rooms and special domestic science, manual training departments and a cafeteria will be features of the school. A large auditorium is included in the plans, which were prepared by Fay R. Spangler, Santa Ana architect.

Laguna Beach citizens also plan the purchase of approximately one acre of additional land adjoining the present school grounds. The land will be used as playground.

Buena Park will issue 34 bonds of $1000 each and will retire $2000 each year after the first year. The bonds will be paid in 18 years. Laguna Beach will issue 124 bonds of $1000 each and will retire $6000 each year for a number of years and then will retire $7000 per year until the bonds are retired in 20 years.

La Habran Plans Trip to Europe

LA HABRA, April 22.—Addison Van Leonen, of La Habra, president of the student body at the University of Redlands last semester, has been honored by being one of 60 American students in accredited colleges to be invited by the National Student Federation of America to take a tour of the European countries this summer. Van Leonen received this honor by virtue of his being a representative of the University of Redlands at the national congress of the college students of America, which was held at Ann Arbor, Mish., last fall.

Van Leonen is making plans to leave with the other American students, who will leave in June for a tour of Germany, Austria, Rumania and Switzerland. The trip is made possible by the invitations of freign students, interested in the cultural values of a broad education, who have invited the American students to stay at their homes during the tour. Many of the old castles will be visited.

H. B. MAN FINED $100

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 22.—H. Grawe, 41, of this city, yesterday paid a fine of $100 to City Recorder C. W. Warner, after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated. According to officers, Grawe has been arrested several times recently on liquor charges.

C. of C. Opposes Plan To Lease City Hall Site

FULLERTON, April 22.—Recent action taken by the city trustees in an effort to lease the city hall site for a service station met with vigorous opposition by the board of directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce at their weekly luncheon yesterday noon at McFarland's cafe.

The opposition to the action was mainly on the grounds that this site is entirely too valuable and much too centrally located to lease for a service station.

After much discussion a resolution was adopted placing the chamber on record against leasing the site. The resolution calls for the appointment of a special committee to lay the protest before the trustees at their next meeting which is two weeks.

Dale King, president of the chamber of commerce, appointed the following on the committee to bring up the matter to the trustees: Robert Strain, Albert Lauer, Gurman Hoppe and J. R. Gardiner.

CALPET ABANDONS TWO OIL PROJECTS

ATWOOD, April 22.—The California Petroleum corporation has abandoned two of its Richfield Consolidated wells, according to official reports. The two abandoned projects are Richfield Consolidated No. 5 and No. 7. These are wells which were drilled by the Richfield Consolidated Oil company prior to the acquisition of this company by the California Petroleum.

Balboa Canoes In News Reel Paper

BALBOA ISLAND, April 22.—Don Douglas of the Canoe club has received word from his brother, Haldane Douglas, an artist of repute, who is studying in Paris, France, that the latter picked up a Paris edition of a New York newspaper from a newsstand there recently and was surprised to see his brother pictured in a canoe on Newport bay.

Roy Beck, another canoeist, went to a moving picture house in San Francisco recently and while watching a news reel, saw himself in a canoe on the bay.

It may be explained in this connection that the sport of canoe sailing is something new on the Pacific coast, although it has been popular for many years on the Atlantic shores. The pretty sails of the canoes add a finishing touch to the bay here, along with the other water craft. The sport is being fostered by Will A. Smith, resident of Balboa island.

Postmasters To Gather In Brea

BREA, April 22.—The regular meeting of the postmasters and postal clerks of Orange county is to be held in Legion hall this evening, with Mrs. Florence Mathews, losal postmistress, presiding. Dinner will be served by the members of the American Legion post, after which a short program and business session will be held. Mrs. Ella Stumbo is chairman of the dinner committee.

WHY Back Ache?

One of the most common and distressing ailments affecting the human body is backache. Of all troubles, there is none that will cause you to feel so helpless as this condition. When your back "gives out," your whole body seems to take the same course—you lose your pep, your appetite is gone, you can't sleep, you become nervous and irritable and in a short time you feel that old age is creeping in upon you. Backache may be due to many different troubles within the body. Some of the most common conditions are lumbago, kidney trouble, liver trouble, female disorders, constipation, muscular weakness and neuritis.

EXCHANGE CLUB AT NEWPORT IS GIVEN CHARTER

NEWPORT BEACH, April 22.—The Newport Beach Exchange club received its charter last night at a special charter party staged at the Newport Harbor Yacht club by the Long Beach Exchange club, sponsor of the local organization.

Lee Comber, president of the Long Beach Exchange club, presented the charter to E. B. "Dick" Whitson, president of the local club. Lawrence Collins, past president of the Long Beach Exchange club, was chairman of the evening.

Dr. Conrad Richter, president of the city board of trustees, and a member of the local club, extended greetings to visiting Exchange members from Santa Ana, Long Beach, Pasadena, Inglewood and other points.

The charter party opened with a banquet at 6:30 o'clock and ended with a dance. Musical numbers were presented by Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Briggs, of Newport Beach, and by Peavey's orchestra. The orchestra was donated by H. B. Tudor, of Balboa.

The Long Beach Exchange club provided a portion of the program, presenting instrumental and vocal selections. More than 80 members of the Long Beach club were present. Two hundred persons were in attendance at the meeting.

2 Birthdays Are Observed at Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, April 22.—Birthday greetings were showered upon Mrs. Helen Smith, of this city, last Sunday, when she celebrated her 83rd birthday anniversary. Among other who helped her celebrate the day was Mrs. R. Fenton, 83-year old friend and neighbor, who celebrated her birthday anniversary a few days ago.

Mrs. Mary Vankirk, of Aurora, Ill., who with her daughter, Mrs. George Lord, has been spending several months in Newport Beach, was pleasantly surprised by a group of friends Monday evening in observance of her 81st birthday. Those present were Mrs. Alfred Smith, Mrs. Olive Harris, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Arthur Larrabee, Mrs. Ferdinandusse, Mrs. H. K. Coffin, Miss Helen Coffin and Master Harris Mathews.

CORONA DEL MAR

CORONA DEL MAR, April 22.—Mrs. Harry Hugo and son, Victor, of Eagle Rock, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn.

Mrs. W. B. T. Campbell and daughter, Elizabeth, and son, Robert, of Pasadena, were guests of the week.

Miss May Vertree, of Los Angeles, who spent the vacation week in her cottage here, entertained Mrs. C. A. Martin at cards Wednesday evening of last week. Other guests were Mrs. George Garfield, of Costa Mesa, and Miss Florence Garfield, of Balboa.

Mrs. W. H. Carter, of Pasadena, entertained Mrs. T. L. Foley, of the Surf and Sand club, Hermosa Beach; Mrs. Alice D. Foley, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Peter MacClellan, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. K. Lyon, of Pasadena, at the Palisades club on Thursday of last week.

Dinner parties that took place at the club on Easter day were those of Dr. and Mrs. George Deacon, of Pasadena, whose guests were the Misses Charlotte, Dorothy and Eleanor Deacon and B. O. Kendall jr. Mr. and Mrs. Leo B. McGavren, of Anaheim, had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, of Anaheim. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Rea, of Los Angeles, entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Glass of Los Angeles, at dinner on that day.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Willis and others went to a point near Laguna Tuesday evening to watch the grunion come in.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Paul and family will move into the house belonging to George A. White on Narcisus avenue. They have been occupying a house in the ocean front section for the past two years.

Mrs. Leon J. Roth and children, of Los Angeles, will spend this week in the Roth cottage here.

H. L. Sherman, who has been traveling in Europe and other countries for a year or more, arrived last Friday on the steamer Los Angeles from Hawaii, and called on Antar Deraga on Saturday. He is now in Pasadena but will return to this locality soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas and family, of Los Angeles, spent the Easter vacation here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wendall are staying in their cottage here for the present.

Mrs. A. Alden and children, of Los Angeles, spent five days of last week in the Alden home on the ocean front.

Mrs. S. A. Scott attended Easter services at St. Luke's church at Long Beach on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dalzell Wilson, Mrs. Dwight Gibbs and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Byron, of Altadena, spent Tuesday at the Palisades club.

Edison To Remove Laguna Poles

LAGUNA BEACH, April 22.—Following a conference between the planning committee and officials of the Southern California Edison company, it was announced that the company's poles will be removed from Coast boulevard in the business district, as rapidly as possible. After the business district has been attended to, a plan will be worked out to remove the poles along the mile and a half of paved area on the state highway.

JAZZ MUSIC AT H. B. SUNDAY HIT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 22.—Jazz music, broadcast over the public microphones here every Sunday afternoon, is the target at which much criticism is being made, it was learned today. Several prominent business men are said to be quietly protesting the matter.

The pubic address system was purchased last summer, through C. J. Reynolds, city advertising manager, and was used extensively during the summer to broadcast radio programs and band concerts.

During the past several weeks, the microphones have been hooked up and, according to many of the business men, jazz music floats over the air on Sunday afternoons.

The objectors declare that the Salvation Army band has been refused the privilege of playing on the pier and that they see no reason why jazz should be broadcast over the loud speakers.

It is expected that the matter will be brought to the attention of city trustees for their action.

Charges Arouse New Interest In Beach Chamber

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 22—Interest in chamber of commerce activities was at a high pitch here today following statements made by J. K. McDonald, member of the board of directors.

McDonald resigned this week, giving as his reason the fact that the chamber of commerce was looked upon as a closed combination and run by one group. McDonald asked that some new person who had never before been a director be named in his place.

Other members of the board of directors agreed with McDonald and it is understood that several will offer their resignations if local merchants and property owners will get behind the organization.

Merchants in the town who have not been attending the meetings today expressed considerable interest in the chamber of commerce and intimated that they might be present at the next session.

The officials of the organization are arranging a mass meeting for the near future with the view of reorganizing the body.

New Dairy Will Operate at Mesa

COSTA MESA, April 22—Costa Mesa will soon have another dairy within its borders. The dairy barn is now under construction on Santa Ana avenue at Twenty-second street. The barn will house between 50 and 60 cows. The cost will be between $5000 and $6000. A stucco office will be built at once and later dwelling houses. Earl Patterson, of Santa Ana, and his father, of Los Angeles, are the owners.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, April 22—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Shakely, of Pittsburg, Pa., are visiting at the H. Williamson home. The Shakelys are planning on making the harbor district their home in the near future.

Mrs. Ella Huston, mother of Dr. C. G. Huston, returned this week from several months stay in Dallas, Texas.

Minna Scraep returned to U. S. C. this week after spending the past week with her mother, Mrs. R. G. Roberts.

Following a luncheon at noon, the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society met Tuesday at the church. Mrs. F. Long presided. Four girls are to be selected by an appointed committee to attend the missionary summer school to be held at Palisades during August. Mrs. E. A. Randall gave the fourth chapter of the study book, "Islam and Christianity." Mrs. H. Clark gave a resume of the recent missionary convention held in Santa Ana. It was unanimously passed that from now on this year, meetings will begin promptly at 1:30 p. m. Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. O. O. Bland.

Tuesday the usual weekly assembly was unusually interesting. Mrs. Robert Horn, of Santa Ana, gave two readings. These were given to interest the children in the coming benefit for the Junior college scholarship fund, April 26 in Santa Ana. Pearl, Minnie and George Stamp played three numbers.

Four new pupils were enrolled at the school this week. The attendance stands at about 475.

WATER LEVEL IN ANAHEIM AT HIGH MARK

ANAHEIM, April 22. — Water levels in Anaheim's underground storage basin, which have been steadily rising since the first of this year, are now the highest they have been since February, 1925, according to statement today by V. W. Hannum, superintendent of the city's municipal water and power works.

Water is now accessible at 87 feet and seven inches below the surface. In February, 1925, the water level was an even 87 feet, Hannum reports. The level then began to fall, reaching a low point of 112 1-2 feet in September, 1926, when a gradual improvement in the condition began to be shown.

Since January this year, the water has risen approximately 20 feet. It is expected that the rise will continue at least another five feet.

The heavy rains since the first of January, this year, which deposited a total of 11.84 inches in this section, are given the major share of the credit for the improved condition of the underground water supply.

With an unusually heavy snow surplus in the mountains, the water levels of the entire Santa Ana river basin should be maintained at a fairly high point throughout the coming summer months, Hannum said.

NOMINATE TUSTIN P.-T. A. OFFICERS

TUSTIN, April 22.—Nomination of officers featured the regular meeting of the local grammar school Parent-Teacher association here yesterday. Mrs. F. H. Greenwood was nominated for the presidency of the organization. Mrs. D. D. Adams and Mrs. O. A. Murray were nominated for the position of first and second vice presidents. Mrs. Roy Runnells and Mrs. Fred Newcomb were named candidates for secretary; Mrs. Roy Runnells and Mrs. Clarence Nisson were nominated for treasurer, and Mrs. H. V. Stanley and Miss Ruth Taylor were named for corresponding secretary.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, of Santa Ana, spoke on the subject of "Child Welfare." Dr. Sutherland explained the work being carried on in other states and in other sections of California and gave a brief report of the work in the Tustin district.

Girls of the eighth grade class of the grammar school presented a play "When John Was a Baby."

Elections will be held in May.

EL TORO

EL TORO, April 22.—Mrs. Louis Robinson entertained the Woman's club Wednesday at an all day meeting. Her home in Trabuco canyon was made more pleasant with many gay flowers throughout the rooms. No business was transacted on account of the absence of the president. Mrs. W. E. Adkinson will be hostess at the next meeting, which will be held at the hall Thursday, May 5. Those enjoying the day with Mrs. Robinson were Mrs. E. J. Cook and children, Mrs. John Osterman and son, John jr.; Mrs. Alf Trapp, Mrs. Dale Trapp and sons, Mrs. Jesse Jiles and son, Donald; Mrs. E. F. Cagle, Mrs. C. C. Hendricks and Ethel Mae, Mrs. D. W. Gould, Mrs. W. E. Adkinson, Mrs. George Osterman and sons and Mrs. H. E. Finster.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bennett were hosts Wednesday evening to a group of congenial friends, honoring Mrs. Oscar Hilyard, of Mojave, who is visiting friends and relatives in Santa Ana this week. Five hundred was played during the evening and when final scores were tallied it was found that Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hannaford had high score and the Misses Hilyard low. Mrs. Hilyard was given a half dozen crystal goblets by her friends. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Riehl, of Orange; Mrs. Arthur Trickey, of Irvine; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Maddux, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hannaford, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Riehl and Grover Riehl, all of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Silkwood, Misses Monta and Marry Hilyard, of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman, of El Toro.

Mrs. H. E. Hansen is still in a very critical condition in the hospital.

Miss Mae Swartz is at home for a few days with poison oak. Miss Swartz is employed at the Roy Smith home in San Juan Capistrano.

Mrs. George Osterman and children returned Tuesday evening from a vacation trip which took them as far as Oro Grande, where they visited the Stowe family. Other stops were made in Arlington, where they saw Mr. and Mrs. George Conoway and family and at Cajon, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Chandler. The return trip was made by way of Perris valley, Elsinore, Fallbrook and Oceanside. Several days were spent with Mrs. Osterman's parents in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Gockley spent the Easter vacation in Fresno with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hendrick.

Mrs. Milo Stevens is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Myron Talt, at Santa Susanna for two weeks.

GAS WELL IN ATWOOD FIELD FLOWING OIL

ATWOOD, April 22.—The Criksan's Herndon No. 1 on the Lemke property which startled nearby residents when it came in as a huge gasser Saturday morning, is still sending out 10,000,000 feet of gas a day by actual gauge. The well is also a good oil producer, making close to 300 barrels of clean oil of 21.8 degrees gravity. The Chiksan has one other well nearby, the Robertson No. 1, which made only about 50 barrels a day, and showed considerable water.

The Shell Oil company is building a rig on the Alex lease south of Placentia.

E. L. Cragen is washing perforations in the Richfield No. 1, hoping to make the well a better producer.

The Nugent well at Yorba Linda is still standing cemented.

The General Petroleum corporation has just completed a three-inch pipe line from Atwood to Athens. It is used to carry gas to Athens.

The General Petroleum has started work on Mullen No. 2, a deepening job drilled with cable tools. The rig is up for the General Petroleum's Thompson No. 10, but work will not start for several weeks, as the rotary equipment will be taken from Hugo No. 6 upon its completion and installed in Thompson No. 10.

The Union Oil company's offset to Thompson No. 10, the Stern No. 9, was spudded in last week.

The California Petroleum wells are making good progress, King 8 being down to 3100 feet, Bradford 6 at 2500 feet and Richfield Consolidated 14 down to 2710 feet.

350 Present At P.-T. A. Program

COSTA MESA, April 22—The program given Tuesday evening at the school auditorium by pupils of the Julia Lathrop junior high school under the auspices of the local P.-T. A. was well attended. About 350 persons were present.

Grow S. Brown, president of the Cost Mesa school board, gave an address of welcome.

H. G. Nelson, principal of Julia Lathrop, spoke.

Nelson introduced Harry Bradley, president of the student body, who became chairman for the evening.

The Julia Lathrop orchestra under the direction of Miss Cornell, played. Costume songs were sung by Hazel Stukey with Mrs. Besson at the piano. A duet was rendered by Grace Anderson and Helen Woodvill. Edwin Case gave a solo with Everhard Stovall as accompanist.

The Boys' Glee club of Lathrop sang. A one-act play, "Not Quite Such a Goose," was presented, with Jack Ridley, Evelyn Furtsch, Delores Mahan, Clarence Lane and Marie Fitzgerald in the cast.

ATWOOD

ATWOOD, April 22.—Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoyt, of Ontario, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Shields.

Mrs. H. F. Taylor and son, Billy, returned from Seal Beach Sunday and Betty Taylor returned from Los Angeles where she had spent the week with her aunt, Mrs. J. Gordon Boller.

Mrs. Emory Francis drove to Pasadena, Wednesday, where she will visit her parents for a few days.

Mrs. J. S. Quickerman and Mrs. Joe Mondotte spent Wednesday afternoon at La Vida Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Mauerman and children spent Sunday on an enjoyable trip to Lake Elsinore.

Mrs. William McLellan spent Monday in Riverside.

Miss Nerva Reed and Mrs. Powers of Pomona, drove to Atwood Saturday and spent the afternoon with Mrs. V. C. Barbre.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartwick and family moved from Atwood to a ranch near Brea, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Shields drove to Long Beach to see Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Morris and Mrs. Edna Francis, who has returned to Springfield, Ill., after spending the winter in California.

Mrs. T. Singer, of Los Angeles, and her son, Eugene Singer and his partner, Sam Falk, of New York, visited the J. S. Zuckerman's, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gowling spent Wednesday with their niece, Mrs. Sam Jones, at Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Adams and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Heim in Los Angeles.

J. W. Johnson, who has been ill for a week, is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Barbre and children were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGee at Montebello, Saturday evening, their daughter Adelaide returning home with them after several days visit with Mava McGee.

A merry party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gendar, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. Eichler enjoyed a pot-luck dinner at the Fellinge cottage at Balboa Wednesday evening.

Homer Delaney is back at work for the Union Oil company after a two year lay off due to injuries, chief of which was a fracture of the hip, sustained when he fell fro ma truck. He now holds the position of inspector of safety appliances.

Condition of 2 Garden Grove Boys Better

GARDEN GROVE, April 22.—The condition of James Devine, 5, and Orval Chandler, 7, of Garden Grove, who were injured Wednesday afternoon when a dynamite cap exploded in Devine's hand, was reported improved today.

The Devine boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Devine was returned home yesterday from an Anaheim hospital. According to reports several fingers on his left hand and several toes on his left foot may be saved. According to physicians there is still considerable danger that infection may set in from the powder burns.

Orval Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Chandler, was reported greatly improved at his home today. He received severe cuts and bruises and also powder burns.

HIGH SCHOOL TO BE DEDICATED SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 22.—A date for the dedication of the $500,000 high school plant, recently completed here, probably will be set May 2, when members of the school board meet for organization.

Although the school plant has been in use for some time the official dedication of the building has not yet been made.

Members of the Masonic order were in charge of a cornerstone laying ceremony when the structure was started.

The organization meeting will be held at the high school building. C. A. Johnson is president at the present time and E. R. Bradbury is secretary. R. E. Larter is the other hold over member of the board. Arthur Wilson and Joseph Vavra are the two new members on the school board.

SAN CLEMENTE

SAN CLEMENTE, April 22.—Mrs. J. R. Barry, of Los Angeles, will be the guest of her son, W. J. Barry, at their pretty home on Cabrillo and Ola Vista during the next two or three weeks.

Mrs. Ole Hanson jr. went to Los Angeles on Wednesday to attend a bridge party.

Mr. Lewis, owner of the Diamond Bar ranch, accompanied by Mr. Hopkins, manager of the ranch, were visitors in San Clemente on Wednesday.

Mrs. William Kirchner and son, William jr.; Mrs. William Watson and son, William jr., and daughters, Marion and Marlos, returned to their homes at Sierra Madre on Wednesday evening. The families came down on Monday to attend the quota banquet and dance, remaining over a day or two to enjoy the beauties of San Clemente. Messrs. Kirchner and Watson are connected with the Ole Hanson organization in the Spanish Village.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barry spent Easter Sunday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Martin Miller, of Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Rich and Mr. Hugo Carlson were among those who came to San Clemente to attend the quota dinner and dance this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Willis, of Altadena, and Mr. and Mrs. Shepard, of Los Angeles, attended the dance at the Spanish club on Monday evening.

Mrs. Thomas Murphine sr. and sister, Miss Edna Cowan, went to Los Angeles on Thursday.

John H. Perry, B. H. Canfield and A. Schultz, prominent newspapermen of New York, were interested visitors on Wednesday, viewing the Spanish club, the blooded stock and stables on the Cotton estate, seal rocks and other spots in San Clemente.

BREA PRINCIPAL HOME

BREA, April 22.—I. W. Barnett, principal of the Brea-Olinda union high school, has returned from a week spent at Sacramento, where he was in attendance at the annual meeting of principals of high schools and colleges of the state. He was accompanied by Mrs. Barnett, who was an unwilling witness to a part of the tragedy which occurred in the state building last week when a Los Angeles lobbyist killed a senate clerk and committed suicide.

MISSION PLAY AUTHOR TELLS OF EARLY DAYS

FULLERTON, April 22.—Taking his audience back 100 years ago, John Steven McGroarty, noted writer and author of the Mission Play, told of the habits and customs in early California, in his address, "California History and the Mission Play" before 200 members of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce at the membership banquet held at the Mission inn last night.

"The people of this modern age can hardly picture a type of people with such courtesy and helpfulness as the early Franciscan fathers," the speaker said. "In those days the people had time to live and appreciate nature about them and live in perfect bliss."

The author gave an account of the Spaniards of that early day, when they would be invited to homes and would always take a great number of people with them to the home where they were invited. The host would then keep the whole group as long as two weeks at a time. A certain Don Antonio Maria Lugo owned all of the land between what is now Lake Arrowhead down to Santa Monica, including Fullerton, Santa Ana and surrounding districts. He owned a large house in which he entertained guests, as many as a score at a time. With this Spanish land owner as an example, McGroarty told how sociable those early families were, always inviting travelers to visit and eat with them, permitting them to remain many days at a time.

McGroarty informed those present that the early Franciscan missionaries were responsible for our being here in California today. He added:

"If that early band of Franciscan fathers had not built the large missions throughout California, this land of California would be the land of the Russian Mongolians. These Russians had crossed into Alaska and had proceeded south to the border of northern California, where they were crowded out by the Spaniards. We would be at the border of California with our hats off asking permission to enter this state and live with the Mongolians, if the Spaniards had not developed this state.

"No men in one generation ever achieved so much as the Franciscan fathers. Without tools, without implements, with ignorant heathen Indians, these early Spaniards taught their language to Indians with 26 dialects; converted these Indians to the religion of Jesus Christ and developed the territory to a condition which was fit to live in."

The speaker then described the beautiful new playhouse at San Gabriel which cost approximately $750,000 and which was made possible by contributions. According to McGroarty this fine playhouse will remain standing many hundred years.

C. C. Chapman, close friend to McGroarty, introduced him as "one of the most charming men in California." Chapman added that no man in the country is so well qualified to speak on the history of California as John Steven McGroarty. After the address by McGroarty, Chapman appealed to those present to endeavor to set aside material things and acquire the art of imagination in order to appreciate the wonders of history, as McGroarty has done.

Fullerton Asks Fitts to Land at Municipal Airport

FULLERTON, April 22.—Buron Fitts, who will open the Valencia Orange show at Anaheim, has to make such a hurried trip from Sacramento that he will in all probability travel by airplane. As a result, the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce has invited him to land at the new airport of Fullerton. However, since the volunteer field day has not been held yet, due to rain, the board of directors have set aside a small appropriation to do part of the work on the field in order that it may be in condition, providing that the lieutenant governor lands at the port.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mother to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

SANTA ANA FRATERNAL AND PATRIOTIC ORDERS

DELEGATES TO GRAND PARLOR ARE NOMINATED

Santa Ana parlor, No. 235, Native Daughters of the Golden West, at its meeting Tuesday, in El Camino hall, nominated Mrs. Mamie Schonberg, president; Mrs. Mary Moore, first vice president; Mrs. Eunice Fox, second vice president; Mrs. Genevieve Hiskey, third vice president, and Mrs. Rose Ford and Mrs. Muriel Bray to be elected at the next meeting as delegates to grand parlor, which will convene in Modesto on June 20. The parlor is entitled to send three delegates.

Next Wednesday night, May 27, through the courtesy of Santa Ana parlor, Native Sons, the Native Daughters will sponsor a pot luck dinner in the new Getty hall. The Native Daughters will occupy the hall for its meetings beginning May 11, the meeting nights having been changed to the second and fourth Wednesdays, in order to cooperate with the Native Sons. The new hall is on the corner of East Fourth and Porter streets.

Mrs. Mary Moore will be chairman of the pot luck dinner and requests that each member furnish sandwiches for her family and one covered dish, the parlor to provide the coffee. The dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m.

The date for the Spanish dinner, which is being planned by Mrs. T. L. McFadden, will be announced at the next meeting of the parlor, when final plans will be formulated.

Decision was made to start a building fund. Money made from the quilts recently disposed of will be the nucleus and deposited in a local building and loan association. A subscription will be taken among the members for the purpose of adding to a donation made last year toward the purchase of a redwood memorial grove.

DEPUTY MATRON IS HERMOSA VISITOR

Vera Pryor Wettlin, deputy grand matron, made her official visit to Hermosa chapter Monday night, when chapter members held their regular meeting in Masonic temple.

The chapter rooms, where the work was exemplified by the officers, were decorated with lilies, iris, Cecil Bruner roses and bridal wreath.

Following the work, Mrs. Wettlin was presented with a tray to the mother-in-pearl set which is being presented her by the various chapters in the county. Mrs. Mabel C. Rowland made the presentation address. Mrs. Rowland was a worthy matron at the same time Mrs. Wettlin held that office in the Anaheim lodge.

During the serving of the two-course supper in the dining room, Eddie Thompson's nine-piece orchestra played. In the dining room the spring motif was carried out in the profusion of spring flowers and colorful paper butterflies. Mrs. Jeanette Tarpley was in charge of the decorations.

Calumpit Drill Team Will Take Part In Contest

Calumpit camp, No. 26, U. S. W. V. presented the drill team of Calumpit auxiliary, No. 39, U. S. W. V. with a substantial check in order to make it possible for the team to attend the state convention in Santa Cruz in the week of May 8. The presentation was made at Tuesday night's meeting of the auxiliary, in G. A. R. hall.

The journey to and from Santa Cruz will be made by way of stage. The team expects to make a good showing in the competitive events to be held during the week, according to Mrs. Mae Glaze, president of the auxiliary here.

It was announced that the auxiliary would hold a public card party tomorrow night beginning at 8 o'clock, in G. A. R. hall.

Preceding Tuesday night's meeting the drill team met for an hour's practice in order to perfect the work for the coming convention contest. Another drill practice will be held at 7 o'clock tonight. Anyone interested may attend.

Spanish War Vets To Attend Picnic

Members of the United Spanish War Veterans of this city are looking forward to the picnic to be held Sunday in Municipal park, Huntington Park, under the sponsorship of the Citrus Belt club, whose membership is composed of Spanish war veterans. Sunday afternoon the picnickers will attend the dedication of a patriotic hall, recently completed in Huntington Park.

RICHARD S. WITTE

NEIGHBORS OF WOODCRAFT TO GO ON JUNKET

Neighbors of Woodcraft, meeting Monday night in M.W.A., hall for their regular business meeting and social, completed plans for a trip to Riverside Sunday. It was announced that those desiring to make the trip must be at the hall by 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Those having extra room in their cars have been asked to take members unable to provide their own transportation.

The program included songs by Clarence Ridenour, accompanied by Miss Dorothea McCune, Ralph McCune, who was also accompanied by Miss McCune, and Miss Gladys Gross, whose accompanist was Mrs. Grace Gross, and a number of musical selections by Clyde Holland's Hawaiian quartet.

The entertainment committee included Miss Dorothea McCune, Miss Florence Erickson, Miss Juanita Ahrens.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Sarah House, Mrs. Lois Limbaugh, and Mrs. Emma Jemison.

Tuesday night the Neighbors of Woodcraft Thimble club met at the home of Mrs. Marie Sanford. The evening was spent in music and conversation. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

It was announced that the club would not meet at the home of Mrs. Jemison for their next meeting, as had been previously stated, but that a meeting place would be named later.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS HONORED BY SONS

The dancing and card party given Wednesday night by the Native Sons of the Golden West in the new Getty hall in honor of the Native Daughters was well attended and was a delightful affair.

The wives of the members had assisted them in decorating the hall attractively in feathery acacia and other flowers and also in serving punch.

The orchestra pleased the merrymakers with excellent music and the fine floor of the new meeting place was greatly enjoyed by the dancers.

Card tables were set in the dining room, where bridge and 500 were played, the prizes going to Miss Ruth Hayhurst and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Westgate for bridge and Mrs. Glen Wells and Fred Marsile for 500.

The Native Daughters will entertain the Sons next Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock with a pot luck dinner in Getty hall.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use. —Adv.

S. A. PYTHIANS TO COMPETE IN MEMBER DRIVE

April and May will be the most active months of the year for Santa Ana lodge, No. 149, Knights of Pythias, according to plans announced by Chancellor Commander J. A. Gajeski.

Under a recent proclamation, issued by Supreme Chancellor Richard S. White, Wilwaukee, Wis., the lodge will continue its reclamation of suspended members through April. At the same time a drive will be conducted for a class of candidates to be initiated in May as a tribute to the supreme chancellor. Both lodge committees are actively conducting the drive and when the class is initiated in May, officers of the lodge expect to have increased the membership more than 10 per cent.

Officers of the lodge are working to win one of the several hundred prizes to be given by the supreme lodge to subordinate organizations making the largest number of reinstatements. Prizes to be given include silk flags, valued at $5 to $100; Pythian banners, of the same value; stereopticons, for use in initiation, and a varied selection of robes for officers and members of the initiation team, some of which are valued at from $200 to $400. Besides prize awards to lodges for massed results, the supreme lodge will distribute a number of awards to individual members for personal effort. More than 120 prizes will be awarded individual members, ranging from histories of the order to diamond rings.

Santa Ana lodge is moving into its new quarters, at Fifth and Broadway, this week, and expects to hold the first meeting there Wednesday, April 27, when the lodge will be host to district council No. 31, in its regular monthly convention.

Daughters Will Send Delegates To Convention

Arrangements were made for the sending of delegates from Santa Ana camp, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, to the annual encampment to be held in Santa Cruz, May 15 to May 20, at last Tuesday's meeting of the local camp.

Applications made by Mrs. Lydia Fitts and Mrs. Littlejohn for membership were accepted.

It was reported that 13 funeral bouquets had been sent, 16 bouquets to members who were ill and 26 calls had been made.

A committee to be in charge of the pot luck supper to be given Monday night, in G. A. R. hall, for Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans, was named. The committee includes Mrs. Groat, chairman; Miss Minnie Cowan and Miss Bertha Belt.

It was voted to send a fund to the memorial home in Sawtelle.

Masons to Visit Valley of Moon

Santa Ana members of the Masonic club of the Valley of the Moon are looking forward with interest to Saturday, April 30, at which time they will go to the Valley of the Moon for the week end. Saturday night there will be a dance, for which Bonnie Sutherland's orchestra will play. For those who do not care about dancing there will be special entertainment.

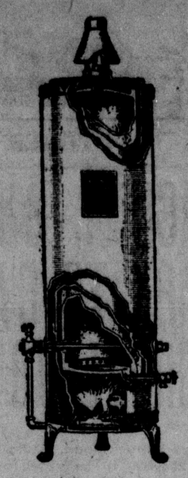

Sunday morning the men will go trout fishing.

Those who will attend the week-end party from Santa Ana include Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gritton, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Preble, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Dobyns, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kloess, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ashford, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blacketer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Speed, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wallace, and Mr. and Mrs. Hestro Collins.

Brotherhood to Conduct Dance

The Fraternal Brotherhood will give a benefit dance for its members and their friends on Friday night, April 22, in El Camino hall and on the Friday night following, April 29, there will be a box social in the hall, the members to be dressed in "tacky" costumes. Ladies are asked to take well-filled boxes of lunch.

PRESENT DAY CONDITIONS OF SOVIET RUSSIA ARE TOLD IN ADDRESS BEFORE LIONS CLUB

An unique presentment, from the point of view of an American resident in the country, of present day conditions in Soviet Russia was contained in an address, delivered yesterday before the Santa Ana Lions club, by Harry D. Anderson, until recently physical director for the Y. M. C. A. in the Soviet republic.

Because of the prominence of the speaker as well as the general interest attached to the subject, the meeting in charge of Harold Yost, registered a record attendance, including a large number of visiting Lions and guests.

Reminiscences, anecdotes, pictures of notables and curious people and shrewd observations upon affairs of the Communistic enterprise were interwoven in the address, which was largely devoted to a brief description of political, religious, economic and social conditions under the Bolshevist regime.

Anderson went to Russia in the spring of 1924. Following a stay of two years and half, in the course of which he served as physical director in various colleges in Moscow, he was ordered out of the country by the Tcheka, or the Soviet political police.

Democratic In Theory

Touching upon the organization and administration of the Soviet state, the visitor said that the word "Soviet" means council and the theory of government is a government by council, with the legislative, executive and judicial functions being administered by one group. In this manner, it reminds the observer of the old New England town meetings. While democratic in theory, in practice it is something altogether different, the speaker declared.

Anderson went on to say that the central federation of Soviet republics is the largest government unit and comprises six allied republics: Great Russia, with Moscow as its capital; Ukraine, with Kharkov; White Russia, with Minsk; Trans-Caucasia, with Tiflis; Uzteck, with Samarkhand, and Turkmen, with Askabad. There are further govmental divisions of the 10 autonomous republics and 12 autonomous territories.

The central government, the "Y" official explained, functions through a yearly congress of Soviets, with 1500 delegates, which, for purposes of ease in operations, delegates legislative and administrative powers to a central executive committee, which, in turn, delegates its powers to a presidium of that committee, corresponding very aptly to the president's cabinet in the United States.

The judiciary, he added, is definitely a political organ; trial by jury being unknown. The trial court consists of three judges, selected by the Soviet.

Police Abuse Is Curse

Police abuse is one of the curses of the country, the speaker asserted, adding that the G. P. U., or political police, which is the new name for the Tcheka of terror fame, function in every phase of governmental and private life. Because of its powers over life and liberty, it practically is a law unto itself and consequently the most feared organization in Russia.

The Red army, as the Soviet military forces are called, is a standing force of 650,000 men, the speaker told his listeners.

Turning to social conditions, he said that all governmental centers, particularly Moscow, have suffered materially from over-crowding. This over-crowding has resulted in allocating of living space of seven by seven feet for the ordinary family. This crowding is resulting in breakup of the home and other difficulties.

The speaker called attention to the fact that the difficulty encountered by the male member of the family to earn sufficient for the support of his family, has forced many women into gainful occupations, where they are accepted upon the same conditions of equal pay for equal work with men.

Boys and Girls Organize

Fraught with serious consequences to the rest of the world, the speaker asserted, is the organization of boys' and girls' Communistic societies. There are more than two million organized members of these association, he added. In activities, the program of these societies corresponds largely to that of boys' groups in the Y. M. C. A. and the Boy Scouts, with the difference lying in Communistic training in theory and practice and anti-religious instruction, the speaker said.

Divorce, although not extremely prevalent, is one of Russia's problems, the visitor asserted. There are two groups in the Communist party, one which might be termed "free love" group and which proposes to do away with strict marriage laws and enlarge the scope of divorce bills; the other might be called the family group and is headed by such strong leaders as the widow of Lenin, who maintains that the family unit is a necessary element in Communistic life.

Soviet newspapers are edited by the Communist party or members of that organization. They are much more serious in tone than American papers. They are looked upon as educational material by the Soviet government.

In closing, the "Y" official declared that the Soviet regime gives evidence of strength equal to any government in Europe. There are no serious indications that it will not continue for a long time to come.

Six Major Problems

However, there are six major problems now facing the Bolshevist leaders, the solution of which is necessary. They are the securing of governmental credit in a large foreign loan; the continuance of one party dictatorship and the presentation of a solid party front within the country; the necessity of raising a second generation of devoted, self-sacrificing Communist leaders; elimination of graft in public office; establishment of contact with other countries, and ways and means for securing the willing support and co-operation of the peasants in the Communist enterprise.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS TALK AT Y. M. C. A.

Harry D. Anderson, internationally known Y. M. C. A. worker, until recently stationed in Russia, from which country he was summarily deported last October, last night addressed a capacity audience at the Y. M. C. A. "Present Day Conditions in Russia Under the Soviet Regime" was the topic of his talk. Earlier in the day he had addressed the students of the high school and the junior college and later on the members of the Santa Ana Lions club.

Painting a vivid picture of the Soviet republic in its varied manifestations, Anderson said that a new civilization, based on new economic principles, is being developed in that country. He also added that the Soviet Communist movement, while localized in practice to Russia, is international in character with the ultimate aim to bring the entire world under its dominion. The Third International, whose headquarters is located in Moscow and supported by the Soviet government, is the recognized agency for spreading propaganda to that end, the speaker declared.

Touching upon the events that led up to the Russian revolution, the speaker said that the Czarist regime broke down under stress of a dissatisfied population combined with the waging of what was then an unsuccessful world war.

Continuing, he said:

In Power Short Time

"The Kerensky group of social democrats took power in February, 1917, in what was known as the February revolution. This party attempted to carry on a government which was in effect a compromise between capitalism and socialism, but remained in power only until the October revolution of the same year which was known as the Bolshevik revolution, and resulted in placing in power the Bolshevik party, or as it has since been called, the Communistic party, which still controls Russian governmental affairs.

"Then followed a period of absolute military Communism, carried on under the difficult conditions of civil war, national famine and the economic blockade. The period of military Communism was the nearest approach in social and political experimentation that has been made toward a state of Marxian Communism. It was such a complete failure that Lenin, the master mind of the revolution, put into effect in 1921 a central government edict in new economic policies which permitted private trade in minor economic activities and resulted in a revival of business life. Since that time there has been an increase of economic activities of 56 per cent, in comparison to the period of military Communism. However, in practically all major industries pre-war level has not yet been reached."

Turning to the economic situation, the visitor went on:

Country Being Divided

"There is a government planning commission, which is attempting the novel experiment of dividing the country into geographical, political and economic units, making one correspond to the other.

"The state has a complete monopoly of foreign trade and a controlling power in internal trade as well. All banks are government banks. Russian currency has remained internally stable since the introduction of the new economic policy. It is not quoted on the foreign money market hence has never been subjected to international banking laws.

"The present policy is one of curtailment of expenses to meet budget possibilities. The central government budget in 1925 was two and a half billion rubles, or approximately one and a half billion dollars. This does not take into consideration the sums expended by the various autonomous republics. One half of this budget is derived by direct taxation and one half from governmental profits in business. The re-introduction of 40 per cent vodka is yielding an appreciable amount of governmental revue. There have been six governmental internal loans bearing six per cent interest to date. These always have been readily subscribed.

Over Million Members

"The Communist party, which is the only party and therefore the ruling party in Russia, numbers over a million members and candidates. There is a weekly meeting of this party, at which attendance is compulsory and upon which evening no pleasureable events are permitted in the cities and country.

"'Lenin Corners' is an attempt still being carried on to translate the emotional appeal of religion into a similar appeal for Leninism. Shrines containing pictures and stories of Lenin's life are established, at which emotional programs are held.

"All workers in Russia are union members. There are 24 industrial unions. These unions enter into labor contracts with the employer whether he be a government employer or private employer. These contracts are calculated to protect the worker and the sums secured by the unions as contract payments are used for educational and cultural activities for their members.

"In social legislation, Soviet Russia ranks easily second in Europe today, there being a most thorough program of social welfare. The Soviet citizen, if he be a worker, has the right to vote, his vote being for a slate of candidates and by acclaim. It is significant to note that in the states farthest removed from the center of government the majority of the members of the Soviet are likely to be non-Communists, but the nearer one approaches the government center the more Communists appear as members of these councils, until when one reaches the center of authority all members of the council are Communists.

"Despite the fact that the Soviet citizen has been forced into a new and radical situation he still is possessed of the capacity to enjoy life. Being an emotional Slav he enjoys demonstrations, parades and holidays which the calendar provides him with requency.

13 Political Holidays

"There are 13 political holidays in a year, besides many religious ones.

"Social dancing, as we know it, is not permitted in Soviet Russia, it being considered bourgois and apt to take the mind of the worker off the serious problem of the day. Russia is, however, still the home of the world's best in ballet.

"Practically all of the summer homes of the former wealthy people and nobles have been taken over by governmental group and used for summer rest homes for workers. Every employed worker is given an opportunity to spend from two to six weeks in delightful restful surroundings each summer. Educational excursions are conducted by the department of education, enabling the average person to see much of his country at little or no cost. Soviet education is radically different from western education. Liberal arts, as we know them, are not included in this educational theory, the stress being put upon professional training.

"All palaces and homes of former nobles or wealthy people which have historical value or definite artistic merit have been preserved by the department of education of the Soviets and are now opened as museums and galleries to the general public. The treasures, which have been confiscated by the Bolsheviks, thus are on display for all to see. This is one of the definitely "good" things that the Bolshevik regime has accomplished.

"The large cities of Russia present cultural opportunities comparable to those offered by any large city in any country, exceeding, perhaps, in content those of most. The Moscow opera has lost much in voice, but still is possessed of the best orchestra in Europe. The great leaderless symphony orchestra is worthy of mention.

Fine Dramatic Groups

The drama is headed by the Moscow Art theater, whose players made such a triumphant visit to America two years ago. The Jewish theater Gabina, now on tour in America, perhaps is the finest Jewish dramatic group to be found anywhere.

"Movies are much indulged in, the films which are most popular being, naturally, American.

"In literature Soviet Russia still is living on her past, nothing new of special merit having come of this revolutionary period.

"The state religion has gone in Soviet Russia, the church now being independent of the state. The Greek Orthodox church is still the dominant religious organization and is a fundamental institution in the life of the people, who are serious and fervent in their belief."

Santa Ana Sciots To Help Institute Beach City Lodge

Arrangements for the institution of a new Sciot lodge in Santa Monica Saturday night have been completed, according to Santa Ana Sciots, who expect to play a prominent part in the institution of the new lodge. Pharaoh James Lynch, of Long Beach, will be in charge of the ceremonies.

Two Pickwick stages have been chartered to carry Santa Anans to Santa Monica. Those desiring to go are requested to be at the Radio Den, Third street and Broadway, by 6:15 tomorrow night.

Sciot bands from Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Pasadena and Long Beach will be present and will aid in the special entertainment for the occasion.

Santa Ana lodge of Sciots will meet Wednesday night, at which time C. E. Walker, chairman of the theater party committee, will give a report regarding the entertainment he has procured for the Sciot theater party to be held May 20.

Of course you need BRAN—

Present day living and the eating of soft, refined foods make some form of "roughage" necessary—to regulate the system and to keep it healthy and clear.

Here's the natural way to get it—

Shredded Wheat supplies this "roughage" in the form that Nature intended, and in just the right proportion. For Shredded Wheat is simply whole wheat—nothing added, nothing taken away—all the food elements for energy and strength, and all the bran of the whole wheat grain—a perfectly balanced diet in a single appetizing dish.

Try it yourself tomorrow. Just crisp a biscuit or two in the oven. Eat it with milk or cream and sugar—or topped with fruits or preserves—you'll find it a delicious breakfast, satisfying and healthful.

DA. PAUL IVEY WILL ADDRESS BIG AUDIENCE

With nearly 100 reservations already made, indications today were that twice that number of members of the Chamber of Commerce and townspeople will hear Dr. Paul Ivey, noted sales expert speak under the auspices of the junior division of the chamber Monday evening at St. Ann's inn, Bruce Switzler, chairman of the committee in charge of the evening's program said.

Reservations for a large number of employes engaged in selling have been made by several large Santa Ana firms, Switzler said. Dr. Ivey, noted lecturer on selling and author of several widely used books on the subject, is said to be very dynamic and forceful in his address on salesmanship. He is in Southern California under the auspices of the extension division of the state university. Dr. Ivey is employed regularly as a member of the faculty of Northwestern university.

Reservations may be made at the offices of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. All men and women of the city interested in salesmanship have been invited to be present at the meeting, which is to begin with dinner served at 6:30 o'clock.

BALBOA

BALBOA, April 22.—The street lights that cross Main street in Balboa at intervals from the pavilion to the ocean front were lighted for the first time on Saturday night and made a marked improvement to the lighting of the street.

Among the visitors to Balboa peninsula last week were Mr. and Mrs. McKay, of Pasadena; John Lankershim, of the Lankershim hotel, Los Angeles, and Judge Visel, of Pasadena, all of whom own homes in this district. Most of them spent the vacation week here. Chester Wallace Brown and family, of Los Angeles, and Alfonso Bell and family, of Bellaire, also were here for the week. Mr. Brown is president of the Union Oil company and Mr. Bell is also a well known oil man. Both of these men have handsome homes on the peninsula.

Recent birthday anniversaries in the Garfield family were those of George Garfield, of Costa Mesa, and Miss Florence Garfield, of Balboa. That of the former was celebrated at the home of George Garfield on the ninth of April, and that of the latter at the home of A. J. Garfield at Balboa April 14. The two homes were beautifully decorated for these happy events at which only members of the Garfield family were present. Members of the family from Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Corona del Mar assembled for these two occasions.

The birthdays of Dr. W. H. Johnston, of Los Angeles, and B. G. Patterson, of Balboa, were celebrated April 15. A birthday dinner of fried chicken was served in their honor at Aunt Pat's cafeteria on the evening of that day. Others present were Mrs. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Reber, Mrs. B. G. Patterson and Mrs. L. E. Burwell. Mrs. Reber is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Johnston.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson, who has been ill, is recovering.

William Elkins is preparing to install a Duco air spray to his sign painting equipment in his shop on Bay avenue and enlarging the scope of his work. He has purchased a work car for use outside this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Patterson and son returned Friday from a motoring trip to Death valley, visiting Beatty, Nevada. Stovepipe Wells and Furnace Creek ranch during their four-day absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Perkins, now of Glendale, visited former Williston, North Dakota, friends here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Elkins motored to Camp Baldy on Easter day.

Morgan M. Leonard arrived on the steamer City of Los Angeles from Hawaii last week, and will be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leonard, for a time. He has been making regular trips on the vessel in the capacity of printer.

Mrs. William Elkins has received the announcement of the marriage of her son, Oakley Cloud, to Miss Anne Malmgren, at Port Washington, L. I., New York, which took place April 2. A short time previous to receiving this news, she learned of the death of her stepmother, Mrs. Walter Martin, at Indianapolis.

Mrs. Mora Higley, of the Blue Lantern, left last Monday for Williston, North Dakota, her former home, expecting to be absent about six weeks. She will get her affairs there in shaps so as to return here to live.

R. Burwell, who has been with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Burwell, for some time, has gone to Calexico, where he has a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Molz, of Glendale, visited Mrs. Molz's sister, Mrs. Anna Manifold, on Sunday.

Ed Morris had a visit from a long-time friend, Harold Windsor, of San Diego, on Sunday. Mrs. Morris' sister, Mrs. Jean Langseth, of Santa Ana, also was a Sunday visitor to the Morris home.

Sam Stieffel has completed four new buildings to his group of bungalettes on the ocean front.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bradley, of Hollywood, and Miss Nelle Herring, of Canada, have come to Balboa to spend the summer in the Bradley cottage on Bay avenue. John and Katrina Bradley, son and daughter, will join them later in the season.

H. Burwell, who has been ill for several weeks, is much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. V. Patterson and children went to Bakersfield Monday for a two-day trip to see the wonderful display of wild flowers in that region.

Factory Workers Showing Signs of Religious Revival

RIGA, April 22.—Signs of a religious revival among factory workers in Soviet Russia are being anxiously recorded by the Krasnaia Gazeta, which means that a new church has been built with the aid of the workers at the large textile factory known as "the Communist Vanguard," in the province of Vladimir, which employs 7000 men. Another church has been built at the "Red October" factory belonging to the Penza Cloth Trust, which has 2000 workers.

At the "Red October" factory a special body of collectors was formed in the different guilds to collect contributions for the erection of the church, and on each payday they collected all the small change from the workers, which soon amounted to 18,000 roubles ($9000).

The new churches are erected alongside the old ones, which had been closed and converted into clubs or cinemas. "All this," adds the Krasnaia Gazeta, "is taking place not in out-of-the-way corners, but in the principal industrial centers under our very eyes."

NEW CRUISER IS ADDED TO GERMAN FLEET

BERLIN, April 22.—The new German cruiser Konigsberg, the third to bear this name, was launched at Wilhelmshaven yesterday in the presence of the Prussian premier and a number of high officials.

The new Konigsberg is a vessel of 6000 tons, the highest tonnage permitted for cruisers under the treaty of Versailles. Her armament consists of nine 15-centimeter guns. She is to be commissioned in the summer of 1928.

The launch of the new Konigsberg is another indication of the steady progress that is being made with the modernization of the German fleet. Under the Versailles treaty warships for replacement purposes can be built up to a displacement of 10,000 tons for armored ships, 6000 tons for cruisers, 800 tons for destroyers and 200 tons for torpedo boats.

No armored ships have yet been put in hand, but there is a cruiser program of five vessels well forward. The first ship, the Emden, was completed several months ago, and is now engaged on a long cruise, in the course of which she recently visited the Cape. The second ship, the Karlsruhe, was laid down in 1925, and is now afloat, and during 1926 two more vessels were laid down, of which the Konigsberg is the first. A fifth ship, "E," is projected.

The war Konigsberg was a vessel of 3350 tons, launched at Kiel in 1906 and completed a year later. Operating in the Indian ocean, she captured the steamship City of Winchester, and, turning up unexpectedly at Zanzibar, destroyed the smaller cruiser Pegasus.

Soon afterward she was forced to take refuge in the Rufigi river, German East Africa, and after being blockaded there for some months was eventually destroyed by the shallow draught monitors Mersey and Severn in May, 1915. The Germans passed on her name to a new cruiser of 5300 tons, which served in the North sea in 1917 at the action of November 17. Surrendered after the Armistice, this vessel was ceded to France, and now serves as the Metz in the French fleet.

JAIL SWINDLER FOR FRAUD ON STOCK BROKERS

NEW YORK, April 21.—A young man, living in a furnished room in a Pittsburgh suburb with no business assistance behind him save that of a clerk in a department store, outfigured Wall street, without expense to himself and lived for nearly two years on the proceeds.

This was revealed when William M. Gray, of 220 Winston street, Hazelwood, Pittsburgh, was gathered in by post office inspectors. News of the arrest was contained in a telegram to W. P. Collis, manager of the Better Business bureau here.

Gray's novel scheme was simplicity itself. He played the markets. When he won he accepted the velvet. When he lost he paid no attention to letters from his brokers. The only explanation of how he managed to get away with his operations is that a Wall street broker is the last man in the world to care to admit that a total stranger had taken him in.

Gray's letters were all alike. He would write a brokerage firm and direct that so many shares of such and such stock be bought for his account and that inasmuch as this was a new account he would remit promptly upon receipt of a statement. Should he note a decent rise in that particular stock by the time the statement reached him, he would wire in to close the account and then wait for his broker's check for the difference. If the stock dropped he simply treated statements and letters from brokers with silent contempt.

How extensive were his operations probably never will be known, but the Better Business bureau does have evidence of his having taken in firms of Philadelphia and Cleveland besides those of New York. Several firms now hold money to his credit and don't know what to do about it.

BALBOA ISLAND

BALBOA ISLAND, April 22.—Frank Matthews, who has been quite ill, is reported some better.

Professor Frank Brackett, of Pomona college, is having an addition built to his cottage in the western section of the island.

Roy Beck and bride, of Los Angeles, were Sunday visitors to the island.

Mrs. J. D. Alexson, of Los Angeles, spent the past week in their island home. Mr. Axelson, who has been in St. Louis for some time, returned this week. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were guests in the Axelson home the past week. Mrs. Smith is a sister of Mrs. Axelson.

David Beidler, of Los Angeles, is having an extensive addition made to his home, including a billiard room and several other features.

Mrs. Laura James and son, William; Mrs. J. T. Lewis, of Laguna Beach, and Mrs. Stella Smith, of Marshfield, Ore., were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wharton Sunday. Mrs. James is the mother of Mrs. Wharton.

Mrs. Irving Wardman and children, of Downey, spent last week in the Vandenburgh cottage.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cunningham and sons, of Los Angeles, occupied "Goodfellowship" all of last week. Dr. Goodfellow and little son, Billy, of Los Angeles, were visitors here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Hayden were agreeably surprised by a visit from Mr. Hayden's mother and his brother, who took advantage of the Easter vacation to come here from Berkeley, where the latter is attending U. of C.

Mrs. Rose Irwin, who has been living on Channel isle for a year or more, has gone to Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith, of Pasadena, have been spending considerable time in the cottage recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Longenecker.

Mrs. Harry Fellinge left Wednesday of this week for her home in Fullerton. The Fellinges have been here the past week making improvements on their cottage on the canal.

H. C. Gilson, of Glendale, is making improvements in his cottage on Amethyst avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John DeLand, of Pico, and Mr. and Mrs. Harman, of Monterey Park, entertained a party of young people in the De Land cottage on Marine avenue over the week-end.

MANY TO TAKE U.S. TEST FOR DRY POSITIONS

At least 20 Santa Anans and residents of Orange county are expected to take civil service examinations here next month for positions in the government bureau of prohibition, according to Martin Warren, Santa Ana post office clerk, who is daily receiving inquiries regarding the tests.

A definite date for the examination has not been set but it will be given sometime after May 10, Warren said.

A total of 2500 positions will be open in the bureau of prohibition and examinations will be held throughout the United States. The jobs pay from $1140 to $6000 a year. Most of them do not require previous experience.

One of the positions open is that of chief of the field division which will pay $6000 annually. The government also wants 5 prohibition zone inspectors at $5200 a year and 48 assistant prohibition administrators, 24 for enforcement work and 24 for permissive work who will receive from $3300 to $5200.

Fifty men are wanted as prohibition agents at from $3000 to $4600 a year; 109 are needed as investigators at $3000; 53 as junior investigators at $3000; 228 as prohibition agents at $2400; 1260 as junior prohibition agents at $1860; and 102 as warehouse watchmen at from $1140 to $1800.

Tomorrow at 9 a. m. the government will conduct examinations at the Frances E. Willard junior high school for men who want to be railway mail clerks. Eighteen have applied for the examination, Warren said. This number may be increased before time for the tests.

Prize Offered for Homeliest Citizen

PARIS, April 22.—A prize for ugliness is to be awarded by the Montparnasse group of artists and literary gentry as a counter-irritant to the beauty contests that begin to tire the public.

The race for the ugly title is a revival of a contest years ago of the brilliant group of "Black Cat" cabaret artists, singers and writers. Georges Ohnet, the novelist, Franciscque Sarcey, the dean of French dramatic critic; Julyes Grevy, President of the republic at that time, and other notables were the winners.

"Beauty fades but ugliness remains," was the slogan of the speakers at the elaborate ceremony of awards. Aesop, Cicero and Socrates were pictured as the most famous of unhandsome people.

CADMAN AND MURRAY PLEASE LARGEST CROWD ATTENDING CONCERT ON P.-T. A. COURSE

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

Some idea of the popularity of Charles Wakefield Cadman in Santa Ana, may be gained from the fact that his program last night as a feature of the P.-T. A. concert course, attracted the largest crowd that has yet assembled at the high school auditorium for the events.

Even at that, there were seats that should have been filled for such an attraction as the distinguished composer-pianist and his talented companion, James Murray, whose rich baritone voice was heard in a succession of Cadman songs. At the afternoon recital, there was a pleasing attendance of young people, gathered from the various schools of the city to enjoy the program presented by Mr. Cadman and James Forstner, another talented and delightful soloist.

Introduced last night by Mrs. Fay Spangler, president of the City P.-T. A. federation, the two artists opened the program with the one number of the evening that was not written by Mr. Cadman. This was "The Evening Star" from Tannhauser, which was followed by the spirited "March" whose robust rhythms were in pronounced contrast to the dreamy, melidic theme of "Evening Star."

Each group, whether piano or voice, was preceded by a brief but charming explanation of the numbers and their themes by the composer, as for instance in his first group of piano solos, he explained the Navajo theme of "To a Vanishing Race" and also told of the interesting copception of "Dance of the Basket Makers," first arranged as an orchestral number to meet the requirements of a Spanish dance for Ted Shawn. "Romance in G" completed this group, to which a love song in Mr. Cadman's earlier manner, gave interesting contrast as an encore.

A graceful "Love Song," the request number of "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water" and "The Builder" comprised Mr. Murray's second group, a group which splendidly exemplified the range and powers of his voice. In announcing the group, Mr. Cadman explained that the words of "The Builder" had been written by Jomes Foley, Pasadena's noted poet of the people. It was exceptionally strong in both words and setting.

In response to the appreciation of the audience, the two artists gave that well-loved song, "At Dawning" as an encore number.

"Across the Desert's Dusty Face," strangely oriental in its theme, and eloquent, as its composed intended, of Arabian desert wastes, camel caravans and dancing slave girls, was followed by the graceful fragility of "The Pompadour's Fan" which had its inspiration in an Austin Dobson poem. As an encore number, Mr. Cadman gave the strangely accented heythms of "The Wolf Dance" from his "Thunderbird Suite."

"My Desire," and "Sons of Men" with "My Gift to You" as an encore formed Mr. Murray's final group, while the evening's program was completed by Mr. Cadman's "Legend of the Plains" and what he declared has been denoted as "glorified jazz" his "To a Comedian."

Charles Wakefield Cadman is living rebuttal of the old adage, "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country," for here in the southwest, his home, he is revered and honored as the country's leading composer, and one to whom honors come as his due while he is living to enjoy and appreciate them. His ability as a composer is only equalled by his art in presenting those compositions, and last night's program was one of the most delightful he has ever given here. James Murray contributed very materially to the success of the evening, and his career will be watched with added interest by those who had the pleasure of hearing him. James Forstner gave quite as happy a tendering of the favorite songs in the afternoon, and will be warmly greeted upon any future return to the city.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, April 22.—The April meeting of the Wintersburg Methodist Missionary society was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. Ray Moore.

The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Eva Beem, while Mrs. Lillie Shafer Moore took charge of the devotional exercises, and Mrs. J. R. Carpenter, of the program. Mrs. Lawrence Worthy, of Huntington Beach, and Mrs. J. P. Ranney each pleased with two solos. Mrs. J. W. McIntosh gave an interesting reading, while Velma Wentzel, accompanied at the piano by Norma Buck, gave a musical reading.

Refreshments were served toward the close of the afternoon to Mrs. J. P. Ranney, Mrs. Lawrence Worthy, Mrs. J. Hurst, Mrs. Eva Beem, Mrs. J. R. Carpenter, Mrs. Lillie Shafer Moore, Mrs. Sherman Buck, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. A. Stefanzzi, Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. W. F. Slater, Mrs. R. A. Shostag, Mrs. Peavey, Mrs. J. W. McIntosh, Mrs. Horace Moore, Mrs. John Murdy, jr., Mrs. Turner, Mrs. G. M. Roberson, Mrs. Albert Ruoff, Mrs. Harry Woodington, Mrs. L. E. Barry, Mrs. Mary E. Clemens, Mrs. William McGuire, Mrs. Simeon TenEyck, Mrs. Clarence Breeding, Mrs. J. W. Young, Mrs. Stein, Miss Lydia Moore, Mrs. H. Moore.

Mrs. Elmer Gothard, Miss Velma Wentzel, Miss Norma Buck, Miss Chita Ortega, the hostess, Mrs. E. Ray Moore and daughter, Miss Muriel Moore.

An all-day meeting with Mrs. J. Scott Willmarth, wife of a former pastor of the local church, is planned for May by the members, who will take with them a pot-luck dinner and motor to the Willmarth home at Zelva.

The home of Mrs. Lillie Shafer Moore will be the meeting place for the Bible study class on next Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. George Gothard, Mrs. W. P. Treece, Mrs. Jean Jenkins, Mrs. M. C. Hazard, Mrs. Doyle, Mrs. Hurt and Mrs. Eva Hicks were among Mooseheart women who attended the lodge meeting at Huntington Beach Wednesday evening, and at which Mrs. Hicks made the presentation of a gift for the lodge to Mrs. Wooley, the Senior Regent, who was the honor guest of the evening. Later in the evening husbands joined the women for the refreshment hour. Reports by Wintersburg members showed that 50 tickets to the Junior Mooseheart supper, which is to be held on the evening of April 27, have been sold in this community. Mrs. Iva Hazard, of this place, governess for the Juniors, is donating the chickens, two dozen in all, for the supper, and Mrs. George Gothard, also of this place, will cook them.

Meeting for the day at the home of Mrs. Ed. Woods, the members of the Willing Workers' society Wednesday afternoon completed two quilts. At the business session it was voted to pay a month's milk bill for a baby known to society members, and the next meeting place was set for the home of Mrs. Arthur Jones, one of Willing Workers members who resides at Bolsa.

The greater part of the afternoon was spent in a pleasant social manner and the hostess served the following women with tempting refreshments: Mrs. Frank Spears, Mrs. George Hickman, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Mark Hodgins, Mrs. Mills Cowling, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. Pysden, Mrs. Harriette Dowty, Mrs. Sargent, Mrs. Frank Ingersoll and Mrs. Milan, a visitor from Huntington Beach.

Mrs. E. M. Fox accompanied her sister, Mrs. George Wardwell, of Huntington Beach, to LaVergne Wednesday, where they visited their sister, Mrs. Charles Overholtzer.

William T. Curtis, whose death occurred Tuesday, is a former Wintersburg resident, having lived here a number of years, and was a brother of Mrs. Chris Nelson and Wesley Curtis, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Raines are now located in their home in the Blaylock tract, having moved here upon the sale of their ranch at Escondido.

Mrs. J. W. McIntosh had as her dinner guests on Thursday: Mrs. C. L. May and Mrs. May's mother, Mrs. McGee, now of Huntington Beach, and recently of the state of Nevada. In the afternoon Mrs. McIntosh took her guests for a drive through Orange county.

Miss Dalman and Miss Herring, both former teachers in the Oceanview school three years ago, were in Wintersburg the first of the week visiting former pupils. Miss Dalman is now a teacher in the Los Angeles schools while Miss Herring teaches in Santa Ana.

Pupils of the Oceanview school are preparing for a track meet, which is scheduled to be held on the Ocean view athletic field on April 29. Four schools are participating: Oceanview, Westminster, Fountain Valley and Seal Beach.

The Misses McCormack, who have been visiting in Los Angeles, have returned to the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCormack.

Prof. and Mrs. J. P. Ranney and three children motored to Los Angeles one day this week.

SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES, April 22.—The Bible study on last Tuesday was well attended, 27 persons being there. Mr. Basting led the meeting. The subject was "The Book of Romans." Mr. Glazner made a short talk. Cake and chocolate were served during the social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Glazner left Wednesday morning for their new home in Arlington, Ariz.

Miss Mae Oringderff and Harold Newman, of Santa Paula, were recent visitors in the Black home, where they were guests of Miss Irene Black.

Miss Clara Hennig spent last Sunday in Laguna Beach, where she was a guest in the T. Moore home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs R. McDonald and Mr. Bushay motored to Corona last Sunday, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Davids, formerly of Silver Acres.

Mrs. Bert Howard and children, of Escondido, spent last week in this vicinity visiting friends and relatives. On Saturday Bert Howard came up for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howard, Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Howard and children and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Howard and children, spent Sunday at Newport Beach, where they enjoyed a picnic dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Glasner were dinner guests Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Black.

The grown-ups, children and friends of the Sunday school are requested to meet at the Sunday school house, Saturday, from 2 to 4 p. m.

Plans will be made for a picnic in the near future. Games and singing will make a happy afternoon for the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Friend and daughter, of Santa Ana, were recent dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. McDonald.

Mr. Friend is in the mercantile business in Santa Ana.

Miss Clara Hennig, accompanied by friends from Santa Ana, motored to Hollywood on last Wednesday, where they spent the day calling on old friends from Colorado.

LOS ALAMITOS

LOS ALAMITOS, April 22.—The Willing Workers' Club met on Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium, with Mrs. Earl Barker and Mrs. Fred Johnson as hostesses. There were 18 members and two visitors, Mrs. F. A. Doane and Mrs. L. E. Vaughan, present. They were initiated into the club. After the regular business had been transacted, a discussion was held on the church bazaar to be held on May 13. Each member was asked to donate a grabbag.

Orval Wachter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wachter, is spending a few days in Cuba, prior to leaving for New York City.

Mrs. F. J. McDermott and two children, of San Bernardino, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Lemon. Mrs. McDermott is a sister of Mrs. Lemon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Breitenbach have purchased the home formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Groesbeck on Howard street.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

ROBT. HARTMAN IS WINNER OF ORATORY MEET

ORANGE, April 22. — Robert Hartman won first honors in the local high school yesterday in the first step of the national oratorical contest. Of seven contestants, Hartman was judged to have the best oration dealing on the United States Constitution and the best delivery.

Hartman was to represent Orange in the district contest at Santa Ana today. Besides winning the honor of representing his school, Hartman won a $20 gold piece, awarded by the American Legion.

Miss Thelma Dugan, who was runner up, winning second honors, was awarded a $10 gold piece by the Orange Daily News. Paul Mueller, who was given third place, received the $5 award of F. A. Henderson, high school principal.

Others who presented their orations for the consideration of the judges were Jack Bergen, Fred Carvajal, Lavinia Compton and Ruby Grey.

Judges of the contest were the Rev. P. W. Clarkson, George Sherwood and Mrs. Clyde Watson. The awards were presented by the Rev. Mr. Clarkson.

S. A. Woman In Orange Accident

ORANGE, April 22—Mrs. Beatrice Tickel, of 1806 North Broadway, Santa Ana, was involved in an accident with a truck belonging to the Kilpatrick Bread company at the corner of West Chapman avenue and Batavia street yesterday according to a report on file at police headquarters.

Neither driver was injured. The small touring car which Mrs. Tickel was driving was badly damaged. According to the report, the truck started to turn left from West Chapman avenue onto South Batavia street when it hit the car which was being driven east by Mrs. Tickel on West Chapman avenue.

SUNDAY SCHOOL SEWS

ORANGE, April 22.—Sewing for a church bazaar occupied the time of the members of the Benedictine Sunday school class of the Methodist Episcopal church, who met at the home of Mrs. Homer Baker on East Collins avenue yesterday.

Eighteen persons were present. A pot luck luncheon was served at noon. The session lasted the entire day.

Dance Pavilion Being Built In Robt. Shaw Ranch

ORANGE, April 22.—Work was being rushed today on a private dance hall on the Robert Shaw ranch, seven miles from the park.

According to Shaw, the hall is to be rented to private parties, club and lodge organizations. No public dances are to be conducted.

The structure is 30x40 feet and contains a 30-foot square dance floor. A small store and refreshment booth are also provided.

The dance pavilion has been set back far enough on the property to allow adequate automobile parking space in front. The structure is expected to be ready within the next three weeks.

$112,486 PAID BY ORANGE TAXPAYERS

ORANGE, April 22.—With all but about $25000 paid in of the taxes for 1927, B. F. Richards, tax collector, today warned all city taxpayers that Monday is the last day in which to pay taxes before they become delinquent.

Out of a total roll of $136,625.92, the tax collector's office has collected $112,486.95. When closing time Monday arrives, Richards expects to have all but about 20 per cent of the taxes collected, according to advices given from the tax collector's office today.

The rush is particularly noticeable at this time as residents pay their taxes, according to Richards, because of the loss of the services of Miss Bessie Swan, deputy tax collector, who resigned yesterday. Richards has pressed Will N. Parsons, city statistician, into service.

Junior Woman's Club Entertained

ORANGE, April 22.—Local talent supplied the entertainment at the semi-monthly meeting of the Junior Woman's club in the clubhouse yesterday afternoon. Readings were given by the Misses Charlotte DeVoy and Dorothy Stiff. Vocal solos were rendered by the Misses Melva Fletcher and Helen Stowell. Dorothy Kerns gave a piano solo.

In the business session, a report was given by Miss Pauline Moss, president, to the effect that no action on the junior-senior dance as proposed by the club, had been taken. A food sale in charge of the Misses Floy Stevenson and Nellie Lewis for tomorrow morning in the plaza was agreed upon.

The Misses Marguerite Loescher and May Berry were the hostesses for the afternoon.

Benefit Show In Orange Nets $400

ORANGE, April 22.—With approximately $400 realized from the benefit performances given the Orange fire department at a local theater Tuesday and Wednesday, A. L. Tomblin, chief, is scouting around for suitable furnishings for the new clubroom at the fire hall.

Nearly 1400 tickets were sold to the show, and the entire proceeds were turned over to the department The theater and film costs were paid by C. C. Hotchkiss, theater owner.

Capacity houses attended the two showings each night of the film, "Slide, Kelly Slide." The department and its chief were today extending the thanks of the organization to the residents of the city who purchased the tickets and made the show possible.

Michigan Man's Service Saturday

ORANGE, April 22. — Masonic services for J. D. Edmonds, of Detroit, who passed away at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Frost, 176 North Center street on April 14, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m., at the C. W. Coffey funeral parlors, with interment in Fairhaven cemetery. The Rev. M. L. Pearson will deliver the funeral message.

Mr. Edmonds was the brother of Mrs. Frost. He had been in California only three months, having come here on account of failing health. Besides his sister, Mrs. Frost, he leaves his wife and a son in Oil City, Pa.

Church Class In Visit to Beach

ORANGE, April 22.—Eight members of the R. P. C. Sunday school class of the Methodist Episcopal church journeyed to Newport Beach yesterday for an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. R. C. Patton.

A pot-luck luncheon at noon and sewing, together with a period of beach sports, occupied the time. Those who went were Mrs. W. W. Hull, Mrs. Rex Parks, Mrs. Kenneth Claypool, Mrs. James Winget, Mrs. Arthur Koepsel, Mrs. C. E. Morrow, Mrs. Wesly Kolkhurst, Mrs. L. L. Williams and the hostess, Mrs. Patton.

Oil Worker's Arm Amputated

ATWOOD, April 22.—"Meely" Manuel, Union Oil driller, who was badly injured Tuesday when the gauntlet of his glove was caught in the draw works, was taken to the Methodist hospital in Los Angeles, where his arm was amputated. Lotest reports state he is recovering satisfactorily.

LEGION POST SECURES $2000 FOR NEW HOME

ORANGE, April 22.—First steps toward the actual accumulation of funds to proceed with the erection of a Legion clubhouse on the newly purchased site on West Chapman avenue near Citrus street, were taken last night at the semi-monthly meeting of the local post of the American Legion, when approximately $400 was received from subscribers.

According to reports given by W. O. Hart, chairman of the building committee, and Frank Maroney, a member of the committee, about $2000 has been subscribed for the fund and this is beginning to be turned in to the committee.

The Legion members acted as hosts last night to the Garden Grove post and to the local post's troop of Boy Scouts. About 20 members of each organization attended. The Garden Grove post assisted with the entertainment. The Boy Scout troop, under the supervision of Ed Murphy, Scoutmaster, demonstrated to the Legionnaires their skill in life saving, fire building, cooking and other arts in which the youths are trained as scouts.

Orange Plans to File Demurrer In Dennis Case

ORANGE, April 22.—The city will file a demurrer against the amended complaint of W. B. Dennis, East Chapman avenue rancher, who has instituted suit against the city and the firm of Kavanaugh and Twohy for damages to the extent of $25,000, according to L. F. Coburn, city attorney.

The city has until Monday night to file the demurrer, according to Coburn.

As yet no demurrer has been filed on either the original complaint or the complaint as amended, according to Coburn. When attorneys for Dennis learned that a demurrer was contemplated, they notified Coburn of intention to amend their complaint, thus causing him to hold up his demurrer.

With the amended complaint filed, Coburn plans to enter the demurrer.

Former Oklahoma Resident Passes

ORANGE, April 22. — Joseph Ferree, 67, of 380 South Shaffer street, passed away at his home Wednesday afternoon following a lingering illness. Ferree, who has been a local resident for approximately 18 months, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elinor Ferree; a son, Joseph E. Ferree, of Orange; three daughters, Mrs. Will H. Carpenter and Miss Ethel Ferree, of Orange, and Mrs. Florence Smart, of Hayward, Okla., and a sister, Mrs. Laura Marcom, of Mexico City, Mexico.

Ferree came to Orange with his family from Hayward, Okla., about 18 months ago. Funeral service arrangements will be announced later by the Gillogly funeral home.

W. WEYGANDT TO BUILD

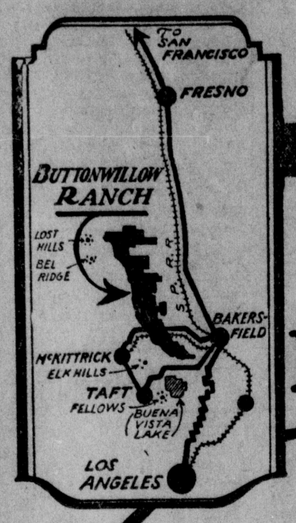

ORANGE, April 22—Walter Weygandt, 444 North Center street, was granted a permit yesterday by the building inspector, to erect a $3000 home and garage.

REJECTS WOMAN SUFFRAGE

PARIS, April 22.—By seven votes to five, with one abstention, the French senate committee on Woman's suffrage has rejected a proposition to give women the vote and eligibility to sit in parliament. An amendment giving women of 30 a vote in all elections and eligibility to sit in municipal councils to the extent of one-quarter of the seats to be filled was rejected by one vote.

BUTTONWILLOW RANCH

Rich Farm Land with Gravity Water

$125 to $150 per acre

Also Several Thousand Acres of Excellent Water-bearing Land at $25 to $45 an Acre

ALL OIL RIGHTS
Go to the PURCHASER

BUTTONWILLOW RANCH lies immediately east of the oil fields of Lost Hills, Belridge, McKitrick, Taft, Fellows and Elk Hills. A major oil company is conducting a survey, and under the agreement with this company all oil rights go to the purchaser of the land. This might seem to be a gamble but your future fortune may be here. You have everything to gain; nothing to lose. You will own the land.

INVESTIGATE BUTTONWILLOW RANCH now—while these opening prices prevail. Compare it with any other large tract of land a like distance from Los Angeles now selling at $300 per acre or more and you will realize that Buttonwillow land, at these prices, is the best farm land investment opportunity on the market today.

BUTTONWILLOW RANCH was examined by an eminent engineer and an exhaustive report made following a careful analysis of climatic conditions, depth and quality of soil, drainage, water for irrigation, transportation facilities, markets for products and suitability to the growing of various crops.

In addition to recommending it for alfalfa, grain, milo maize, vegetables, vineyards, nuts, figs and all deciduous fruits, the report states: "This is the finest fruit area in the world today."

These crops will produce large yields in the rich, deep, well-drained soil of Buttonwillow land. It is admirably suited to the raising of hogs, sheep and poultry and also for dairying, owing to the low cost of the land, enabling the rancher to produce an abundance of cheap stock feed.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Andrew Jackson

Sketches by Bessey
Synopsis By Braucher

Jackson once had a thrilling street duel with Thomas Benton, the Missouri senator, and his brother Jesse. Jackson was wounded by a bullet in the fight, but forgave the Bentons and Thomas Benton later became one of Jackson's staunchest friends. "Old Hickory," however, never was able to forgive an insult to his wife.

In 1796 Jackson was elected to the House of Representatives and was made a senator the following year.

His appointment as a judge of the Supreme Court of Tennessee followed. In 1812 he retired to his plantation.

©1927 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

His retirement was to be short-lived, for on the instant that the United States declared war against Great Britain in 1812, Jackson wheeled into action with an eloquent appeal for volunteers. Two thousand responded and Jackson marched for the Mississippi, bound for New Orleans. (To Be Continued.)

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Said Scouty, "What a wondrous night. The brilliant moon makes things look bright, and if I don't know that I was wrong, I'd think 'twas day. We've lots of time that we can lose. Let's find a place where we can snooze. No hay stack, though, 'cause I am tired of sleeping in the hay."

"Oh, gee," snapped Clowny, "let's sit out and watch the bright stars shoot about. In turning in to sleep right now there is no real good sense. We seldom have a night like this, and cannot let it go amiss. Let's find a comfy place to perch. Oh, there's a picket fence."

They perched upon the fence real quick, and Coppy said, "Gee, this is slick. This sure is pretty countryland. I wonder where we are." "Oh, my, what difference does that make?" asked Clowny. "Why, for goodness sake, we're safe and sound, so let's not fret. Ah, there's a shooting star!"

They sat and sang, and watched the sky an hour. Then Scouty said, "Well, I have really had enough of this. My head's so tired it pains. That wagon is the place we'll stop and get our sleep. It has a top and we'll be safe and sound till morning. even though it rains."

They crawled into the wagon then, and soon were fast asleep again. When morning came they all hopped out and found a nearby well. They washed themselves, and got a drink. Then Clowny said, "Well lads, I think that we were wise to take that sleep. I'm really feeling swell."

Not far away they found a boy who sang as if filled up with joy. They walked right up to listen, and they all kept very still. "To see you I am very glad. I'm Tommy Tucker," said the lad. "I'm singing for my supper. You can join me, if you will."

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

CHIN TREATMENTS

We are growing into a nation of double chinned women. Young girls bend over desks eight hours or more a day, chins down, skin pushed into an ugly bunch under the chins. Going home, they bury their faces in books or magazines, chins down again and the chin line spoiled. Even during the rest of the day when they are exercising or walking, they go about with sunken chins and flat chests, it's one of the ways of walking that's come into fashion recently. Someone ought to paste posters all over the cities, "Heads Up!" and see whether that would do any good.

Massage will help your chin line

Meantime, my mail is full of letters asking what's to be done about the chin line that sags and grows double and spoils the profile. The first thing is to carry the head right. The second thing is not to grow stout, for that means that a pocket of extra flesh must form under here, and only diet and massage and astringents can get back the smooth line desired. The third thing is to keep those muscles beneath the chin firm and flexible, not to let them get old.

Massage will help, astringents are invaluable, slapping is one of the best possible treatments. I'd suggest you buy an oily, astringent cream, and use it at night, rubbing it well into the skin and wiping off the surplus. I'd suggest using a mild astringent like witch hazel or tincture of benzoin solution after washing the face, then while the skin is wet, slapping under the chin with the backs of the fingers until the skin tingles. Do this for three minutes.

If the line is very bad, rub a little beaten white of egg on the skin and let it dry for 20 minutes, holding the chin in proper position while it dries.

Mrs. I. G. W.—You need a good scalp specialist to diagnose the condition, as the treatment you did get could not have been what was needed for your case. Because new hair keeps forming all the time, it shows that recovery would be rapid, once you had the right treatment. A tonic, like the ppilocarpine one, or any other one in which there is a purifier or an antiseptic, might be all that is needed. I suggest this only in case you cannot go to a specialist.

Tomorrow—Oily and Dry Skins

"Just Folks" by Edgar A. Guest

EVERY TOWN MUST HAVE A STOP LIGHT

These smart city fellows have nothing on us,
We are small, but we're up to the minute.
A sign on the corner reads, "Stop, for the bus!"
And it will if you wish to get in it.

We've all the improvements. Our town is complete.
We're not very large, but we're thriving
And now we've installed o'er our busiest street
A stop light to regulate driving.

Sometimes it shows red, and sometimes it shows green,
And you stop when the red light is glowing
And then when above you the green light is seen
You may step on the gas and get going.

Perhaps we don't need such a costly device,
Our traffic's not that of the city,
But still we consider it well worth the price
For those red and green lights are so pretty.

Queer Quirks of -NATURE-

SUGAR FROM A TREE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature As'sn.

One of the first secrets the man in America learned from the Indian was that a certain tree grew in the forest from the sap of which a most delicious sirup and sugar could be made. This was the hard, or sugar, maple.

Among the Indians the maple sugar was of far more importance than with us. They not only sweetened their cakes of ground maize meal with it, but put it into their soups, and even seasoned their meats with it.

They first traded it to the white men for beads and other trinkets, and then the settlers came and their red neighbors showed them how to gather the sap and boil it until only the sugar remained in the evaporating pan. We have had maple sugar ever since.

There was another maple tree in the forest which the Indians said did not yield enough sugar to pay for gathering the sap. This was the red or soft maple.

French Canadians doubted the tribesmen's word. They tried for themselves and found that the Indians had not lied. Later other sugar-makers followed in their footsteps with like results.

However, if the soft maple does not furnish sugar, it does contribute the vivid red maple leaves to the autumn woods, blending well with the golden leaves of the hard maple, and both varieties yield timber that is highly prized in furniture making.

Palestine

Easter Directed Our Thoughts Thither

By Olive Roberts Barton

During the Easter season, our thoughts turn to the lonely country at the end of the Mediterranean Sea which is hallowed ground for the Christian and Jew alike.

To the Christian, it stands a temple of His faith, the scene of the birth of Christ. His pilgrimages, His suffering, His death and His resurrection.

To the Jew it stands for history, the home of his forefathers; the promised land to which Abraham led his flocks; the land to which Moses returned an oppressed people; the land of Solomon, David, the kings and the prophets.

We grow up picturing to ourselves a region of sweet valleys, green hills and sunny skies—trees, gardens and happy homes. We think of it veritably as the Promised Land, the land flowering with milk and honey.

Travelers' Tales

It hurts us to hear the returned traveler tell of its present dreariness and poverty, its barren, stony fields and treeless landscapes. Five races live in Palestine and all of them are poor.

Jerusalem is a ghostly shadow of a wonderful past—poor, dirty, neglected. The traveler has to draw on something within himself and hug tight his traditions to experience the feeling of reverence that should inspire the most casual visitor to the Holy Land.

Neglected Corner

Isn't it too bad that the world spends millions of dollars to build magnificent churches, yet the very place where all Christendom had its beginning remains a neglected corner to which few travelers seem to wish to return?

Palestine has changed hands many times. For many years it was controlled by Turkey. England for the second time has wrested it from the Moslem, and to her goes the credit for making it accessible to the rest of the world. Further than that I do not know. I can only say with the others who know not, "Cannot something be done?"

A THOUGHT

What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. —Matthew xix:6.

MENUS for the FAMILY

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST — Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, baked French toast, maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON — Stuffed onions with white sauce, bran bread, jellied fruit salad, milk, tea.

DINNER—Birds without bones, baked potatoes, scalloped tomatoes, radishes, rye bread, rhubarb pie, milk, coffee.

Birds Without Bones

One and one-half pounds round steak, 1 large onion, 3-4 cup rice, 1 large loose head cabbage, 1 teaspoon salt.

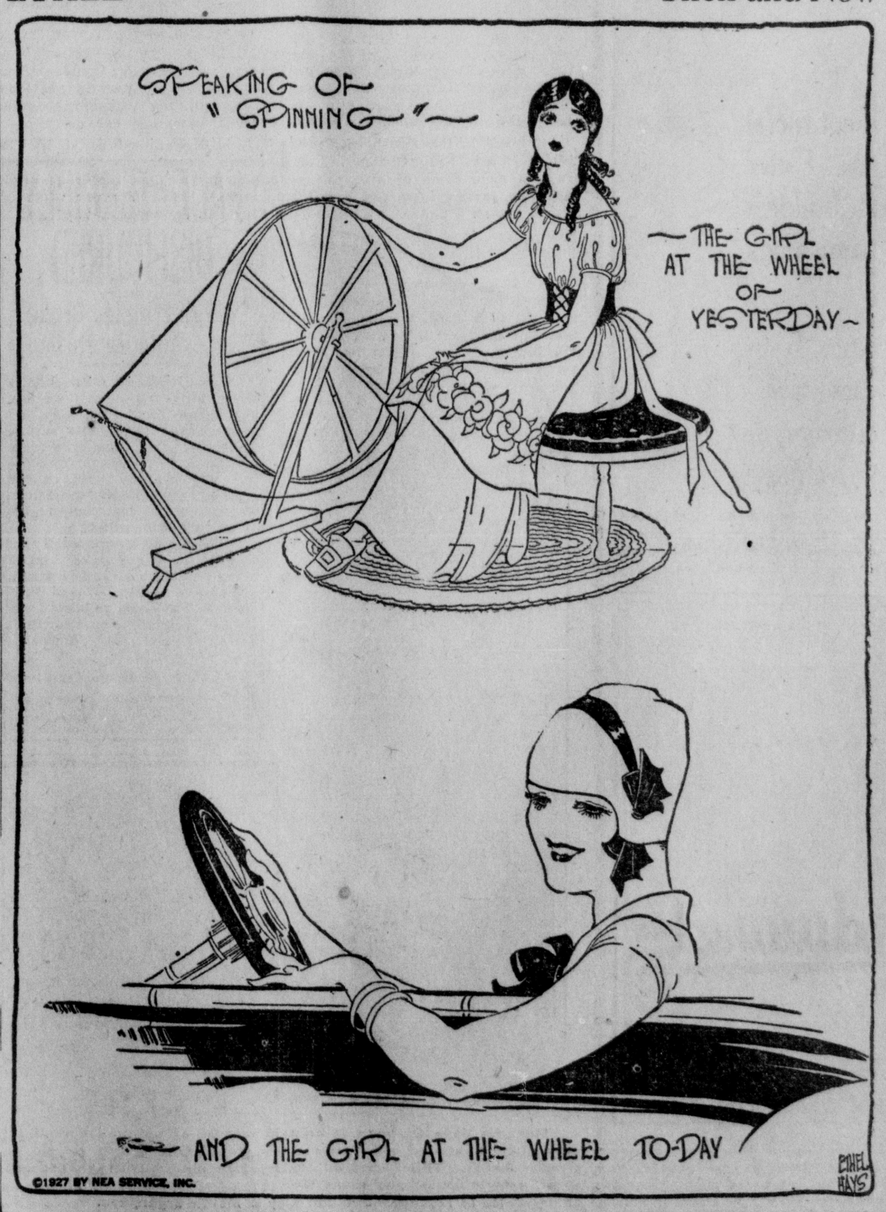

Have the steak ground as for hamburg. Season with salt and pepper. Melt - tablespoon drippings in frying pan and add onion cut in thin slices. Cook until light brown. Add meat and stir well. Add rice well washed and let cook ten minutes. Stir frequently to prevent sticking. Cut core from cabbage, cutting as deep as possible. Put head into a deep pan and pour over boiling water to cover. Cover pan and let stand five minutes. Remove cabbage and drain. Pull off leaves. Use large leaves to stuff and put small leaves into pan in which the "birds" are to be cooked. Put one or two tablespoonfuls of meat mixture on each large cabbage leaf. Roll and fold. Put the folded side down on bed of cabbage. Pour over boiling water to barely cover, cover pan and cook about 45 minutes. Remove to hot platter and serve.

SIX SANTA ANA CINDERPATHERS SET FOR MEET

Coach Oliver Confident of Placing All His Entries In All-Southern Finals

Six strong-hearted and powerfully muscled athletes will uphold the good name of Santa Ana in the Southern California Interscholastic preliminaries that will be held in the Los Angeles Coliseum tomorrow afternoon. To be eligible for the finals April 30 these men must qualify in their respective events.

The high school sextette is headed by Captain Harvey Bear, fleet dash man, and Harold Breeding, extraordinary miler, who rank as two of the best tracksters in the Southland predom. These stars will receive valuable assistance from Ernie Velarde, broad-jumper, and John and Manley Moffatt and Bob Jacques, all high jumpers. John Moffatt also will compete in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Athletes from virtually every city, town, homlet and way-station in Southern California will be on hand but the critics aver that the victory rests between three or four of the leading schools and they like best the chances of Glendale, Pasadena, Hollywood and Los Angeles with Chaffey conceded an outside chance.

Points Won't Count

Points, of course, will not be counted in the trials tomorrow but the preliminaries will afford the experts an excellent idea as to what schools will be likely to do any dope-upsetting if any dope IS upset.

Coach Oliver refuses to make any rash predictions about what his men may be expected to do but made it plain today that he will use Captain Bear both in the 100 and 220 and he expressed the belief that Bear would not only place in the century but would finish ahead of Slocum, of Glendale in the finals next week. Bear is conceded an excellent chance of winning the furiong, a race that is better suited to his strong finishing prowess.

Bear has been working diligently during the past week to improve

SOUTHERN J. C. 'PLAY-DAY' TO BE HELD HERE

Hockey, Baseball, Track, Swimming Among Events Scheduled for Carnival

Girl athletes from every junior college in Southern California will be entertained in the annual spring sports play-day program that will be held at the Santa Ana junior college tomorrow, according to Miss Diana Anderson, head of the girls' physical education department. Nine Southland junior colleges, represented by approximately 200 students, will compete in the sport festival, the entry lists show.

Instead of engaging in intercollegiate competition and league games, the Southern California junior college conference twice each year holds a sports play-day for its feminine pupils.

Colleges that will be represented in the athletic fest include Fullerton, San Bernardino, Riverside, Pasadena, Brawley, Citrus, Pomona, Chaffey and Santa Ana.

The program will be opened with hockey games at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Santa Ana, Riverside and Fullerton have the strongest teams. Opponents will be chosen by lot. Baseball games will be held, beginning at 10:45 o'clock.

To Try U. C. System

The system used by the University of California and Mills college in intercollegiate competition will be tried in the baseball and track games. Color teams, picked without regard to the college represented, will organize and meet similarly formed teams. This policy is favored by athletic authorities because it removes the competitive element and consequent strenuousness.

Track events will begin at 11:45 o'clock.

Lunch will be served by the Girls' Athletic association of Santa Ana high school in the school cafeteria at 1 o'clock.

A social hour for the entertainment of the girls will be held between 2 o'clock and 3 o'clock. Musical numbers and special stunts will be given in the "Y" hut under the auspices of the Associated Women students of Santa Ana junior college with Miss Catherine Best, president, in charge.

Swim Meet at 3 P. M.

The days' events will be concluded with a swimming meet, beginning at 3 p. m. An exhibition of fancy diving by Blanchard Beatty, Newport Beach expert, will be followed by a swimming meet. Both Santa Ana and Pasadena have strong teams in the swimming entries. The judges for the aquatic contests are Miss Alverda West, Mrs. William Foote and Mrs. Carl Burns.

Santa Ana girls who will compete in the swimming races and relays include Ruth Davis, Madge Almond, Elaine Smith, Thelma Patton, Enid Twist, Muriel Smith, Mary Jane Owens, Katherine Swales, Frances Reid and Julia Cummings.

The play day program will be conducted under the auspices of the Women's Athletic association of the Santa Ana junior college. Miss Muriel Smith, president, assisted by committee chairmen, Enid Twist and Julia Cummings will conduct registration, committee chairmen are Thelma Patton, swimming; Elaine Smith, track; Julia Evans, hockey; Ruth Davis and Charlotte Harnois, hut decorations; and Virginia Powell, color teams.

TWO ACES IN CARDINAL PACK

While Stanford is the favorite to capture premier honors in the dual classic, Ed House, speedy captain of the Trojans, refuses to admit defeat. Charley Borah, the sophomore marvel, is a cinch to win the sprints but House is just as sure to take second in both dashes.

CARDS, U. S. C. IN TITLE MEET ON TOMORROW

LOS ANGELES, April 22.—Coach Dean Cromwell and 33 U. S. C. Trojan tracksters will board a northbound train tonight for Palo Alto where they are slated to meet the Stanford Cardinals tomorrow in what looms as the season's biggest dual meet.

Despite the fact that the Trojans will be shortenders against the Cardinal crew they are prepared to put up the battle of their careers against the peninsula aggregation.

The Trojan mentor denies that he will start Charley Borah in the 440-yard dash, as he believes that the sprint ace will do better if he confines his efforts to his favorite events, the century and furlong dashes.

Cliff Reynolds, U. S. C. high hurdle star, is in shape to perform this event, but it is doubtful if he will attempt the broad jump even though Mort Kaer is handicapped by lumbago that may keep him on the sidelines so far as actual participation is concerned.

Northern fans who have installed Stanford as long-end favorites may take a setback in their dope calculations as the Trojan delegation is convinced that the outcome of the meet will hinge on the relay.

It will be the first of three important struggles between the two teams this year. The second is expected to be at the National Intercollegiates at Philadelphia May 26 and 23 and the last at the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate championships here June 3 and 4.

The Trojan entourage will include Captain House, Borah, H. Smith, Sauers, Wallace, Lewis, B. Smith, Gloege, Lovejoy, Adams, Unruh, Schurr, Hussey, G. Smith, Hunt, Reynolds, Webber, Bonham, Kaer, Graham, Aleksi, Barnes, Williams, Ruiz, Coggeshall, Bowen, Ofstad, Wilson, Hill and Boelter.

STANFORD EXPECTS HARDEST MEET

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., April 22.—Stanford expects its hardest track and field meet tomorrow when University of Southern California invades the stadium for the annual Trojan-Cardinal dual meet.

The two teams are made up of some of the best track and field talent in the country and with promised good weather several world records are seriously threatened.

Stanford is a favorite to win although the Cardinal athletes will have to extend themselves more than at any time this season.

The Trojans possess a slight advantage in the track events but Stanford looms overwhelmingly superior in field competition.

A Cardinal victory by a score in the neighborhood of 76 to 55 would be a reasonable guess, although Southerners, by springing surprises on the track could nose out a victory.

WUXTRY! DONS FLAIL CITRUS: SCORE? 18-15

By ALFRED AULT

Wuxtry! Wuxtry!

The Santa Ana junior college baseball team, in scoring mood, won a league game from Citrus junior college yesterday afternoon when the battle of bats became virtually a game of nine pins instead of a game played by nine men as the score mounted to 18 to 15.

By winning, the Don nine broke into the winning column of the Southern California junior college conference. The first game, played two weeks ago, was dropped to Riverside by a score of 8 to 4.

After the first three innings, the heavy artillery was brought up and both teams began firing away aimlessly. Santa Ana kept the lead although at times the visitors would creep up and tie the score. Superior batting by the Santa Ana players, however, gave them the advantage, the Dons making 15 hits to 11 safe blows registered by Citrus.

Milton Chaffee pitched for the Santa Ana team. He was not given the support he deserved with the consequence that the Citrus team was able to score several unearned runs.

The longest hit of the afternoon was credited to Henrik Van Rensselaer, captain of the Santa Ana nine. In the fourth inning he squarely hit the ball for a three bagger. None were on bases at the time. Wallace Geren, Santa Ana first baseman, had the best batting record of the afternon with two doubles and a single in four trips to the rubber.

TROY LEADER FAST SPRINTER

By winning from the University of California, 90 2-3 to 40 1-3, the Stanford university track team established itself as favorite to win from the University of Southern California in the clash between the two colleges tomorrow that will decide the dual meet championship of the Pacific Coast. Here are Ward Edmunds, 18-year-old sophomore pole vaulter, and "Bud" Spencer, the madeover hurdler, who has come within a fraction of a second of bettering the world record for the 440 yard dash.

RUMORS THAT HURT

It is really remarkable how every now and then some unfounded rumor starts the rounds and gets a big play, to the great detriment of the player concerned.

During the past month I have read a number of stories dealing with Catcher "Muddy" Ruel of the Washington club. They characterized Ruel as a good mechanical catcher, but a dumb receiver.

Most of these stories were inspired as the result of Ruel's spring holdout. What would be the chances of Washington to prosper if Ruel failed to come to terms?

DON SQUAD OFF FOR MEET AT SANTA BARBARA

Santa Ana junior college will send 12 of its track and field talent to Santa Barbara tomorrow to participate in the annual Santa Barbara Invitational meet and an adequate squad to the Fresno Raisin Day Relay carnival April 30.

Led by Coach Graham Harris, the Dons set forth today for Santa Barbara confident of making a presentable showing in the Invitational, a meet in which Santa Ana teams always have had considerable success.

The squad consisted of Pete Twist, sprints and low hurdles; Wilbur Allee, high hurdles; Don Miner, sprints; Lon McIntire, 440; Don Squires, 440; "Tiny" Reinhardt, weights; Russell Kokx, 880; Willis Fields, mile; Raymond Griset, 2-mile; Mark Martin, 440; Bob Vawter, mile, 2-mile, and Faris Edgar, 880.

Harris will enter two squads in the Fresno meet, eight men being in line for the trip. A team will be enrolled in the mile relay and another in the 2-mile relay, he said.

Young Denies Opposition To Olympic Bonds

SACRAMENTO, April 22—Governor C. C. Young today branded as false the report circulated in Los Angeles that he was opposed to the bill submitting to the people a $1,000,000 bond issue for the 1932 Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

"I believe if such a measure is presented to the people it will, if passed, not only make the money available, but also create a large amount of good advertising for the Olympiad," the governor said. "However, I have suggested that the proposed bonds should be short term bonds, and not extend over a long period of time."

Filly May Take 1927 Kentucky Derby

Regret Only One Victor in 53 Years

NEW YORK, April 21.—Kentucky Derby time is growing closer and closer and racing fans everywhere are chinning about the big gallop.

Will 1927, as so many others have been in the past, be a jinx year for fillies?

In the 53 years' history of the event only one miss has romped under the judge's stand first. That fortunate little lady was Regret, daughter of Broomstick and Jersey Lightning and great-granddaughter on the distaff side of Modesty, winner of the first American Derby at Chicago.

Regret's victorious silks fluttered in the sunshine of 1915.

It is probable that none of the score of fillies recently named for this year's derby will get much consideration in the betting before May 14.

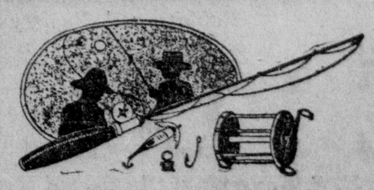

Still it is easily possible that one of them may win. The two-year-old racing of last season was not characterized by the development of an outstanding star. There were some crackerjack fillies, however, in Fair Star, Bonnie Maginn, Lodina, Candy Queen and Termagant. Then there are Bit O'White and Painted Lady, who are capable of better showings.

James Rowe declared last spring when Pandera, Pantella and Bonnie Pennant were beating smart colts on Long Island courses that racing had not seen his best filly. He had Termagant in mind. He held her back until the horses got to Saratoga, but Termagant did not win any of the big stakes there. After defeating a bunch of youngsters ofher own sex at five furlongs and a half she lost the Hopeful by the narrowest of margins to Lord Chaucer.

The wise guys figured she'd have copped if "Pony" McAtee, her rider, had attended strictly to the business of getting her down in front. McAtee felt it his duty to hamper Scapa Flow as much as possible and while he was shouldering the smart son of Man O'War outat the turn for home and through the last quarter Lord Chaucer slipped up on the rail to nose both of them out.

Candy Queen, a daughter of Stefan the Great and Kalavala, was far and away the smartest youngster developed by H. Teller Archibald of Chicago. She beat everything but Scapa Flow in the Belmont Futurity. She did not disgrace herself in the Kentucky Jockey club stakes either, only Valorousand Bostonian beating her. The going was bad and she was not supposed to be a good mudder.

All in all, the fillies have a Kentucky Derby coming to them. This year may not bea jinx season after all.

SENIORS UPSET DOPE, HUMBLE JUNIOR CO-EDS

Senior class girls defeated the highly touted juniors, champions of two interclass series, in the first game of the Santa Ana high school indoor baseball playoff yesterday afternoon by a score of 4 to 2. Two runs, made in the last inning by the Misses Prudence Drews and Joy Wilson, decided the conflict in favor of the seniors.

Neither team was able to score until thethird inning. The first runs were made by the Misses Albert Broomell and Lucille Huston, senior fielders.

Although the juniors came came up to tie the score by the close of the sixth inning, through runs made by the Misses Louise Pea and Gertrude Morris, the seniors kept their advantage when they tallied the two deciding runs in the final batting barrage.

In the second game next week, the seniors and the juniors will clash.

Senior and junior class teams met before the game to elect captains. Miss Jean Nicholson, senior pitcher, was chosen by the upperclassmen and Miss Rowena Cone, heaver was named by the juniors.

The lineup:

read, relative to Ruel's worth to the Nationals, was anything but complimentary to him and made it appear as if he was a pretty good mechanic, but that let him out.

Ruel was painted as a catcher who knew nothing of the opposition's weakness, who had a weak arm and who came to be recognized as a pretty good catcher simply because he had been fortunate enough to be handling smart pitchers.

I seriously doubt if any opinion ever broadcast was more undeserved than the many I have read relative to Ruel's lack of brains.

ESTIMATING RUEL'S WORTH

During my 22 years in the American league, I have worked back of many of the greatest catchers that have graced the game. In that time I have seen a number of better mechanics, but few smarter catchers than "Muddy" Ruel.

If you asked Walter Johnson as to the best mechanical catcher that ever handled his delivery, I am certain he would reply "Gabby" Street. If you asked him who was the smartest, I am just as positive he would say, "Muddy Ruel."

Ruel has certain faults back of the plate, most catchers have, but lack of gray matter certainly isn't one of them.

The possessor of just an ordinary throwing arm, Ruel has always been a tough man to steal on. He has overcome the throwing arm weakness by outguessing the baserunner. Even at that he has never been known as a "pitchout" catcher.

Usually it is customary for receivers with only fair throwing arms to call for a lot of pitchouts, in order to be in the best possible position to get the ball away. Ruel seldom got his pitcher in the hole on that score.

Despite his acknowledged smartness back of the plate by the men actively in the game, the report has been widely spread this spring that Ruel is a "Dumb-Dora."

PECKINPAUGH'S TRIBUTE

It is difficult to determine how these false reports start. However, once they are originated, they usually get a big play. Ruel's case has been no exception.

While chatting with Roger Peckinpaugh in the Chicago training camp, he pulled such a press notice on me relative to Ruel and asked how things so unfair to the player concerned started.

I told him that I hadn't the least idea but I would do my best to counteract the damage that had been done.

"If there is one thing that recommends Ruel, it is a keen mind," said Peck. "I have played on the same team with him for a number of years and know whereof I speak.

"Slight of physique, having just a fair arm, Ruel has gone farther in baseball on his ability to think faster than the average batter, than to his mechanics of the game."

his start, the only weakness in his sprinting makeup. Howard Paul, former Poly captain and crack broad jumper, who also was better than an ordinary sprinter and one of the fastest men off his marks ever developed here, has trained with him all week. The two men have been practicing 75-yard dashes and Oliver is elated at the improvement his captain has shown in getting under way. Frank Wykoff, the Glendale flash, is picked to win the 100 but Oliver is satisfied that Bear has a chance to beat the rest of the field for second money.

Breeding in Shape

Breeding has put in a strenuous week and looks to be in the best shape of his remarkable career. The gifted runner ran a mile in 4:33 Tuesday afternoon and cantered through a 2:05 half-mile yesterday. He will be under orders to take things easy in the preliminaries and told to run just hard enough to place—unless a young fellow named Hall, of Long Beach, happens to be one of those in the heat. Hall is the only runner who has beaten the Santa Ana ace under fair conditions this season and Breeding would like to show the populace that he can "take" the Long Beach sophomore.

Oliver has not allowed the Poly high jumpers or Velarde to work hard in practice but will let them cut loose tomorrow.

FRANK BRAZILL SOCKS UMPIRE, IS SUSPENDED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22 — Frank Brazill, third baseman of the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast league, was fined $250 today by President Harry Williams for assaulting Umpire Mal Eason in yesterday's game between the Angels and the Sacramento team.

The fine was in addition to immediate suspension which Williams ordered yesterday when news of the attack reached him.

Williams said if the assault was as brutal as unofficial reports indicated, he would impose the limit penalty, which is suspension for the entire season.

"Eason telephoned me that Brazill slugged him twice and then when he was down, kicked him in the head, cutting his ear," Williams said. "Eason is 55 and Brazill is a big strapping ball player."

The assault, the league president said, was a disgrace to the game and from now on penalties for such offenses will be doubled.

Brazill's attack followed on the heels of rows by two managers in the circuit, both Marty Krug of the Angels and Ivan Howard of the Oakland team having been suspended this week for choking umpires.

Yesterday's clash followed a decision at third base by Umpire Eason to which Brazill objected.

Tube Used for Giving 'Floater' Liquor In Jail

RANIER, Ore., April 22.—Even while in jail a "floater" recently arrested here, had to have his liquor. It cost Ray Johnson $150 for obeying the law of supply and demand.

The man was in jail and demanded liquor. Johnson furnished it via a rubber tube. One end of the tube was outside the jail. The other end was in the prisoner's mouth and a few lusty pulls are said to have changed his viewpoint so that he thought the jail was a palace.

Marshal T. W. Findley strayed to the scene and spoiled the liquor sucking party.

Paddock to Run In Phoenix Meet

LOS ANGELES, April 22—Charley Paddock leaves here today for Phoenix, Ariz., where he will make an assault against the 220-yard mark tomorrow, in an invitational meet. Accompanying Paddock are Weldon Draper, Bud Houser, Bob Maxwell, Leighton Dye, Ken Grumbles and several other well known track performers.

ADJUSTMENT IN PAN-AMERICAN TRADE SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The forthcoming Pan-American Commercial conference, which convenes in Washington a month hence, is of deeper import than appears on the surface. The meeting is intended to be much more than simply a program of good will speechmaking. Behind the project is a sincere effort to adjust differences and heal breaches in the commercial relations between the United States and the republics to the south of us.

List of Grievances

These teachers are real. Central and South American nations have a formidable list of grievances, wholly apart from matters of politics. Strained political relations growing out of Mexican land law disputes, Nicaraguan intervention, and the Tacna-Arica boundary controversy — not forgetting to mention Haiti and the exclusion of Senator King—have been well advertised. Matters of trade and business relations of importance both to this country and to its southern neighbors have been rather forced into the background.

Argentina is perturbed (that is a mild term for her feelings) over the exclusion of her meats and fruits from the United States. Now an exclusion order of Argentine alfalfa seed is in the offing. Nominally these exclusions have been ordered as measures of safety, but Argentina attributes a different motive. These matters are "bones of contention" which Argentina brings to the Washington conference.

Chile Alarmed

Chile is alarmed about her nitrate trade. Heretofore the principal source of the world's supply of natural nitrate, she sees her markets waning by the inroads of the synthetic nitrate industry. Chile's economic position in world trade faces drastic readjustment in consequence. Chile wants our "co-operation" in this emergency.

Brazil has a grievance in connection with her world coffee trade, which revolves around her valorization plan—a scheme of holding off the market portions of her coffee crop to hold up the price. Brazil asserts her valorization plan is not unlike, in principle, what the American farmers are clamoring for to take care of agricultural "surpluses." Brazil resents our "interference" with loans sought from American bankers to finance her coffee valorization operations, and wants the loan boycott lifted.

Dissatisfied With Facilities

Venezuela is dissatisfied with the shipping facilities accorded her by American ship lines in the South American trade. Cuba has her grievance over the present parcel post convention, which our congress set out to modify but failed to do.

Fiscal problems make a long chapter. But in general there is a widespread idea in the business and commercial circles of Latin and South America that their govment revenues are being tied up too closely by the terms of their foreign loans—that American financiers insist on too great a degree of control. The foregoing are only the high spots of the subjects that the conference will consider. Political questions are to be tabooed, and to this end commercial disputes are to be separated as far as possible from political considerations.

The present conference, which starts May 2 and runs through the week, is the third Pan-American commercial conference ever held. The first was in 1911, the second in 1919 following the end of the war.

Formal acceptances to attend have been received from all except Argentina, Equador, Paraguay and Salvador, and assurances are at hand that acceptances from these four are forthcoming.

Southern California Gardens

By RUSSELL S. ADKINSON

The importance of reforestation is perhaps more fully appreciated when we realize that President Coolidge has set aside next week, the last week in April, as Forestry Week. Each year an effort is made to observe this week in some way. Some localities offer opportunities to plant in devastated areas, while in others most time and money go toward boulevard or street plantings, and the garden.

It is a splendid movement if interpreted in any of the above ways. Civic organizations, service clubs, schools, and garden clubs of various types usually are enthusiastic in their support and observance of Forestry Week. As the public begins to realize its importance, I think a great deal can be accomplished each year toward the end for which it was established.

There is no community that cannot aid in making next week's program a success. Nor is there a community that will not benefit directly from any effort extended.

The primary issue is preservation of timber and water sheds. Unfortunately we have no timber of commercial value but we are deeply interested in the protection of virgin plant life from the standpoint of beauty and of water shed. We should be just as interested in increasing the plantings for both reasons. Even should our plantings be very limited, if enough of them are accomplished, wonderful results can be obtained.

Preservation

The first consideration in Forestry Week should be preservation of the foliage we now have. No great danger of fire exists at present but its hazzard will increase weekly from now on until winter. We should prepare now to guard against such dangers. Everyone can easily take part in such safeguards as are necessary. Practically every fire has an artificial origin which means someone has been careless or malicious. We should pledge ourselves now to the use of utmost care while traversing thoroughfares and bypaths thru or adjoining bushy or wooded lands. In order to appreciate the results of not being careful, journey out to the barren wastes left by the recent fire in the mountains of Santiago. It is greatly improved over the state it was in directly after the fire. Note the lack of beauty and the devastating effect of erosion. Follow on down the canyons below and see how wasted waters have rushed madly down, tearing away the landscape as they went. Then go on to those portions of our range where the fire has not touched and see for yourself the difference. A trip of this kind during Forestry Week should be of immense value. It is the actual sight of destruction wrought by fire compared with unmolested areas that makes a lasting impression.

Having seen the conditions we will then more readily consider methods being advanced for reforestation. A number of articles have been written, and talks given concerning it with but little response. It seems a great problem, and indeed it would be, to cover all the barren hills at once, but while we wait to do that we could just as well be doing a little each year toward it.

One solution of the problem which appeared in the Register some time past, is worthy of note. Mr. Charles Havens, advocating the planting of Phoenix Canariensis of California date palm. Nothing could be easier planted as it would be merely the collecting of the thousands of seeds that appear yearly about town.

To plant, just push a hole in the ground and cover with soil. The seeds are slow to germinate and probably would not appear the first year. When once started they will care for themselves.

Nothing in Southern California could offer more beauty nor call forth more admiration than hills and canyons laden with the graceful palm. A great deal of advertising would result from such scenic beauty.

Will Not Burn

Unlike the greatest number of available plants for reforestation, this palm will not burn. High pressure blow torches were used in the Cochella valley recently in combatting a very detrimental type of scale. Even then it was extremely slow and tedious to burn the infested parts.

The fan palm will blaze readily and burn as though oiled, but such is not the case with the phoenix.

Boulevard Plantings

Another point of interest is the beautification of streets and boulevards. Here is an unlimited field for observance for next week. If each street or highway in need of plantings could receive even 10 per cent of the attention needed, think what a vast difference in beautiful effect would be accomplished in a very short time. Recently a property owner in a small growing town tried to get twenty property owners on a certain street to each buy two fifty-cent trees. There was continued delay until he decided to spend three cents per tree and donate them to the owners to get started. He feels that the tiny trees will easily be of fifty cents value much sooner than the time it would take to secure the hearty approval of each owner. This is the spirit that is needed.

Home Garden

Forestry week may just as well apply to the private garden if you are not in a position to help in a public way. The planting of flowers at home is an observance. If each home owner and subdivider would even plant one tree, think of the increase of beauty.

Each year a lot of agitation is shown at this time and after hearty speeches and much applause we sit back and feel that we have observed Forestry week to the letter.

Sometime great things are going to be accomplished during this week, and as a lover of plants, I sincerely hope that this year may see a start upon a definite program.

CARDS LIKE AVON PARK

So well do the St. Louis Cardinals like Avon Park, Fla., as the site of their spring training camp, President Sam Breadon plans to sign a three-year contract to use the little Florida town for spring conditioning purposes.

SUN SPOTS HELP WINE, IS CLAIM

PARIS, April 22.—Sun spots and atmospheric disturbances apparently contribute to the making of fine vintage wines.

Circumstantial evidence to this effect has been offered to the Academy of Sciences by Dr. Arsene d'Arsonval, an eminent scientist, in behalf of Dr. Lakhovsky, a specialist in biology.

Every fine vintage year, from 1811—called the "comet year"—down to the present, was found to coincide with intense activity of three phenomena, sun spots, the aurora borealis and magnetic perturbations.

Wine is full of living organisms, in its early stages, and it is suggested that they "vibrate" or perform in some manner in sympathy with the atmospheric activity.

The three score scientists of the academy, the supreme body of its kind in France, were the more impressed by the discovery of why wine is good, because Lakhovsky utilized official records.

LENGLEN BANDS

Women tennis players of Europe are discarding the Lenglen bandou, which has been so popular. Berets of dark blue that appeared on the courts of Nice during the winter seasons are becoming the vogue, for women say they are much more comfortable than the tight Lenglen band and as they may be worn slightly on the side they are much more becoming.

Grand Central Market Patrons Enjoy Generous Treat

Last Sunday 100 patrons of the Grand Central Market enjoyed a lusclous Wilson's Certified Ham with the compliments of the big institution. These hams were given to patrons absolutely free of cost, during a campaign extending over two months. The winners have been published each week up to April 9th, and below is given a complete list of all the fortunate ones. This ham distribution is only one event of an established policy of the Grand Central Market to show its appreciation of the thousands of people who have patronized it since its inception, and patrons may look forward to some new feature which will be equally popular.

CANTONESE ARE DEFENDANTS IN DAMAGE ACTION

TIENTSIN, April 22.—The first claim of damages against the Cantonese Nationalist government arising from mob disorders in its territory has been filed by a Hongkong merchant, W. V. Curtis, who sues for $100,000 for the death of his wife, following indignities she suffered at the hands of a mob at Klukiang.

In presenting the claim to Eugene Chen, Canton's Foreign Minister, Curtis declared he did so not for pecuniary ends but as a protest against the methods of the Cantonese authorities in stirring up mob passions against foreigners and "subjecting them to treatment unworthy of any respectable or responsible government."

Curtis's wife, Mrs. Emily Curtis, was an invalid, recuperating from an illness at Kuling, a mountain resort. Suddenly mob outbreaks, following absorption of the Wuhan cities, swept down the Yangtze kiang and the evacuation of Kuling was ordered.

Mrs. Curtis was conveyed down the mountain to Klukiang and was being removed from a hospital there on a stretcher to a Standard Oil ship when mobs started an attack on all foreigners. The coolies carrying her stretcher dropped it in the road. There she lay helpless, alone and weak, unable to lift a hand or stir a foot while the mob vented its wrath on all foreigners within reach, treating her shamefully.

British bluejackets on the destroyer Wyvern were notified and they went to her assistance, fixing bayonets and charging the crowd. She was taken aboard ship, but died an hour later.

FRANCE TO LOSE MATCH MONOPOLY

PARIS, April 22.—The government has decided to accept the offer of the group that has been formed to take over the match monopoly and a bill authorizing the concession will be laid before the chamber. The form of agreement proposed is that of an association between the state and the new company, which is to bear the title of "Societe Generale des Allumettes."

The company will take over the commercial exploitation of the monopoly, but the state will retain possession of the plant and the Minister of Finance will continue to fix the price of matches.

The company guarantees the state the existing profits and all surplus profits will be shared. It is stipulated that the company shall be a French company, and that no shares shall be held by foreigners. The personnel are to remain employes of the government and retain all their existing privileges as such. It would appear that the company counts on doing a large export trade if the agreement is sanctioned.

Soviet to Try to Cut Chemical Cost

RIGA, April 22. — Kuibysheff, chairman of the supreme economic council, gave an address on the internal economic situation before a conference in Moscow of the chemical industry of the U. S. S. R.

The burden of his address was the necessity of making a supreme effort to bring down prices.

"We have," he said, "been shouting, decreeing and threatening for more than a year, without results, but we have arrived at a critical point. We cannot continue to live while the present high prices obtain, which are three times higher than prices abroad and 2½ times above Russian pre-war prices.

NEW FASHIONS IN COLORINGS AND MATERIAL

PARIS, April 22.—The races on Sunday and luncheon and tea parties are occasions for the appearance of new fashions. Light gray, with no touch of color or jewelry, is common as an ensemble; but light gray may have color with it.

Thus a gray cashmere dress, finely tucked or incrusted on the bodice and hips, with a softly draped skirt, long sleeves and a shallow neck opening, is worn under a coat of the same gray, and the hat is of a plain gray felt with a petersham trimming. A simple pale gray georgette dress, with long sleeves and slightly low neck, is worn under a gray velvet coat trimmed with fur; and a colored velvet coat may be worn over a pale gray dress. Violet, mauve, or cyclamen pink go best with gray.

Tailor-made costumes of two materials are worn; a skirt of checked or plaided material, or of velvet, may be worn with a plain tailored cloth coat, under which is a short-waisted silk blouse, to match the skirt, with a turned-down collar. A fox fur may be worn around the shoulders, and the hat should be a neat felt or straw with a band of ribbons or petersham.

There are now scarves of Shetland wool gauze printed with stripes and plaids of many colors. They are more than a yard long and are usually worn with a coat and skirt or tailored coat frock. There are also silk muslin and crepe materials which are printed with colored maps. Colored feather boas have been worn on the stage. A feather boa may match a dress or contrast with it, or to shaded to blend with more than one color. A black lace dress over white has a white boa; a black and white crepe de chine ensemble has a black boa; a mauve georgette dress has a boa of a darker mauve. Feather fringes on georgette coats have also been seen. Feathers edge chiffon and georgette flounces. Ostrich feather tips are dipped in glycerine and set fast.

Tight-fitting brimless little felt hats are as popular as small cloches and completely hide the hair except for one small wisp over the ear. Such a hat may be black and without any ornament, or the crown may be trimmed with narrow curving lines of silver, gold or colored ribbon no wider than a piping and ending in a flat ornament, cabochon or knot. Another way of trimming this shape is to pierce the crown in front with a jeweled pin and to wear earrings. The edge of the hat follows the shape of the head.

Blue is worn in many shades. Navy blue is trimmed with another shade of blue, white, cherry, green or figured material with more than two colors in it. A fair example is seen in a navy blue crepe satin coat frock which buttons down the side from the left shoulder and has a skirt which is cut on the cross and lifted on the left side to drop in soft jabot draperies. The back is colored and the color gleams from the folds of the skirt. The narrow standup collar starts from the top button of the bodice and widens into a scarf round the neck and grows still wider as it falls from the shoulder to the edge of the skirt. The colored side shows in flashes.

A crepe georgette dance frock is in two shades of turquoise blue and the slim bodice is incrusted all over in checks of the two blues; the skirt draperies also show the two blues, and the whole is harmonious and simple. Navy blue and scarlet and navy blue and rose pink can be worn easily. Royal blue and black are put together in evening dresses. Forget-me-not blue is used for simple afternoon georgette frocks with long coats of Frisca to match.

Admits Getting Soviet Shells

BERLIN, April 22.—Herr Gessler, the Reichswehr minister, has now himself admitted in the course of the debate on the Reichswehr estimates that shells for the Reichswehr were obtained from soviet Russia.

Herr Gessler was defending the heavy cost of munitions by explaining that the government had no regular factories, and that the German factories allowed to manufacture munitions could not, as in other countries, depend on exports to make munition production pay.

Theoretically they could refuse to supply munitions to the government at all, and it might even be argued that they were overkind to the Reichswehr.

UNREASONABLE BOULDER DAM DEMANDS TOLD

SACRAMENTO, April 22—Unreasonable demands by the state of Arizona for her share of Colorado river water and royalties on all hydro-electric power developed by the proposed Boulder dam prevented an amicable agreement at the tri-state conference between California, Nevada and Arizona, it is declared by the 1925 joint legislative committee in a report to Governor Young and the state legislature.

The report was filed immediately following receipt of a telegram by Lieutenant Governor Fitts from H. S. McCluskey, of Phoenix, Ariz., secretary to Governor Hunt,, which declared that no tentative agreement of any kind had been reached between the states, as carried in a recent report.

Could Not Accede

"At no time was there any substantial conflict between Nevada and California," the report to the legislature, transmitted by Senator Ralph Swing, of San Bernardino, declared. "Arizona persisted in demands we could not accede to."

The demands, as outlined by the committee, were as follows:

1—Arizona's insistence that the seven-state compact be amended so that all unallocated water of the Colorado river system, not actually apportioned by the compact, be allotted to the lower basin states for immediate division.

2—Arizona's refusal to recognize perfected water rights from the Colorado river in California of 2,250,000 acre feet per year and in Arizona of 250,000 acre feet per year and insistence that diversion of water should be without regard to these rights.

3—Demand for all the tributaries of the Colorado river within her state, estimated at 5,000,000 acre feet of water per year, in addition to one-half of the main stream, which means a division of Colorado river water in the lower basin of about 529 parts to Arizona and one part to California.

Royalty, Tax Demands

4—Demands for the right to levy and collect royalty or tax upon all hydro-electric power developed within her state upon government as well as private projects, and based upon the fall of the Colorado river. The amount of this tax was estimated by Arizona's commissioners to as high as $6 per horsepower per year, or an income from Boulder canyon alone to the state of Arizona or approximately $6,000,000 a year.

"It is altogether probable that we would have been justified in making substantial concessions to Arizona in order to adjust the respective claims to water," the report concluded, "had the matter of controversy been limited solely to the allocation of water. Her representatives, however, persistently refused to make even a tentative agreement on water unless, as part of the same agreement, we recognized and conceded her right to derive revenue as above stated and accede to her other demands."

The committee recommended appointment of a permanent committee to carry on the work of arbitration "with the hope that a just and fair basis for complete adjustment of all conflicting claims between the lower basin states may be arrived at."

Members signing the report included Senator Swing, Judge A. C. Finney, Los Angeles; L. L. Dennett, Modesto, and Assemblyman Walter J. Little, Los Angeles.

WOMEN DRIVERS SAFER THAN MEN

PARIS, April 22. — Man, not woman, appears to be the dangerous automobile driver in France. Or else her powers of persuasion have much more effect on the police.

Seven out of every hundred cars in Paris are driven by women, but there are only three women involved in every hundred fines imposed or prosecutions begun by the police.

Possibly the Parisian police smile and forget more often when women offend the traffic rules than they do when men are at fault.

Possibly, also say some friendly souls, women really drive more carefully, act mor quickly and take the law more seriously.

LEMONADE SHORTAGE

Because it could not get lemons, the government railway of Australia recently had a shortage of lemonade for its passengers. During the intense heat wave the station stands at Melbourne that are run by the government ran out of the circus champagne. Efforts to get lemons from other cities failed and the railroad commissioners advertised for the fruit, but without success.

Masterpiece Is Dashed to Bits

LONDON, April 22.—At the age of 74, John Taylor, a London sculptor, managed a few days ago to turn out a statuette which he considered good enough to submit to the Royal Academy.

When he arrived at the academy his hands trembled so violently that in removing the wrappings he dropped the figure and broke it.

Expert workmen assured him that they could repair it, but the sculptor said despondently: "I'm too old; my chances are gone." Then he gathered up the fragments of his long labors and departed.

BRITISH GROWL AT SUNSHINE OUT OF SEASON

LONDON, April 22.—"The weather," gravely announced one London newspaper, "has become more seasonable." No more brilliant summary has been put forward, not only of the English climate, but of the British weather psychology.

The facts were these: For three days previously there had been moderately warm sunshine, interrupted by occasional clouds, but no rain. Every one marveled; a few persons ventured to leave their umbrellas at home, and several hardy souls actually doffed their overcoats. But on the fourth day the weather became "more seasonable." The official description, to be exact, was "Wind strong to a gale at times, intermittent rains, becoming colder; further outlook very unsettled." In other words, the weather was about as bad as could reasonably be imagined without breaking into a blizzard. This was "more seasonable," and the seasons don't vary.

The interesting point about that comment was that it was by no means intended ironically, nor was it an attempt to put a good face on a bad matter. It expressed a genuine feeling of relief felt, probably, by a great majority of Londoners. It bore eloquent testimony to the dogged adaptability of the British, who have not only learned to accept their climate, but actually take pride in it and resent untoward deviations such as the three fairly pleasant days which interrupted the "seasonable" course of affairs.

Every thoughtful person realized that the brief spell of mild sunshine couldn't last. One was under a certain tension until the return of normal cold, wind-driven rain. Furthermore, there was nothing to grumble about, which marks a serious lapse on the part of the "Atlantic depressions," generally so dependable in that respect.

This grumbling, it should be noted, is affectionate grumbling. Let any outsider cast the faintest aspersion on the English climate and he is immediately given to understand he has been rude, and there are letters to the papers proving statistically that from a meteorological viewpoint the rest of the world is to be pitied.

Another charming thing about the English weather is its conversational advantages. The climate is always doing something it hasn't done since the Kew Gardens Observatory was established, back in the last century, and great possibilities in the way of light chat are opened up. This was the one redeeming feature of the recent "hot spell"—another record was broken. The temperature was 53, which was the warmest March night in memory of living man.

A few weeks ago rain fell on 24 consecutive days. That hadn't happened before, it was proudly pointed out. Shortly before there were five consecutive days of heavy fog, which caused a hitherto unprecedented financial loss in channel shipping. But the strangest weather freak in recent months—noted in flaming headlines in all the papers—was on a bank holiday last fall. The sun shone.

An English woman wrote to the Manchester Guardian not long ago from California, deploring the climate there. It was warm and sunny without break for nine months in the year. There was nothing to talk about, no sweet mystery as to the number of postponements a picnic or ball game would suffer, and she couldn't tell when spring came!

PROJECT OF HOME RULE IS UP AGAIN

LONDON, April 22.—The hardy perennial project of home rule for Scotland again has come up in parliament. Rev. James Barr, Labor member for Motherwell, has presented in the House of Commons a bill to provide Scotland with a single chamber of Parliament of 148 members and to have a High Commissioner and to represent the King as the Governors-General do in the Dominions.

Except for military and diplomatic affairs Barr would have Scotland completely autonomous, as the Irish Free State is. The invariable doom of such measures in the past has been the retort on the part of the English that Scotsmen already govern most of the empire, anyhow.

King's Traffic Signals Used by Private Citizens

LONDON, April 22.—Plebeian automobile owners have discovered that the two bright blue flambeaux with which King George's automobiles are fitted enable his majesty to get through the thickest traffic jams as easily as a fire truck.

As a result the metropolitan police are kept jumping by the appearance of a multitude of cars similarly fitted. It is being whispered that one police constable, angry at being fooled into standing at attention so often while the "king" passed, decided to stop the next car so fitted and give the owner a good "bawling out."

But he picked the wrong car. It was the king's.

ALLEGIANCE OATH RETAINED BY DAIL

DUBLIN, April 22.—A motion to abolish the oath of allegiance to the king required of members of the Dail Eireann of the Irish Free States was rejected by a vote of 47 to 17. Dan Breen was refused parliamentary sanction to bring in a bill to abolish article XVII of the constitution, which contains the oath the deputies take when entering the Dail.

Breen declared that there would be no prosperity and no political unity as long as the oath remained in the article. Deputy Hall, a Laborite, asserted that such legislation was necessary now or would be in the near future.

President Cosgrave opposed the motion, saying that the oath was a fundamental part of the treaty establishing the Free States, which was a solemn international agreement, and the Free State must show the world that it kept its international agreements.

The Republican members of the Free States parliament refused to take the oath and consequently have never taken their seats.

Government of France Losing Its Employes

PARIS, April 22—Army officers, engineers, surgeons, lawyers, professors and even the janitors in public laboratories are leaving government service with its low pay and taking employment with commercial firms. The army, once one of the most envied of careers, is the principal sufferer.

CURBING THE GUN CRIMINALS

Of all the many bills introduced in the legislature designed to make California safer for honest folk and more trying for wilful breakers of the law, the one passed by the state senate yesterday has more teeth in it than are to be found in all the other anti-crime bills combined.

Most of the measures are technical in their nature. They are aimed to hasten prosecutions and to put the state, in presenting evidence against an accused man, on somewhat the same level with the defendant. Hitherto, most of the rights involved in criminal trials have been the rights of the defendant. There is a conviction on the part of the legal profession not engaged in the practice of criminal law that the public as well as the criminal has some rights worthy of assertion in trials for crime and it was a committee of lawyers that outlined the program for reformation of legal procedure in the trials of criminals.

The bill passed by the state senate yesterday, however, was an independent bill. It provides that the minimum term upon a first conviction of a person armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission of the crime, or carrying a concealed weapon at the time of commission of the crime, or carrying a concealed weapon when arrested, would be five years.

For a second offense, the minimum term would be 10 years. No parole or release before these minimum terms would be permitted under any operation of the indeterminate-sentence law.

If this bill becomes law in California, the reckless use of guns in hold ups and burglaries will be considerably reduced. The predatory criminal does not like laws of this sort. He often is willing to take a chance on going to jail or to prison when he knows that probation and paroles are given freely.

When he knows that conviction means a definite term of years, from which there is no escape, he is likely to go elsewhere to ply his trade. The criminal has had far too easy a time of it in California; the public will benefit by a change.

WHAT IS TOLERANCE?

In an effort to clear up the loose use of words, The Forum magazine has been running a series of definition contests. Each month a new word is announced, and readers of the magazine are invited to send in their definitions of what each word means to them. Among the words so defined have been "fundamentalist," "good sport," "natural," "the perfect child,"—while "heaven" is to be thrown open for definition in an early issue.

In the May number the word to be defined is "tolerance," and here is a choice array of the definitions submitted.

"Tolerance," according to The Forum's readers, is:—

"What make the business head writhe in his chair when the college graduate walks in and sits on his desk, asking for a job."

"The child of common sense and a sense of humor."

"That state of mind which regards truth as being always relative and never absolute."

"The recognition of truth and goodness wherever you come in contact with them."

"An indifference, good-natured or cynical, to that which one knows to be wrong."

"Suppressed contempt."

"Willingness to let the tares grow."

"The ability to endure the windy tirades of certain old people on the subject of politics, religion, 'the good old times,' or the unspeakably degenerate younger generation."

PROPHETIC MEDICINE

The great increase in the average length of life in this generation, it has been explained, comes from saving more babies and enabling old people to live longer. Not much has been done yet for the middle-aged. People die in that period of life about as numerously as they used to. But it is possible to do a great deal for that very class. It is accomplished by what Dr. C. Ward Crampton of New York calls "prophetic medicine."

Doctors with the new idea get a patient into a clinic and go over him thoroughly, discovering his precise physical condition, his heredity and past history of disease, and then, on the basis of these known facts, make a forecast or prophecy of how many more years he is likely to live if he continues as usual. They find that they are able to do that pretty accurately.

Then they "recast the forecast," on the basis of what they know they can do to remove existing ailments and direct the patient's future living more rationally.

In many hundred cases, says Dr. Crampton, they have added an average of six years to the patient's life, and they believe they can do much more than that.

Is it worth while? Ask any middle-aged man or woman. It can be done, too, in almost any city, for there are competent doctors everywhere. Yet how many of those who want the added years will take the trouble to get them?

NO TIME FOR "ART?"

It is only natural that America is known as a nation that has little appreciation of the finer arts, Lorado Taft, former sculptor, said recently in an address at Yale university. America, he points out, was settled and developed by men of humble origin, in whose experience beauty was associated chiefly with the devil.

True enough. Mr. Taft might have added that these humble men who developed this country found their job so tremendous that it left them little time for any of the less utilitarian graces. Americans, ever since the Revolution, have been too busy cutting down forests, digging mines, building railroads, establishing cities and exploiting the earth to turn out sculptors or musicians or poets—with a few notable exceptions, of course.

But we need not despair. There are signs that a renaissance is coming. Gradually we are finding time to suspend our feverish workaday activity and to try to make life yield beauty as well as profit.

A German novelist says he "finds no happiness in this country," proving the old saying that a traveler only finds what he takes with him.

Worth the Million Dollars!

Redlands Facts

Reports from many localities throughout the state reveal a strong feeling of opposition to the proposed plan to have the state of California vote bonds in an amount of $1,000,000 to defray the expense of holding a series of athletic events, covering one week, at Los Angeles.

It is, or it appears to be, too bad that the people of California who quite recently voted to make it impossible for Los Angeles to control both branches of the legislature, should refuse to vote Los Angeles a good time, when it can be had at the trifling expense of a million dollars.

Surely the people of the northern, central, and southern portions of the state will not persist in their opposition to this proposed $1,000,000 bond issue. Surely they will, if and when the question is submitted to a vote, withdraw their opposition and say, in effect:

"Los Angeles, so far as my vote is concerned, has only to say what she wants in order to obtain it."

It is altogether unlikely, however, that the opposition to this proposed million dollar bond issue is as strong and as general throughout the state as has been reported. Take Inyo county, for example, the Owens river territory, and the whole territory adjacent thereto; the people up that way would most certainly support a bonding proposition for the purpose above stated. It goes without saying, however, that they cannot do this if they are all starved have to leave the country as so many have had to do during the past few years.

It is even claimed that the ruin which has come upon that part of the state is due to the fact that Los Angeles, for a long time, has been controlled by people who believe in, and live up to, "The good old rule, the simple plan, That they should take, who have the power, And they should keep, who can."

It must be admitted that there is more or less basis for this charge as to the policy of Los Angeles, nevertheless, if a million dollar bond issue is going to pacify, and bring her back on the reservation it should be voted. Otherwise she may go ahead, as she has already threatened, and divide the state, and goodness knows what else in the way of trouble she may bring about. So let us vote "yes" on that Los Angeles million dollar athletic meet. Should it be held who knows what good may come to the state of California as a result. Why, the amateur record for both shot putting and the high jump may be lowered, and think what that would mean to the Pacific Coast generally and California in particular. To achieve such glorious results, and have it done in Los Angeles, would mean so much in the way of glory as to be very cheap at the price, and even the chance that it might be done is easily worth the million.

New Protection in Sight

San Bernardino Sun

Important protection to shippers of produce against dishonest brokers who may handle their fruit and vegetables in eastern markets will be extended by the government effective July 1.

Under the new produce agency act dishonesty on the part of any agent in the handling of the produce of another in interstate commerce is made a crime, punishable in the United States courts.

That is, if any commission man, broker, auction representative, or storage company makes a false statement with regard to the quality, quantity, condition, price or sale of goods received he will have committed a misdemeanor and the government will undertake the punishment of the crime.

Under the existing situation the shipper has recourse of course to civil action to recover, or perhaps he might be able to institute a charge of fraud in the state courts. Under the new federal law, however, the powerful agency of the department of agriculture will be available to investigate and prosecute dishonest brokers.

The importance of the act to the produce shippers of California is manifest. There is to be an agency of the government charged with the responsibility of breaking up dishonest practices. The shipper in far away California has been at a tremendous disadvantage in dealing with dishonest dealers in eastern cities. About his only recourse has been to change brokers.

The United States government is gradually but surely extending its protection to the agricultural industry in a manner that can be measured in the returns to the shipper and grower.

COD LIVER OIL ENDS DANGER OF RICKETS

There was a time when rickets affected as many as 50 to 80 per cent of all children. In this disease the long bones do not grow properly; the child becomes constipated, restless and irritable; its muscles are flabby, and for this reason it develops a "pot-belly."

Along the sides of the chest where the bones of the ribs meet the cartilages little knobs appear, giving the appearance of what is known as the "rickety rosary." Such children have "chicken breasts." The head bones are deformed and present a square-headed appearance.

The bones of the arms and legs bend and the child becomes knock-kneed or bow-legged; it may even develop a twisted spine. Such a child is especially susceptible to infection, and rickety children do not ordinarily live long.

One of the greatest discoveries of modern times is the determination of the fact that this disease is due to the absence from the body of vitamin D, which seems to control the use in the body of calcium and of phosphorous, and also to the absence of sunlight, of which the ultraviolet rays seem to be definitely associated with the production of vitamin D.

Vitamin D is especially abundant in cod liver oil. Today physicians recognize that this substance should be given regularly to all children, particularly during the winter months. Expectant mothers and nursing mothers are also urged to take cod liver oil so that the important substance may reach the child through them. This vitamin appears also in butter and in egg yolk, but not in such quantities as are available in cod liver oil.

Rickets is rare in tropical countries because the skin of people in such places is exposed to the ultraviolet rays of the sun.

Investigators have found that a relative deficiency of vitamin D results in much more decay of the teeth, in slowing their development and, in general, harm to the dental structures.

What Kind of a Fit Will It Be?

In Thinking of Ownership Think First of the Home

San Francisco Chronicle

No one ever thinks of building a church for his own worship. He is satisfied to worship in congregation. Nor does anyone think of building a school for his own children. There is a distinct educational and disciplinary value in the free competition of the classroom. But men freely contribute to the building of the community church and school because these are accepted as important moral agencies. And they build homes because the home is possibly a greater moral agency than either the church or the school.

There would be something fantastic about a man building a cathedral for his own family, something extravagant in his building a school exclusively for his own children. But there is nothing fantastic or extravagant about his building a home for his own family.

Just what are the essentials of a true home is a question worth considering by residents of flats, apartments and furnished rooms. A home has been called "the refuge of the spirit," but, whatever may be its most beneficent characteristics, the idea of ownership holds a strong place in every thought of the home. That is so because home connotes stability and permanence, and these are best assured when the home is owned by those who dwell therein.

HERDS AT EVENING

Behind the hills of Ammer
The harvest moon rides up
Into the lake of Ammer
She dips her golden cup.

Clinging, ringing, singing
A maze of netted songs,
The belled cows wander, flinging
Prayer from their brazen gongs.

Trudging along behind them
The cowherds wander there,
And even as they mind them
They say their evening prayer.

Patient and hard-faced people,
Piously greeting us:
Louder than from the steeple
The cow-bells' Angelus.

And I would light you as a lamp
To brighten all my darkness,
And I would wear you as a cloak
To cover all life's starkness.
O, I would live you as a life
Devoted all to loving—
And I would build you as a home

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

I don't mind admitting that I had a birthday very recently at the Little Gray House, and it was really a very pleasant birthday. Of course I've reached the age where I celebrate them, but don't count them.

But there seemed some deep-laid plan among a few closer friends, in the selection of lovely snowy handkerchiefs that found their way to me. And here's the reason—I suppose.

Among my pet economies is that of washing handkerchiefs at home. They are such delicate filmy trifles to entrust to a laundry, and anyway I love to do them myself. So recently I gasped at the accumulation in the special bag devoted to them, and decided it was wash-day. Sorting out the butterfly tinted ones, I swished the white ones through cold water, then put them on to boil with a generous amount of lux.

And promptly forgot all about them. Presently came the familiar whistle with which any absent member of the household is summoned, and to which even Ginger Cat responds. It came from the garage—pardon me, the studio—and in response, I hastened out there where Tall Son wanted to show me the rug design he was working on. I became so interested that I stayed on and on. When I finally returned to the house, it was to be met with a horrible smell.

I dashed into the kitchen. It was blue with smoke. There wasn't so much as a shred of white handkerchief left! The hand-embroidered one Son's best pal gave me Christmas, the exquisite Madeira one the motion picture star gave me as a memento of her visit to the office, the three little cross-bar linen ones with hand-rolled hems that came in a set at Christmas—all the white hankies that I love, because there is after all, a good bit of Quaker in me, were blackened ashes. I had very little heart to go on and wash the colored ones that looked, when strung on the line, like a rainbow gone mad.

But I finished them and buried my woes in a book, after slipping a pan of crackers in the oven to crisp nicely for the dinner soup. And then a dear friend dropped in for a chat. We talked merrily on until suddenly she sniffed. "Have you something in the oven?" She queried. I had. A pan of black ashes. And a cloud of blue smoke that was released into the whole house.

That wasn't enough. Came Sunday, as the movies say. Also came Peggy. And while I chatted with her in the front part of the Little Gray House, the Sunday roast slowly seared in the oven in the kitchen.

And the end was not yet of the things that scorched my soul. I picked up a dust cloth that hung in the screen porch. It disturbed a bee. He wasn't at all pleased, and he must have been left in the oven until he grew very hot, for where he sat down on my finger he burned hotter than all the other things put together!

TODAY IS MINE

The past is but a memory,
Mistakes are left behind;
Forever gone is yesterday,
No more it fills my mind.

I know not what the future holds,
Nor what it means to me;
I cannot pierce the veils of Time;
Tomorrow, may not be.

The present only have I now,
All else I must resign;
But aspirations, hope, and faith,
Today, today, are mine.

EX POST FACTO

An item going the round of the Kansas press recites the dubious fact that an eminent psychologist announces that "every kiss shortens life three minutes." This is palpably absurd. Take the writer, for instance, aged 59 years 1 month and 19 days, who has been married now for a matter of 34 years. What with staple and fancy kissing, domestic and foreign, including kin at 50 per cent off, if every kiss cost him three minutes of his life he would have been waiting impatiently for the undertaker six months before the Revolutionary war! It is such loose talk of scientists that disorganizes the rising generation and contributes to the increase of crime!—William Allen White in Emporia Gazette.

Dear Patcher Lady:—

Why that spring dirge with that hauntin' line "I never want to see the spring again?" It wuz sich a touchin' little pome that I wrote one all to you. Uf corse my woman polished it up a mite but the feelin behind it es the whule thing afer all.

SPRING'S NOTES

Spring brings to earth the twain of bloom and thorn,
It spreads its warmth o'er cross and Resurrection morn;
Dear one, without the spring, long winter's cold
Would freeze thy tender self to smooth and hardened mold.
Spring plays upon time's harp of sundry strings
And cadences that smote the suffering heart may cling;
But neither sorrow's note nor memory's key
Shall keep the song of spring's blue bird from reaching me.

I'VE BEEN READING

"In the Time of the Pharaohs," by Alexander Moret, a French Egyptologist who tells of researches—his own and others—in the ruins of an ancient civilization in Egypt. The translation has been made by Madame Moret.

The book is thrilling reading for one interested in early civilizations, and arouses wonder because of the secrets revealed by even small pebbles of the desert. For Monsieur Moret goes beyond the story told by the great temples, pyramids and other ruins of Egypt, to the peoples that preceded those early dynasties, the Neolithic and Paleolithic men.

However the book really deals with the Pharaohs, and is intensely interesting in describing the manner in which their huge crypts, the pyramids, were raised, the mammoth rocks quarried from distant mountains and floated across the Nile in flood times, and placed together with such infinite skill that a thin knife blade cannot be slipped between the blocks.

The ceremonial services with which the mummies of the dead Pharaohs were placed in their burial chambers, with the eldest son enacting the part of the god Horus, to insure eternal life for his father, and then the burial chamber sealed and concealed so carefully, are indeed interesting to read.

Those earliest diplomatic notes too, from dependent kings to the ruling pharaoh, were vivid pictures of life untold centuries ago.

The Weatherman

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

THE very fact that a child doesn't realize his limitations is a great factor in his development. We sometimes marvel at the frank egotism of children, and yet it is a great asset. for if a child realized how little he knows. how inferior and dependent he is. he would become so very discouraged that he never could carry on. Let him boast a bit. let him exalt his powers without being severe. Then help him turn his childish boasting of himself into determination of purpose backed by self confidence and to distinguish this from the selfish, vain egotism which in older folk is detestable.

PETER says when he's big that he's going to be a motorman.
Jackie June much prefers to go hunting with a caravan,
But I, when I'm grown, why I'm going to be the weatherman
And decide what the weather ought to be.

Every day folks will read in the paper in the weather line
If the snow is on its way, if 'twill rain, or if the sun will shine
And perhaps, just for fun, I'll make winter in the summertime
And folks can order what they'd like to have from me.

If they want to catch fish they can say, "Please make a cloudy sky."
If they start out for camp then I'll make the weather nice and dry.
So each one can get just the kind he likes and here is why
'Cause I'll fix it just the place he is, you see!
